

TARIFF WILL INSIST ON REAL REVISION Tariff Must Be Placed on Scientific Footing When Work Is Done.

INSURGENT OUTLOOK DARK

President Is Not Playing Politics and Will Not Permit Others to Do So—Veto Will Be Exercised if Need Be.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Aug. 29.—If Congress seriously intends to revise the tariff at the regular session next Winter, it will have to base its revision on the findings of the tariff board, or its work will go for naught.

President Taft has made it plain that he will not approve a tariff-revision tariff revision, nor will he approve any tariff bill that does not have due regard for the protective system.

This means two things: First, that any tariff bill, to become a law, must conform strictly to the findings of the tariff board, and second, they cannot be Democratic tariff-revision bills. That the President will approve his mandate was made plain by the failure of Congress to pass any of the make-shift bills of the special session over his veto, for it is certain this same Congress in the regular session will vote to sustain the Presidential veto just as it did a few days ago on the wool and free list bills.

Democratic Duty Plain. Just what this signifies is this: The Democrats cannot reverse their alliance with the Senate Insurgents next Winter, for the purpose of passing Democratic tariff bills, and hope to get away with them. The President will veto any Senate tariff revision, want a reduction of duties, and want those reductions written into the law, they must join with the regular Republicans and pass bills that conform to the tariff board reports. Otherwise, they will get no further than they did at the special session, for the President will be ready to head off anything but scientific tariff measures.

If the Senate Democrats refuse to combine again with the Republican Insurgents, the little band of politicians will be left out in the cold, mere spectators at the legislative game, without influence, and without power. For if the Democrats and regular Republicans constitute a majority of the Senate, the Insurgents will be ready on the cotton bill in the Senate last week.

Insurgents Get Nothing. This calls attention to the predicament of the Insurgents at the present time. They go back to their people with this record: They combined with the Democrats to free list bills, only to have them vetoed; they tried to combine and put through their own cotton bill, only to be outvoted; they opposed the Canadian reciprocity, only to see it enacted over their protest, and then they stood around and saw the wind-up of Congress in the hands of the Insurgents and their not accomplished for the special session are nothing.

Senate Insurgents had stood for some consistent policy, if they had proposed some tangible plan of tariff revision which they could substantiate with facts and figures, they might have made a record. But they did not care a whoop about the tariff. Their sole and only purpose was to "put the President in a hole." The President's session was that they themselves were left in the hole, and the President stands looking down at them, with a broad and massive smile enlightening his countenance. Their movement directed at the President proved a boomerang, and they were hit even harder than they had hoped to hit the President.

Taft's Course Patriotic.

The President was invulnerable in his position, because he did not try to play politics. He acted throughout on principle, and for what he believed to be the good of the country. He had no difficulty in countering the Insurgents in their demand to discredit him, they took a position which even they could not defend. The President will move along the same identical lines in the next session, and will not play politics with the tariff, even if he knows it will cost him his job. He may make political capital, and strengthen himself by his attitude on the tariff question, but that is incidental; his chief aim is to do the right thing.

Bond Is Made of Sand.

As to the Insurgent-Democratic combine, it went to pieces the minute the Democrats found they could get along without any particular reason behind them. At no time during the special session did Congress consider a single tariff bill that was carefully and scientifically prepared; never did the finance committee of the Senate give consideration to a single tariff bill, other than Canadian reciprocity; never was the tariff board report considered for other than political purposes. The effect upon business was never thought of, the preservation of the protective principle was not even mentioned; the Republican party pledges were utterly ignored. In these facts the President finds his defense.

GIRL LURED, ALLEGED

Bicycle Dealer Arrested on Complaint of Lass' Mother.

With the office of an attorney in the Chamber of Commerce building as a rendezvous and letter-box, according to the allegations of the complainant,

TWO OF ACTIVE LEADERS IN CANADA OF OPPOSITION TO RATIFICATION OF TREATY FOR TRADE RECIPROCIITY WITH UNITED STATES.

FREDERICK D. MONK.

Harry Hughes, who has a bicycle shop at Twelfth and Burnside streets and who is a married man, accomplished the delinquency of a girl 17 years old, the woman alleged that her daughter by a former marriage, Edna Morgan, 17 years old, had been made the subject of the wiles of Hughes without her knowledge until the affair had progressed to an alarming degree.

Complaint was laid before Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald yesterday by Mrs. Victoria Tucker, 525 East Fourth street, upon which the warrant for the man's arrest was issued. The girl was sent for some time ago to go to the office of an attorney, on a promise of being given employment. On her arrival she found Hughes, but no work. The mother says the girl listened to his persuasions and had other meetings with him. Both, it is said, had access to the office and a place where their letters to each other were deposited.

Hughes is held under bail of $1000.

NEGRO HELP OPPOSED ENGLISH SERVANTS DISLIKE AMERICAN BLACKS.

Employment of Cook and Butler by James Van Alen in London Results in Trouble.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Once more the color bar has sprung up in unexpected quarters. James Van Alen, the American millionaire owner of Rushton Hall, Northamptonshire, suddenly discovered that the color bar was no longer master in his own home.

To add to the picturesqueness of his historic place he conceived the notion of introducing a couple of American colored folk to the household staff. One was installed as cook and the other as butler. The man in the culinary department was accorded the position of butler, an agreeable sort of fellow, but his dark brother upstairs became so domineering in his new surroundings as to suggest to the rest of the servants that they were very inferior animals.

Discontent grew into revolt when the female section found they had the sympathy of the gardeners, stablemen and the outside staff on the estate. When the "master" returned to the hall after a week on the continent he found his cook and butler wearing a worried look. In his absence the maids had been playing practical jokes on the negroes. The butler, raising his head full of indignation, stung nettles and the cook, for some mysterious reason, suffered continuously from uneasiness in his vicarious department. Both had been driven to the extremity of being afraid to eat or go to bed pending the return home of Mr. Van Alen.

Rainier Experiences Jail Delivery.

RAINIER, Or., Aug. 29.—Clarence Lane and Ed Simmons were arrested Friday night, charged with being drunk and disorderly and placed in jail, off which the City Marshal secured the key from the present owner. These men made their boat in the afternoon that they were arrested, the Sunday night they broke jail. When the Marshal came down yesterday morning to feed them he found a hole cut through the wall and the prisoners gone. A case knife with less than an inch of the blade remaining was found in the cell with a note attached, bearing the words: "Compliments to Judge Symons. This is what did the trick." On the wall was another note addressed to Judge Symons, saying: "We are off for a 15 month sea voyage. It is believed that the men received assistance from the outside, as the officers say it is impossible to cut such a hole with a case knife."

MEN FEW, CRUISERS WAIT

Enlistment Shortage at Mare Island May Bar Battle Practice.

VALLEJO, Cal., Aug. 29.—Inability on the part of the recruiting officers to obtain men for the cruisers now at Mare Island Navy-Yard threatens to interfere with the battle practice scheduled for this Fall. Every cruiser at the yard is shorthanded and the Raleigh and the Cincinnati, ready for sea six months ago, have been held in idleness because of the lack of men. The flagship California is short 50 men in the engine-rooms alone. Unusual efforts are made to induce men to enlist.

Ontario Premier Strongly Against Ratification of Treaty—Leader of Quebec Conservatives Also Joins Forces.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 29.—(Special.)—The fight over reciprocity continues to overshadow all other political issues in Ontario province, where James Whitney, the Premier, continues to inveigh against the confirmation of the treaty. Whitney, who has been leader of the Conservative party for many years and has been Premier since 1905, admitted to making the fight of his political life. Ontario is one of the centers of the contest in which it is alleged that the "interests"—for Canada, too, has its "interests"—are spending money freely to defeat the proposed compact. Whitney is in the thick of this, and is causing much bitterness by the savagery of his replies.
