LYMAN SAYS HE IS SORRY HE RAN AWAY

United States Marshall Is Indignant at Escape of Thornet.

SHERIFF FOUND IN "SHOW"

Klamath Falls County Officer Did Not Even Know How Many Prisoners Had Broke Jail, Says Leslie M. Scott.

Continued From First Page.) deal with a smile and slight gesture of the hand, "but I have rights, the same as any other man, and I insisted on the proper way of going back to California—the correct legal process. Had the California Marshal explained the situation to me when I was on the way from Lakeview to Klamath Fails instead of trying to take me forcibly from the state, I should have returned without this delay. "Now that I understand matters a little better I regret that I ran away from Oakland. But, really, my confinement and running away was a joke. The door to my room in the hospital was open all the time and there was no attempt to guard me. I doubt if the hospital authorities knew I was supposed to be a prisoner. The whole thing was such a farce that I thought I might as well leave.

Jail Nice, He Says.

"I am also serry that Thornet, my nurse, broke jail at Klamath Falls and ran away. But he is just a boy and I presume became frightened, so, when the prisoners broke jail and asked him te go with them, he went. It was a foolish thing to do and it makes the situation had. There was really no occasion for breaking fail for the prison ers are treated like human beings at Klamath Falls and only five of the 15 prisoners in the room, left. That speaks well for the Sheriff and jatler. doesn't it?

For the first time in his life Dr. Lyman yesterday underwent the ordeal of heing "skin-frished." It was supposed that the doctor had run out of ready cash, as he had only $17 in his pocket. But Jailer Phillips doesn't take enything for granted, and asked: "De you object to being 'skin-

Although the doctor readily grasped the meaning of a "skin-frisk," he entered no objection. The doctor made or comment as the jailor divested him of clothing and turned every garment wrong side out. When Philitps pulled two $100 notes, two $10 notes and a $5 note, $245 in all, from the sock on his well foot the doctor didn't even make a face.

"That all?" queried Phillips, when he finished the search. That's all, nodded the doctor

The application for Lyman's removal is based on the charge of a conspiracy to escape from an officer. The only hope left to Lyman is to prove the in-hope left to Lyman is to prove the in-sufficiency of the indictment and the arplication for removal.

If Lyman should defeat the applica-tion for his removal, it is known that District Attorney McCourt has in readiness the necessary papers for the ar-rest of Lyman on the same indictment on which he was originally taken into custody, that of fraudulent use of the Prisoners Have Knives.

'Prisoners in the Klamath Falls Jail bave a large supply of knives and forks, which Sheriff Barnes deems it unnecessary to take away after meals, said United States Marshal Scott in discussing the escape of Dr. Lyman's nurse. Thornet. 'Toole and implements can be passed into the jail through the harred windows. There are no guards inside or outside the jail day or night. Any person could easily break open the jail from the outside, either through the walls and the ease of cutting out from the limited is shown by Thornet's escape.

Buth was the condition of the jail when Lyman and Thornet were jocked up in It Friday might, September 25, by Sheriff Barnes of Klamath and his deputy, John Shallock. Deputy United States Marshals America and Klernan, knowing the filmeiness of the jail, demanied that Thornet he secured in the steel cell inside the jail, from which he could not have escaped.

'The two Deputy Marshals caused Lyman to be placed in the next safest place—a separate cell. They supposed sheriff Barnes locked up Thornet in the cell, but Sheriff Barnes says he did not. Prisoners Have Knives.

"Next day, Saturday, Deputy Marshal Arnerich again demanded that Thornet go in the cell, but the Shariff and his deputy would not comply, and Thornet remained in the common corridor of the jail. That night he escaped. Before or after getting out he held a conversation with Lyman at the window of the latter's cell. Thornet could easily have broken the bars of the window, but Lyman decided that he could not make a successful flight, even if he should get out.

"Late Saturday night, shortly before the escape. Frank Beatty, Deputy United States Marshal for Oregon, arrived in Klamath Falls and at once

United States Marshal for Oregon, arrived in Klamath Fulls and at once sought Sheriff Barnes, in order to get the jail upen for service of Oregon warrants upon Lyman and Thornet. After a long queet, Beatry found Barnes in a moving-picture show, but Barnes had no keys to the Jail and could find none in his office. His deputy, Shallock, who had the keys, could not be located.

Barnes "Guarantees" Jatl. "Beatty insisted upon serving the warrants but Barnes said he would have to wait for morning. Beatty and the two California deputies expressed unestainess over the juit, but Barnes replied that he would 'guarantee' the security of Lyman and Thornet, Barnes Stain, East 781, B 1855, Lady assistant.

promised, however, to come to the jail next morning (Sunday) at 7 o'clock to give the California deputies receipts for the prisoners so that the two deputies might take an 8 o'clock train for San Francisco and to open the jail so that Beatty might serve the Oregon warrants. But Barnes did not oppear at the appointed time nor until after the escape was discovered about 10 o'clock.

o'clock

When Sheriff Barnes arrived he did not know who had escaped and had no record in his office that would enshie him to determine. This information he had to gain from the dozen remaining prisoners, who had preferred to keep their jail 'meal ticket' rather than to go out through the rather than Thornet hole.

Barnes Asks of Escapes "Who broke out? What are their names? How many got away? asked the bewildered Sheriff. Little was done that day towards recapturing the fugi-

"Deputy Marshal Beatty stood guard over Lyman in the jail the rest of the day and through the following night.
Sheriff Barnes would not provide a guard in his jail. On Monday, October
2. Beatty moved Lyman to the Livermore Hotel, where he guarded him personally day and night until I arrived the following Friday. I then brought Lyman to Portland and Beatty took after Thornet.

"Lyman's favorite method of gaining opportunities of escape is by use of money. Knowing this, Deputy Marshal Arnerich took all Lyman's money away from him when Lyman smoney away money and Lyman treated Shallock to breakfast in a restaurant. Deputy Arnerich protested both against the return to Lyman of his money and the release of Lyman from the jail, but Shallock continued to feast at restaurants at Lyman's expense.

"After Deputy Marshal Beatty arrived from Portiand, he also protested against Lyman's release from jail for restaurant meals, but Shallock persisted in the practice. Finally Beatty took Lyman away from the Sheriff in order to satisfy himself that the prisoner would be safely guarded.

"Jailing methods in the Klamath hastile are of the crudest. Prisoners regard the jail as a joke, from which they can make easy exit when they they can make easy exit when they tire of the joke."
