LABORERS HAVE TYPHOID

Epidemic at Railway Camp Reported at Bull Run.

Suffering from an attack of typhoid fever contracted while employed in the construction camp of the Mount Hood Railway & Power Company, at Bull Run, Gus and Alfred Johnson, brothers, are in the Good Samaritan Hospital. They were brought to the city last Tuesday.

Between 30 and 40 men have left one of the company's camps, located near Bull Run, and it was reported that cheap and inferior food, resulting in dissatisfaction among the men, was the cause of their leaving, as well as of a general typhoid epidemic. Inquiry, however, failed to verify the report. It is explained by State Health Officer White, that to contract typhoid from food is an impossibility, while the chief engineer of the construction department of the railway company attributes the cause of the typhoid to the fact that the two men affected used water from a stream nearby. Instead of using the company's supply, procured from the Bull Run River. It is also said by the engineer that the reason for the men's leaving is that work is becoming slack, as well as that the rainy season is near. He says that he knows of no complaint with regard to the food, and that the company is in no way handicapped by any lack of men.

Martin to Accuse Detectives.

The grand jury is expected to hear evidence Monday in the case of Detectives Mallett and Moloney, accused of assisting in the kidnaping of Leo W. Martin. The abducted man, whose bonds have been exonerated by Judge Gatens, will go before the jury to testify. He announces an intention to remain in Portland and assist in every way in the prosecution of his alleged abductors. Judge Gatens intimates that if indictments are returned the detectives will not be allowed to be at liberty on their own recognizance pending trial.

LAST WHITE SLAYER UP

McDavid Case Far-Reaching if Salesman Is Convicted.

The last of the batch of white slave trials began in the United States District Court yesterday. The case is of a character considerably different from those which preceded it and if the defendant is found guilty the interstate commerce law, applicable to such cases, will have a far-reaching effect. The defendant, Le Roy McDavid, 23 years of age, is a traveling salesman and has a record of having sold one typewriter a day for three months. While in Idaho he became acquainted with a divorcee, Olive Dick, who is said to have traveled as his companion. McDavid is accused of being responsible for her coming to Portland. That, practically, is the case of the Government against him, although it is alleged that he had intended to place the woman in a life of shame; he left her here and went to California with another girl, it is alleged.

McDavid's attorneys, John F. Logan and J. H. Stevenson, acknowledge all the main facts, but contend that while McDavid might be guilty of a statutory offense before a State or Municipal Court he has not committed an offense against the interstate commerce act.

Tramp Commits Suicide.

THE DALLIES, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Hurling himself headlong in front of O. W. R. & N. passenger train No. 1, C. L. Richards, a tramp, committed suicide Wednesday afternoon. Eyewitnesses say Richards was walking on the track ahead of the train, about four miles west of this city. He stepped to the side of the rails as though he intended to wait for the train to go by, and waiting until the train was upon him so that the engineer could not stop, he pitched himself across the rails. According to a diary found in his coat, Richards was 40 years old. His address was given as "Anywhere from New York to San Francisco."

$5000 IS PRICE OF LIFE

Judgment Awarded for Man Burned to Death on Mascot.

A jury in the Circuit Court yesterday returned a verdict for $5000 against the Lewis River Transportation Company in a case in which the company was sued by C. E. Illidge, administrator of the estate of Sydney Illidge, for negligence which caused the death of Illidge. The man was burned to death in the steamer Mascot, which was destroyed by fire at Pekin Landing, near Woodland, Wash., March 18. The evidence convinced the jury that Illidge, who was a steward and had sleeping quarters on the boat, had not been given warning when the steamer took fire at 2:30 o'clock in the morning. Destruction of the vessel was caused by a nightwatchman, who tried to start the oil-burning furnaces.
