Oak Catcher Hooted by Crowd for Ugly Trick-Buddy Ryan Bats Homer in Third, After Which Gregory Is Unhittable.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25. - (Spe-nial.) - The Oaks teday won the first game in a series that may mean much to the pennant-winning hopes of the frame-bay team, in an uphill battle that was captured after the Oregonians had a three-run lead that lasted for four innings. GEORGE SHREEDER.

George Shreeder, the genial president and owner of the Tacoma Northwest League ball club, has been boxsing the Destiny City toss-ers since 1906, the year after the Coast League ousted Tacoma from the circuit and transferred the franchise to Fresno. And, except in 1907, he has had to dig down in his jeans regularly to keep the Tiger breathing apparatus above the financial tides.

Last Fall, Eddie Quinn, who took an option on the club in the Spring, found himself something more than $2000 in the hole two weeks before the season closed. Eddie called his players together, and after talking the situation over, his men decided to stick to the finish for a pro rata of receipts over and above expenses.

The men signed an agreement to this effect, but when the finis came Quinn found himself unable to fulfill his optional intentions. Shreeder inserted the official forceps into the private exchequer and forked over something like $2500, paying players' back salaries and Nick Williams' Northwesterners had heir batting bugies on the alert yeserday, banging Pitcher Schmutz' offerngs all over the sward for a total of 14 bingles. It was their second straight from the Tacoma Tigers and their ninth consecutive victory all told, close to a lengue record for the season. Score, 7 to 4; bits, 14 and 7.

Erve Jensen, who was on the rubber for the locals, had a had inning in the fourth when four hits and an error enabled the visitors to creep up four notches on a five tally lead. But Jens steadled after that and was invincible, the victory shoving his season's record up to 14 wins and eight losses, or a percentage of .636 with a club just over the 500 mark. Not so bad Tacoma, incidentally, slumped back into third place.

Portland Gets Early Start.

Aside from the pickling there were no special features to expand on. Port-land started off in the very first in-ning like a cricket match, taking two on a walk and hits by Stovall and Pet-ligrew. Three more cropped up op-portunely in the third on a double by Mundorff into left, followed by hits by Speas and Stovall, scoring the Russian, a sacrifice by Williams, and a hit into right by Pettigrew tallying the S and S outfielders.

Judge McCredie says he would not be at all surprised to find both Coltrin and Otto Moore drafted by the majors.

Jess Stovali is hanging the ball in great shape lately, and next Sunday's averages should show him close up to the .190 mark. Jess is also one of the premier base-stealers in the league, standing eighth, with 35 pit-fered bags to date. Eddle Mensor and Mundorff are the other Pertland sippers of re-nown.

Paul Strand. Spokane's pitching marvel, is "rusticating" at his home near Tacoma suffering from sorearmitis. It looks as though Boston did get handed something. Harry Ostdick says the kid lacks the nerve. Otherwise he would be a great heaver.
