Friday night. No trace of him has been "Fritz" lived at the beach last season, but it is not believed by the family that he tired of city life and that he deliberately left for the seashore. It is rather felt that he has been stolen, and the police are investigating.

There is a bare possibility that "Fritz" may have been picked up by the poundmen, as he wore no collar and license tag. It he was, he has been executed in the lethal chamber, specially designed to put ddgs out of this world by an easy means. "Fritz" was not there yesterday when inquiry was made.

the Tenth-street entrance having been reserved for the President and the reception committee.

In the Armory 2700 chairs have been arranged for the public. These, with $100 seats in the gallery, are all the hall will hold, and as soon as these seats are filled the doors will be closed. The President will approach the Armory from Tenth and Couch streets and enter through the east door to a rest room. The President will occupy a place at the front of the stand surrounded by secret service men and Portland city officials, officers of the Commercial Club and others. He will be introduced by President Beckwith of the Commercial Club, and will be the only speaker on the programme.

The United Railways Company started to tear up the parement on Tenth street in front of the Armory resterday, and for a while it appeared that it would not be possible to clear a way for the President to enter through the seat antrance. The street was torn up to make way for a double track being laid by the company. The chief engineer promised to put 50 men to work and have the debris cleared away by today. This work was started last night by a large force of workmen, and no changes in the arrangements Emery Olmstead, Harvey O'Bryan, H. J.

Marshfield Postoffice Busy.

MARSHPIELD, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special)—The receipts of the Marshfield Postoffice have been steadily increasing according to the report of Postmaster Curtis. For the last quarter there has been an increase of $500 over the same quarter of the year previous The total receipts of the office for the fiscal year will probably exceed $15,000. An additional cierk for the office has been promised on account of the increasing business.

have completed every detail, according to their final report last night. They say that absolutely nothing has been overlooked which might add to the pleasure and success of the President's visit and they believe that when he leaves he will remember Portland as one of the cities where he was received with open arms.

The President is not a stranger in Portland, having visited here twice before, once while Secretary of War, and again October 3, 1909, as President.

The list of guests for the dinner at the Commercial Club follows:

the general conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, and chairman of the Foreign Mission Board of that denomination in a speech at Women of Wood-craft Hall last night. Elder Daniels described conditions in Turkey and Russia graphically as he found them when he visited these countries last June, and laid particular stress on rapid strides he said are made by Adventists in mission fields. He said that while 62 foreign mission boards, representing all the Protestant denominations of the world with the exception of Seventh-Day Adventists, and chairman of the Foreign Mission Board of that denomination in a speech at Women of Wood-craft Hall last night. "Adventists have missionaries in all countries of the world." he said, "with the exception of Thibet."

He spoke of the past century as the "great missionary century."

Massacre Is Predicted.

Massacre is Predicted.

As to conditions in Turkey, Elder Daniels said every person in that country with whom he talked last June was of the opinion that when the Young Turk party is overthrown a terrible massacre of Christians and Young Turks will follow.

"One must visit Turkey, and learn the heartless character of the people, the fanaticism and brutality of the Mohammedan religion, to appreciate what will follow if this religious party again obtains power," he said.

"In the Armenian massacres of five or six years ago, Seventh-Day Adventists were murdered with other Christians. The Mohammedan religion is the state religion, the Sultan, like the Czar of Russia, being the head both of the state and the church. All the massacres of Christians in Armenia and Turkey were planned by the Sultan himself, and carried out with his knowledge and approval. Since the Young Turk party succeeded in imprisoning the Sultan and taking the government, religious liberty has been proclaimed. When I was in Constangovernment, religious liberty has been proclaimed. When I was in Constantinople last Summer I had as much liberty as I have right here in Portland. So do all Christians. Many Preachers Jailed. "Under the old regime our minis-ters were often imprisoned for preach-ing the gospel. Elder Z. G. Baharian was imprisoned seven times, and Elder Buzagarian, a native preacher, 12 times, once being confined 18 months. We have a small school in Constanti-

"In Russia the Greek church is the state church. Beligious liberty is not granted Protestants. To preach, a permit must be obtained in each case from Minister of the Interior and to obtain this takes from three to 18 months. Still another permit must be obtained to hold a meeting, and the application must state explicitly the time and place. to hold a meeting, and the application must state explicitly the time and place of meeting. The disadvantages of this, so far as Protestants are concerned, were very evident to me when at Riga I found a church of 400 members and a hall for meeting purposes seating 200. I preached twice the same day, half the church being present each time.

time. Creed Changes Controlled. 'Under the ban of Russian law a member of one sect may not join an-other sect, nor may a member of the Greek Church join another church, but Greek Church join another church, but members of all churches may join the Greek Church at their pleasure. For baptizing fitto any church other than the Greek Church fine and imprisonment may be imposed, both on the convert and the minister performing the ceremony. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, the great Baptist minister of New York City, has a long petition which he will soon present to the Czar, asking religious freedom in Russia. Notwithstanding all restriction, Adventists have 4000 believers in Russia, and are gaining ground at the rate of 4000 a year."
