Rappe and Ryan Save Day in 11th by Tying Score After Errors Give Oakland Run—Koezner Twirls Superbly.

By W. J. FETTERAL.

Amid scenes of wild excitement for 1909 fans assembled at the Vaughn-street lot to see the Portland and Oakland teams open the crucial series of the season, the Beavers yesterday defeated the Oaks in 12 innings of as fast and clean baseball as has been seen on the Portland diamond this season.

The final score was 2 to 1, and the Beavers won out by hard hitting in the 11th and 12th innings.

Rappe and Ryan save day in 11th by tying score after errors give Oakland run—Koezner twirls superbly.

Notes of the Game.

Buddy Ryan's double in the 11th helped boost the interest in the coming "Rudy Ryan day" game.

Elmer Koezner made his first appearance since he pitched the 24-inning affair at Sacramento and he was in fine form during the ninth inning, after Hofmann opened with a single, Bill Rappe fielded Coy's grounder and "Izy" was doubled at second.

Perroll made a great play on Krueger's swing bunt in the fourth, for "Rudy" deluded himself out of the lead.

In the seventh Harry Wolverton made a great play on the Portland team to beat him in a game. He is not charged with the defeat, yesterday, however.

Bill Lindsay pulled off some stellar plays in yesterday's game. His stop of Wares' grounder in the fifth was an exceptionally fine piece of work.

Culshaw, as usual, pulled off some robbery stunts during the afternoon. This evening he was able to go back of first base and get balls with either hand.

In the first inning yesterday Bill Rappe again pulled off the "Rudy" hidden ball trick, and this time Patterson, the new Oak outfielder, fell a victim to the gag.

Big John Tiedeman is out of the game temporarily because of a strained tendon. Elmer Zacher played first base instead of the big fellow yesterday, and Zacher did fairly well.

Elmer Koezner had Zacher's number during the earlier innings, and Zacher failed to get the first three times that worthy came to bat.

Martinioni Is Chalked Up for Toss After Only Seven Pitches—Ten After 12 Innings Take Just One Hour 47 Minutes to Play.

PATTERSON

BY ROSCOE PAWCETT.

Unbeknownst perhaps to the fans, several records were shattered in yesterday's 12-inning exhibition of rubber-tube between Portland and the Oaks. Here they are in a nutshell:

Helme Perroll set a new league mark by pitching but 83 balls in 102-3 innings.

Pitcher Martinioni, who relieved him in the 11th, set a new record for losing. He pitched only seven balls when derailed in favor of Gregory, yet gets credit for the loss, as Peckinpough, who scored the winning run, got on the bags off his delivery.

Umpire-in-Chief Finney tacked new laurels to his repertoire by abating the rubber-tube in the first frame, the first eight and one-half innings, a usual game, resting off in the phenomenal time of hour and 47 minutes. The local record for 1911 was 1 hour and 5 minutes. The entire 12 innings took only 1 hour and 47 minutes, which is still another heart-breaking feat in the history of the sport.

Perroll's record of 83 pitched balls in 102-3 innings is his kind in the United States this season. Delhi established a National record several weeks ago by heaving only 75 balls in the full frame, but the New York Giants, took a half session on the honor a fortnight later by heaving 96 balls in 10 innings.

The batsman on both sides punched the first or second ball quite generally yesterday, for Koezner's work for the afternoon consisted in delivering 95 messages, and Catcher Kuhn, the figures were furnished by a statistical fanatic in the stand who kept count, and their rubber-tube bulletin service, which flashed every ball to its patrons in San Francisco.

CRAVING TIGERS YANKED BY HENKLE

Nick's Southpaw Shuts Out Tacoma in Flinging Battle Against Annis.

ERRORS COUNT IN RESULT

Roadsters Play Faultlessly Behind Twirler, While City of Destiny Ballplayers Toss Sphero Wildly All Over Field.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—A young man of the name of Henkle was the undoing of the Tacoma Tigers this afternoon and blanketed them to the score of 4 to 0.

Students of statistics will observe that both pitchers held their opponents to four hits, but a sidelong glance at the error corner will reveal the cause of the Tigers' defeat. These misplays, in addition to the ability of the victor, were responsible for the score. None of the Portland raps was of the pinch variety. They were merely the kind which permitted the maker to take first base, and the Bengals took care of the rest.

In the seventh Williams inaugurated the festivities by connecting safely. Pettigrew laid down a bunt, but all hands were safe. Mensor succeeded in sacrificing and then Harris worked the squeeze play on a wild pitch and Williams centered across.

C. Coleman Gets Nervous.

In the third Henkle galloped across. Morse's error and a pair of safe and significant in the result. It remained for the fifth inning to show what can be done when the hits are few and far between and runs are needed to clinch a game.

Mundorf found he could not hit the ball, so he allowed the ball to hit him, getting first base by this painful method. He was laid down on a bunt, which wobbled in the direction of C. Curtis Coleman, A. B. University of Oregon.

Curtis came galloping in, but was checked in the general direction of the Fisher station, but Bill didn't have a stepdealer handy. The ball continued to fly to Lynch and Speas, who were returned to the infield. Mundorf had counted and Speas was on third base, breathing hard. Stovall lifted a long fly to Lynch and Speas counted on the throw in. Two runs and not the semblance of a hit.

It looked as if Mensor was going to count the fifth run of the afternoon, but brainy work by Guyn prevented it. Mensor had placed one out of the reach of Ody Abbott and was going to third when Casey relayed the ball toward Coleman. It went wild and Mensor started for home.

Guyn Uses Headwork.

He had neglected to notice that Guyn was scored by the batters when first aid to the injured. The former State Leaguer pegged into home and Mensor was nailed by 10 feet. Reasons for the testifying of Guyn in the place of Count Johnny Bassey are becoming more apparent every day.

The pitching of Henkle kept the Tigers at bay throughout the contest. The only time when there was the least show came in the second, when two hits were rapped out after two were downed. Two errors were rapped out afterward but they were painfully isolated. The Roadsters played their third game in succession without any error, so what could a poor Tiger do?

Annis lifted the ball over the left-field fence in the fifth inning, and it was foul by inches. He then struck quality of ball as could be desired, but Annis had trouble with his support.

St. Louis 18, Boston 12.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—It took 28 players two hours and 30 minutes to play a game of ball here today, in which the seven participating pitchers were found for a total of 18 hits and 25 runs. A sensational ninth-inning rally ended the farce in St. Louis' favor, Boston losing.

Brooklyn 7, Cincinnati 5.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 19.—Brooklyn won the opening game of the series from Cincinnati today. A ninth inning rally in which Brooklyn knocked Clapper out of the box and treated Smith with the same kind of batting nettled their three runs.

New York 3, Pittsburg 1.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 19.—New York today made it three straight from Pittsburg. Ames was strong all the way but shut out the home team until the ninth inning, when Campbell scored the only run for Pittsburg on his hit, a pass to Wagner and a single by Miller.

Hilton barely scratched out from the semi-finals this afternoon, when after losing on two holes to play, he won an extra hole.

EVANS WON AWAY. Herreshoff in the morning by overwhelming William Watson, of Baltimore, 7 up and 6 to play this afternoon.
