Beavers Capture First Game! of Hot Series With Happy Hogan's Team.

HENDERSON DOES TRICK

McCredie Pitcher Permits but Four Hits, While Locals Make Merry at Stewart's Expense in Last of Eighth.

BY. W. J. PETRAIN. With Benny Henderson pitching in great form yesterday, the Beavers came from behind in the inaugural battle with Happy Hogan's league-leading Vernon Tigers and trimmed the vociferous contingent from the South by a core of 4 to 1.

Hap's wallopers tallied the first run the engagement and there was some oise" in the Vernon quarter, but it as not for long, as the Beavers came back after a few frames and tied up he proceedings. Then they sallied orth, in the eighth canto, and cinched be game, for three-baggers by Buddy Ryan and Roger Peckinpaugh, comnd a wild pitch interpolated by Harry Stewart, the Vernon flinger, gave the Beavers a trio of aces to add to the first score. This bunch of runs was ample to flag Hap's chances for the opening game of the series.

Henderson in Fine Form. Ben Henderson's pitching was fine. He allowed the heavy-hitting Vernon bunch but four bingles and fanned eight of them during the game. The lone run tailied by the villagers hap-pened in the fourth frame and was tailied after the first two men in the ing had been disposed of by the Beavers.

Carlisle and Kane were on ice when Carlisle and Kane were on ice when Henderson lost control, temporarily, and allowed Patterson to hike. The big fellow stole second and scored the first run of the game when "Old Folks" Brashear ripped a corking single to centerfield. That was all for the Villagers, for Henderson proved an enigma to the Hooligans after that period. Portland struggled along unan enigma to the Hooligans after that period. Portland struggled along until the sixth before being able to figure in the run column, and on this occasion it looked as though a flock of runs would materialize, but one run was all the locals could negotiate.

Bill Rapps opened the sixth for the Beavers with a hingle to right. Buddy Ryan followed suit. Krueger hiked and the sacks were populated, with none out. Tommy Sheehan holsted a long fly to Artie Ross, which scored Rapps, but Ryan and Krueger were held at their bases. Peckinpaugh popeld at their bases. Peckinpaugh popfiled to Johnny Kane, and Walter Carlislie made a beautiful running catch of Kuhn's line drive to center, retiring the side, but the score was Having played almost three games at Sagramento in the effort to gain a de-cision over the Senators Sunday, the ermined to allo extra innings, and when they got into action with their war clubs in the last half of the eighth, they broke up the game for keeps. Buddy Ryan began the disappointment of Hogan with a triple to left. Krueger was whanged on the crazy bone by one of Stewart's wild shoots, and Sheehan came through with another long fly, this time to Carlisle, and Ryan tallied. Peckincaugh connected for a mighty smite that sent the ball sailing far over Carlisle's head, and while that worthy hot-footed to the score board to retrieve the sphere, Krueger tailled and Peckinpaugh drifted into third base. Stewart was unnerved by the heavy artillery, and uncorked a wild pitch which let Peckinpaugh in with the third run for the inning. Burrell made a fine running catch of Kuhn's foul and Henderson fanned, ending the inninth, after which Patterson beat out an infield tap to Sheehan, but a moment later Brashear hit sharply to Bill Lindsay, who retired Patterson by touching second, and then ended the game by foubling Brashear at first.

Mauagers Get Postes. Before the game began Happy Hogan and Walter McCredle were the recip-lents of handsome floral pieces composed of large chrysanthemums, and both managers came in for a lot of loshing as a result. Hogan will hereafter fight shy of the posies, for he thinks somebody put a "jinx" over on him by yesterday's presentation. Seaton will oppose Roy Castleton this afternoon, and another hard fought battle is in order. Yesterday's

In the seventh Henderson pulled out of a tight hole nicely, for Parterson occupied third and Stinson first, with only one out. Ross forced Patterson at the plate and Burrell field to Chadbourne.
Buddy Ryan demonstrated his title to the batting supremacy of the league. His clouting figured in all of the run-getting by the ing figured in all of the run-getting by the Beavers.

"Hungry for Beaver meat," shouted Happy Hogan as he pranced out to the coaching line in the first inning. Incidentally Happicus went home hungry.

Johany Kane is playing shortstop for the villagers because McDonnell is suffering from a bad ankle. McDonnell had been litting like a demon up to the time of his injury and his absence from the lineup wakens Hogan's bunch.

Judge Graham has detailed two umpires for this series, and in so doing he used excellent judgment. Ed Finney and Van Haltron are handling the games and they gave satisfaction yesterday.

Certain members of the Vernon team are in line to have the riot act read to them. Two or three of them thought it a rich joke to fors mud into the boxes occupied by prominent fans. It would be a better joke if Hogan assessed a stiff fine against each of them. Hogan is a gentlemanly player

The series now stands one-all, Portland having beaten Seattle Monday, 7 to 0. Tuesday it rained. It is an odd coincidence that the two games represent practically the same figures reversed. Garrett had Seattle buffaloed just as much Monday as Sage did Portland today. Eastley pitched good ball but was unlucky, having a pass and a hit come together, which was the case of Zackert on Monday.

There was only one fielding error, Sage was on first when leard hit and Eastley threw wild to the middle station. The fielder either had to step off the sack to get the ball or got it just as his foot left the station. It was a close play. Umpire Starkell said the throw pulled the fielder's foot off the base and declared the runner safe. Mensor barked himself out of the game. Harris finished at second.

Oft in the azure hours of reflection, ye rooter has found that if our Beavers cop "this game or that," or "some other series," they'll be somewhere or nowhere, which latter might refer to Vernon, Cal., if we were dealing in geographical locations. Shining from the snarl of shifting tangles, however, we know at least one thing that can be banked upon-Portland is now but

Chicago spent a day of enforced idleness and New York, by defeating Boston, gained ground as leader in the Nation, parison of the Vernon and Portland leaders may, therefore, prove appe-tizing to all concerned—more so, per-haps, from Hap Hogan's viewpoint than from any other, because the statistics show the Hooligans superior to the Beavers in nearly every department, save fielding. Vernon is first in Coast League hitting, with a team average of .270; Port-land fourth, with a rapidly shrinking ,256.

tied up in the matter of double plays, McCredie's men being fourth, with 113, and Hogan's fifth, with 109. All of which coping with "the dope" would seem to hang the Hiac hedge around Hogan's halo-holder.

Is this a real weakness? McCredle says "no." for he is not a firm believer in the sacrifice principles. And any close observer of the Beavers' style of will be forced to agree that the Port-land men get fully as much benefit from a steady plugging at the hit and run as other teams do from the usual diet of sacrificing. Again, the above figures are compiled from the present standings of the clubs, which show that Vernon has played 11 more games than Vernon has when the missing totals are welded, the locals will look more like winners in the sacrifice, stolen base, run and double-play departments.

sum up the qualifications of a pitcher, but they do win and lose ball games. We will all have to admit that, so here are submitted the averages showing how the mounders compare:

Size up the form, figure out the chart, peer into the "dope"; remember that Fortland is used to being at the top down the home stretch and Vernon not. Weigh this carefully, for it all counts up, and then plunge to your last kopeck with reverse English on the statistics.
