Portland Committee Suggests Plan to Show Animals After Which They Are Named to Easaern Lodgemen-Legion Expected.

For the benefit of the thousands of members of the order of Elke that never have seen real, live elk, the local lodge is considering the advisability of bringing to Portland a herd of animals from one of the National reserves and exhibiting thom in a con-venient park while the grand lodge convention is in progress next July.

If this plan is adopted it will be used by the publicity committee as one of the features for attracting visitors to Portland. it is a lamentable fact a large ma-jority of the men about the country who are wearing elk antiers on the who are wearing elk antiers on the lapels of their coats have never cast eyes on a specimen of the gentle animal from which their order takes its name. This is particularly true of those Elks living in the East. It is assumed from the start that the Portland lodge contains no member of this tenderfoot class. tenderfoot class.

Anyway, the publicity committee has been thinking about the idea and has been thinking about the idea and has advanced the theory that it would be a mighty original stunt, as well as a worthy attraction to obtain the consent of the Government to bring a small herd of elk into Portland, enclosing them in a pasture convenient to the business district, where they might be seen and admired, yet not disturbed, by the thousands who will be here for the big convention and re-uniton.

If it is not possible to obtain them from the Government reserves it has been suggested to get them from one of the cities of the Northwest that have live elk in their recological gar-

The advertising possibilities of such an innovation are considered of ines-timable value. If it can be carried out with success and with not too much expense, the local ledge likely will take steps to make it one of the prin-cipal display features of the conven-tion.

Plans for decorations, parades and prizes are now under consideration by the convention commission. At the last meeting Mayor Rushlight discussed with the commissioners the suggestion to arrange a harmonious scheme of illuminating and decorating for the entire city. The Mayor believes that the Elks' convention will be the greatest gathering ever held on the Pacific Coast and he has joined with the commission in the desire to make Portland the best decorated city that ever has entertained a convention convention that ever has entertained a convention of any kind.

The suggestion to co-operate with the Rose Festival association in illuminating and decorating has been and has submitted to the commission and has been considered with favor. K. K. Kubli, exaited ruler, and chairman of the commission, has discussed it with various members of the festival as-sociation. While it will be necessary and Washington State Fairs. for the Elks to arrange many and distinctive designs, it is believed possible to use much in common with the festival managers. Joseph Deitz, chairman of the hotel committee, has completed a canvass of the first-class hotels in the business district and convenient thereto and district and convenient thereto and has estimated that it will be possible to accommodate 6000 persons in addition to the regular transient trade. However, the hotels will advise their regular parrons to arrange their visits to Portland so that they will interfere least with the Elks.

fore least with the Elks.

Mr. Deltz' estimates do not include four of the principal hotels that are competing for grand lodge headquarters—the Multnomah, the Oregon, the Imperial and the Portland. After the grand lodge makes its choice the three others will be thrown open for other delegations. It is believed that they thus will be able to care for an additional 1000 persons. However, the figures given to Mr. Deltz are on a conservative basis and it is probable that instead of 6000 the Botels already canvassed will be able to take care of 7000. It is said of Elks that they have no objections to sleeping three or four in a room when attendthree or four in a room when attend annual conventions.

A systematic canvass next will be made of the rooming-houses that will be able to accommodate visitors. More than 10,000 persons can be cared for through them, it is believed.

Allowance will be made for travelets who will "camp" in special trains in the railroad yards. A score or more of delegations coming on specials are arranging to "park" them in the railroad yards. Railroad officials declare that they will provide facilities for them convenient to the center of activity in Elkdom.

After all these resources for rooms are exhausted it will be necessary to make a canvass of the residence districts and secure lists of persons who will open their homes to visitors. It is the intention to have accommodations for everyone.

While the local committees are planning to co-operate with the Seattle Golden Potlatch, the Tacoma Military Tournament and the Portland Rose Festival for an advertising campaign that shall attract Eastern visitors to the Northwest at such a period that the Northwest at such a period that will enable them to witness all those events, a movement has been started in omaha to induce the railroads to publish a rate that will enable them to visit Los Angeles for the Shriners' meeting and the Elks' convention in

That this year's session of the Butter and Cheesemakers' Association, to be held here December 5 and 6, will be the most important meeting yet held by that body, was the opinion expressed yesterday by the president, A. W. Cooper Morris was in conference with District Attorney Cameron and John Y. Richardson, expert accountant, yesterday afternoon, and again last night. What sort of a statement to the jury Morris will be able to make when Louis J. Wilde's case comes up for trial, has not been divulged, both Morris and the District Attorney refusing to tell what the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank's books reveal. A sensation is promised, however.

It become known yesterday that Morris and the expert are searching for a number of cash slips. These, it is believed, when compared with the books of the old Oregon Trust & Savbooks of the old Oregon Trust & Savings Bank, and with other figures and facts in the possession of the District Attorney, will be used as a point against Wilde.

EXTRA STRIP TO BE BOUGHT

Rather than pay sums ranging from $60,000 to $150,000 for a site for the $60,000 to $150,000 for a site for the proposed City Jall, police headquarters, emergency hospital and Municipal Court, the ways and means committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon decided to recommend to the main body that Mayor Rushlight be authorized to offer "Lucky Jack" Peterson $35,000 for a strip 35 by 96 feet just north of the present headquarters. This is provided Feterson will purchase at par $40,000 worth of the bonds with which funds to build the new station will be secured. This virtually makes certain the construcvirtually makes certain the construc-tion of the new police home at the old location, Second and Oak streets.

Councilman Wallace, chairman of the ways and means committee, ex-pressed himself from the start as favoring the present location, and it was not long before the five members constituting the committee fell in with his ideas. It was largely because of his ideas. It was largely because of the fact that the $200,000 bond issue would be too small if much of it was spent for ground that the committee decided to retain the old site and to make the offer for the small strip thought necessary for the construction of a proper building.

City Determined On Site. According to the ideas of the mem-bers of the committee, the new build-ing can be put up in sections, so that the police work may go on much as at present. If Peterson accepts the offer the balance can be used in construction and furnishings. If he does not accept it, condemnation proceedings will be started, as the city is determined to have the site. In that case, a jury would decide what the strip is worth. The city owns the ground on which the headquarters building now stands.

Other sites offered were quarter blocks at Fourth and Burnside, $150,-600; Second and Main streets, $50,000; Fifth and Flanders, $30,000; Fourth and Ankeny, $125,000; Ninth and Everett, $60,000. The latter was favorably mentioned by Acting Chief Slover as a good site. He said that, in his opinion, Portland is so large that sub-stations will U6 accolutely necessary soon, so that the location of the headquarters building is not so important as it otherwise would be, although it should be somewhere in the business center.

The committee also recommended an assistant for the milk chemist, at $100 a month, and an appropriation to carry him to the first of the year.

A telephone switchboard, to connect all departments of the city, will be installed in the City Hall within three months. The committee recommended the precessary appropriation mended the necessary appropriation for this. It is believed it will save considerable waste of time, as at pres-ent each branch of the municipal gov-ernment has a separate telephone.

Governor West has no power, under the law, to pardon municipal prisoners, according to an opinion by City Attor-ney Grant, filed with Mayor Rushlight yesterday morning. This authority, Mr. Grant says, appears to be vested in the City Council.

Mayor Rushlight took up with City Attorney Grant the question of pardoning power over city prisoners when the city took over the Linnton rockpils. The Mayor was interested in it because he felt that, at times, there are prisoners on the rockpile who should be pardoned because of ill health or other reasons. The Governor has always been popularly supposed to hold the pardoning power over all prisoners in the state.

"I can truthfully say Outfours Remedies have cured me of four long years of exama. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching.

No stronger evidence than this could be given of the success and economy of the Cuticura Remedies in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it.
