RAID SCARES PLAYERS

POKER DEVOTEES ARE FINED AS WELL AS FRIGHTENED.

Turkish Bath Proprietor Testifies That Hair Rose When Officers Break in on Game.

Roars of laughter, in spite of the best efforts of Judge and bailiff, punctuated the testimony of Greek witnesses in Municipal Court yesterday as they told how badly frightened they were when plainclothes policemen broke into their game of stud poker in a coffee house at Sixth and Burnside streets recently.

A Turkish bath proprietor who was in the room said every individual hair rose when two "cowboys" with big guns in their hands, broke into the room. He said he could remember no more after that.

E. Hassan, a Turk, who testified that he had aspirations of being a member of the city detective force, was to have been the star witness for the prosecution, but it was charged in court that he had been "seen." Hassan was entrusted with five marked dollars, which he was to have lost in the game. Three of them found their way to the pocket of Tom Phantokas, proprietor of the place, but Hassan, after he is said to have told the officers and Judge Cohen privately that he had bought chips with them. On the stand testified that he had paid Phantokas a debt.

Attorney Petrain, for the defense, professed ignorance of the method of playing stud poker, and sought information, but he was overruled. "The court is familiar with the game," said Judge Cohen.

The detention of Hassan was disregarded by the court, and the keeper of the place was fined $50, while three players paid $25 each.

ARMY OFFICER SOUGHT

PARENT WOULD FIND MISSING LIEUTENANT SYKES.

Father Appeals to the Oregonian Saying Trouble May Be Adjusted if Son Will Return.

The Oregonian has been asked to assist in locating Gibbs Sykes, Second Lieutenant in the Ninth Cavalry, who ran away from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., September 2, after becoming involved in minor difficulties.

A letter-head just been received from W. Sykes, of Sykesland, S. C., father of the young officer, who says that through Senator Tillman, the difficulties have been adjusted with the War Department and assurances have been received that the young officer will only receive mild punishment and not lose his commission, if he will promptly report to his post for duty.

Lieutenant Sykes was the youngest of the West Point class of 1908, graduating at the military academy and serving two months in the Philippines before he reached his majority. On account of his youth and the nature of the difficulties in which the young officer found himself involved, the senior Sykes says the War Department agreed to extend leniency.

"The letter says: 'I am addressing you this letter in the hope that you may interest yourself through the powerful agency of your paper to locate my son and take him word that his difficulties may be easily solved, if he will return. What he needs is to be encouraged at this time. If he can but be found and made to understand that his troubles are not serious, his career can be saved. There is nothing more that I can say, except that in this delicate affair the family of Lieutenant Sykes is practically helpless, that I am appealing to you in the hope that you can do something for us and that whatever you do will earn my own and my family's gratitude.'

The letter said Lieutenant Sykes wrote a letter home, bearing no date line, but the envelope was postmarked at St. Paul, Minn.
