

RIGHT-OF-WAY DEAL ROAD'S ONLY DELAY

President Gray, of Oregon Electric, Talks to Lane County Folk.

LOCATING LINES PROBLEM

Benefits to Be Derived From Proposed Albany-Eugene Way Told. Grading Would Not Require More Than Six Weeks.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—That the beginning of actual construction on the line of the Oregon Electric from Albany to Eugene waits only on the acquisition of right of way, was the statement of President Carl H. Gray, in an address delivered at the Lane County fair grounds today.

The work of construction between Eugene and Albany, he said, will be much easier than at first anticipated. He declared that it was the intention of his company to push the work to rapid completion as soon as construction is begun, and gave it as his opinion that grading will not take over six weeks.

Indeterminate land descriptions, coming down from the old donation land claims, hamper the work of the right-of-way man greatly, said Mr. Gray. In many cases the lines run from old bluffs or trees long since destroyed. Locating these lines is a cause of much delay.

Today was Pioneer and Grange Day at the fair. President Gray touched on the close relation existing between the farmer and the electric road, and emphasized the necessity of good understanding and mutual respect between the two.

H. A. Darnall, lecturer for the State Grange, also addressed the Granges. He spoke in the Lane County fair and of fair in general.

Five thousand people entered the gates today. Tomorrow is Indian day and the last day of the fair.

Each speaker praised the school and urged it to become a campaign booster, and the theme at the banquet tables was the Willamette endowment fund. The canvassing committee started to night, and the members intend to raise the money necessary to secure the $100,000 conditional donation of R. A. Booth and the $50,000 conditional donation of James J. Hill.

T. S. McDaniels, of Portland, president of the board of trustees of the university, was the toastmaster for the evening. C. B. Moore, of Portland, was the first speaker introduced, and he delivered a stirring address. He said that the institution during its 47 years of existence had contributed to the city the sum of $5,000,000, and significantly compared it with the money donated to the school by the people of Salem. He stated that his remarks, however, by praising the present work being done toward raising money for the endowment fund.

Attacking the higher schools of learning because of the vice and intemperance prevailing among their students, Bishop Smith delivered a masterful and impressive speech.

"I seriously question," he said, "the usefulness of the wealthy institutions of learning and I was not surprised when Crane in an article arraigned the honor of the vice and intemperance. The article may have been exaggerated, but I warn you now that there is enough truth in what he said to challenge the reputation of the Nation, and when you consider the many sons of men of wealth attending these colleges, with a pocket full of money and nothing to do and with no responsibility for the future weighing on their shoulders, the conditions are not surprising. Smoking, drinking and carousing and vice are characteristic of these institutions to an alarming degree and the hope of strong and sound manhood now lies in the Christian college."

A campaign for an endowment fund of $500,000 was the subject of the speech of President Homan. There was an old endowment fund of $125,000, he said, $100,000 had been promised by R. A. Booth, $50,000 by James J. Hill and $50,000 had been subscribed, making in all $325,000 and leaving $175,000 to be raised.

Other speakers of the evening were State Treasurer Kay, R. J. Hendricks, G. F. Johnson, R. W. Raymond, manager of the Industrial Bureau of the Portland Commercial Club; Rev. G. O. Kimball, of Walla Walla; R. A. Booth, of Eugene; Representative Hawley, Dr. Todd, vice-president of the university, and Dr. D. A. Day, of the Garrett Biblical Institute.
