

"DEAD" SIX YEARS, F. ANDERSON SEEN

South Bend Man, Believed to Have Been Drowned, Reappears in California.

WIFE IS MARRIED AGAIN

Arthur Clyde Recognizes Missing Man on San Pedro Wharf—$2000 Insurance Has Been Paid "Widow" by Macqabees.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Frank Anderson, formerly of South Bend, Wash., who was supposed to have drowned in a sailing disaster in William Harbor two years ago, mysteriously reappeared a few days ago at San Pedro.

Having long believed her husband dead, Mrs. Anderson collected his $2000 life insurance and married again. The "dead" husband was recognized in San Pedro last Monday by Arthur Clyde, special representative of the Southern California Lumber Company. Clyde was until recently a resident of South Bend and knew Anderson well, years ago.

Clyde says he met Anderson and talked with him but Anderson failed to recognize him. During their conversation on the dock at San Pedro the subject of Anderson's mysterious disappearance was not broached by either.

A few hours after Clyde talked with Anderson he wrote the former Mrs. Anderson that he had met her husband in San Pedro and that there was not the slightest doubt as to his identity.

"Anderson was stylishly attired and appeared contented and prosperous when I met him," said Clyde today. "I think he is living on a ranch or in one of the small towns near this city. I was so surprised when I met Anderson in the north. We talked only about things in general. He did not recognize me, I am sure. I have kept my eyes open since I saw him, but have not seen him again. I think he is living in or near Los Angeles."

ANDERSON LEAVES IN YAWL

Boat Found Floating Upside Down Near Nasel River.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Frank Anderson, for many years a resident of this city, left here about six years ago in a small sail boat on a business trip to Oysterville, leaving it in the hands of a man on his person. He stopped off at Tokeland on some business errand and left that place just before sunset.

The following day his boat was found floating near the mouth of Nasel River. The sail was set but the boat was unoccupied and there was no apparent cause for the accident. Anderson was warned at Tokeland that it was dangerous to attempt to cross the bay in so small a boat and so late in the day when the empty boat was found it was immediately concluded that he had, in some way, been thrown from the boat and drowned. A liberal reward was offered for the recovery of the body and a diligent and extensive search was fruitless.

Anderson left a wife and three young children in straitened circumstances and by giving a sufficient bond, the supposed widow was allowed to collect a $2000 life insurance policy from the order of Macqabees. About four years ago Mrs. Anderson went to Tacoma and a year later was married again. What steps will be taken in the matter is not known but the Macqabees, in order to collect on their bond, will have to produce Anderson.

COMMITTEE TIMES CHANGE

Documents to Come Before Council Must Be Presented Earlier.

Wholesale changes were made yesterday in the meeting time of the committee of the City Council. These changes followed the passage of an amendment to the ordinance which provides for the publishing of an official calendar of matters to come before the Council. The amendment provides that all documents to be presented to the city fathers at any meeting must be filed with City Auditor Barber before noon of Monday preceding the day the Council meets, with the exceptions of communications from the City Attorney, City Engineer or other city officials. Heretofore, the requirement was that documents be filed before noon on Tuesday preceding the Council meeting, but Deputy City Auditor Grutzke found it difficult to get the large number of documents segregated and in the hands of the printer in time to get out the calendar Tuesday night, hence the change. The meeting days of the standing committee will hereafter be as follows:

Ways and means, 2 P. M. Wednesday preceding Council week; accounts and current expenses, 2 P. M. Thursday preceding Council week; street-cleaning and sprinkling, 4:30 Monday Council week; streets, 2 P. M. Friday preceding Council week; sewer and drainage, 10 A. M. Friday preceding Council week; parks and public property, 10 A. M. Monday Council week; health and police, 11 A. M. Friday preceding Council week; judiciary and elections, 2 P. M. Wednesday preceding Council week; street lighting, 4 P. M. Thursday preceding Council week; commerce, landings and wharves, 4:30 P. M. Thursday preceding Council week; liquor licenses, 2 P. M. Thursday preceding Council week.

BUSINESS MATCH FAILS

HUSBAND NOW WITHOUT BOTH FACTORY AND WIFE.

Rival Manufacturer's Offer of Daughter and Capital Is Undoing of New Yorker.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Mrs. Rose Rosenberg is suing her husband, an erstwhile glove and veiling manufacturer, for divorce, alleging that he abandoned her. However, Rosenberg told the Supreme Court that marriage brought him financial ruin and that said ruin was encompassed by his wife and her scheming father, Ferdinand Ehrlich, also a glove and veiling manufacturer, with an establishment at 98 Fifth avenue. He is now without business or wife.

In the early part of 1907, Rosenberg declared he was a thriving glove manufacturer. He met Ehrlich and Ehrlich invited Rosenberg to his home. Ehrlich often referred to the advantage that a business man enjoys if he has a capable wife to help him.

"There's Rose," her father said, "she's a fine girl and would make a jewel of a wife. What's the matter with you marrying her?" Rosenberg declared that he was somewhat prejudiced by the proposal. "How could I marry a wife and support her in this way?" he demanded. "Take Rose to wife and I'll give you $50,000 in cash, and I'll give you the banks to extend you $20,000 of credit," Rose's father added.

The offer was accepted by Rosenberg. She and her husband began house-keeping against his wishes at 3 West One Hundred and Twentieth street. Rosenberg thought they couldn't afford an elevator apartment in a high-rent district, but Rose insisted that all her friends lived in style and that she must do the same.

Rosenberg told Ehrlich about his daughter's extravagance. "Oh, the expense is nothing when one makes money like you will," he declares his father-in-law replied. "Let's go out of the glove business and start making veillings."

Rosenberg agreed to the proposition and sent out five salesmen on the road to take orders. They came back to him and reported: "Wherever we go we can't do business, because Ehrlich's men cut the prices so that we can't get orders."

Rosenberg declares that he couldn't stand the pressure and that his own capital, the $5000 his father-in-law gave him and other assets have been swallowed up in the trade. He and his wife, he asserts, constantly reminded him that he was "picked up" by her father.

POLICE GET CONFESSION

Four Members of Family Die Suddenly Within 14 Months—Death of Second Sister Rouses Suspicion Against Drug-User.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—In the arrest here today of Annie Crawford on the charge of poisoning her younger sister, Elise, a pretty stenographer, the police took their first step in an effort to clear up the mystery of four deaths in the family.

Miss Crawford tonight, according to police officials, admitted to the District Attorney that she gave her sister Elise morphine, but did it by mistake as she intended to give her calomel and soda; that she stole the morphine from the Presbyterian Hospital. She is quoted as saying she was afraid to call in the doctor after she had discovered her mistake.

She admitted also, it is said, that she and her sister did not get along well together, not speaking for weeks at a time; that she did not like her sister, as she had not treated her right.

Confession Is Signed. Her story was written and signed by the prisoner and followed questioning by the police since yesterday afternoon. Nothing was said in this document about the death of the mother and father and another sister.

In addition Miss Crawford, it is said, admitted she had been addicted to the use of morphine for five years with the exception of a brief period, and that she had not had any since last Saturday morning. Three other members of the Crawford family have died under mysterious circumstances within the last 15 months.

Elise Crawford died suddenly last Saturday and under circumstances so suspicious that the coroner's jury had the contents of the stomach analyzed. The finding of enough morphine to kill at least two persons was followed by the arrest of the sister.

Miss Agnes Crawford, sister of the prisoner, died June 25, 1910, supposedly of acute meningitis. Three weeks later, July 15, her father died, uraemic poisoning being given as the cause. On July 25, 1910, her mother died. In her case uraemic poisoning also was given as the cause.

Annie Crawford, the prisoner, held insurance policies on the lives of the deceased in the following sums: Walter C. Crawford, father, $300; Mrs. Crawford, mother, $400; Mary Agnes Crawford, sister, $200; Elise Crawford, sister, $250.

She collected the insurance in each case except in that of her sister Elise, payment of which was withheld pending the receipt of the certificate of death.

For several years Annie Crawford had charge of the drug department of the Presbyterian Hospital. She lost her position there more than a year ago, following the disappearance of a quantity of drugs.

The resolution adopted by the meeting recommended that the people of Western Washington send a petition to Congress, requesting the appointment of a committee to investigate the conduct of the said C. H. Hanford during the last 12 years, both as a judge and as an individual, as to his personal habits and decisions, with a view of formulating the necessary charges to bring about his impeachment by the Senate of the United States.

The petition calling for Hanford's impeachment was withdrawn from circulation pending the grand jury's action.

meeting at Dreamland Rink, Seattle, on August 25 last, will not be further considered by this grand jury. No indictments in these cases will be returned by it. This will preclude some other grand jury from taking it up.

Tomorrow the grand jury will take up the Tacoma census frauds under the direction of C. A. Newton, special assistant to the Attorney-General.

The men involved in the allegations of conspiracy to defeat justice are A. V. Fawcett, ex-mayor of Tacoma, and the following Seattle residents: Leroy Sanders and E. C. Canfield, employed on a newspaper; O. T. Erickson, city councilman; Will Atkinson, T. R. Horner and J. H. Perry, attorneys; Hugo Kelly and Paul E. Mohr, labor leaders.

It is charged that these nine men were guilty of conspiring, in that they arranged a mass meeting and made inflammatory speeches at a time when the case of the Seattle, Renton & Southern Interurban Company against being compelled to make a five-cent fare was pending before Judge Hanford.

COMPROMISE IS GIVEN DENIAL Promoters of Dreamland Meeting Says Ouster Move Not Over.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 27.—Leroy Sanders, the principal promoter of the Dreamland Rink meeting which denounced Judge Hanford and called for his resignation or impeachment, said today that the dropping of the conspiracy cases at Tacoma was not the result of a compromise, and that the movement for ousting of Judge Hanford would be pressed vigorously.

The resolutions adopted by the meeting recommended that the people of Western Washington send a petition to Congress, requesting the appointment of a committee to investigate the conduct of the said C. H. Hanford during the last 12 years, both as a judge and as an individual, as to his personal habits and decisions, with a view of formulating the necessary charges to bring about his impeachment by the Senate of the United States.
