

ALL-NIGHT RIOTING DISTURBS LISBON

Provisional Cabinet Minister Hustled by Mob and Rescued by Guards.

CABINET CRISIS RUMORED

That Report at Least Was Premature Is Shown by Fact That Senate Was Still in Session. Plotters to Lose Salaries.

LISBON, Oct. 22.—(Special)—A rumor in circulation yesterday to the effect that the Cabinet of Premier Chagas had resigned started rioting which continued all night. The disturbances centered about Dom Pedro Square. Many well-known men were hustled about, among them being Dr. Antonio d'Almeida, who was Minister of the Interior in the provisional Cabinet. He was compelled to take refuge in a store, from which he was rescued by mounted republican guards, who charged and dispersed the mob and escorted him to his home.

Report of Crisis Premature.

The Senate was continuing the discussion of the bill at the time of the outbreak, hence the report, which designation of the Cabinet was at least premature.

The bill was finally adopted in its entirety and a clause was adopted providing for the refusal of the salaries of officials who were implicated in the monarchist plot.

An attempt to save the Portuguese center Sao Rafael, which was wrecked on the rocks near Villa do Conde, has been unavailing. All of the crew were rescued, but everything on board was lost. Fifty of the crew of the Sao Rafael swim ashore.

As the failure of the Royalist campaign becomes more apparent, the people in general continue completely indifferent to the Royalist propaganda. An additional reason for their quietude is to be found in a proclamation just issued by the carabineiros, that all inhabitants discovered conspiring against the republic shall be instantly shot. The Royalists have suffered further discouragement on the frontier, for the Spanish government apparently has decided to take active measures against them.

Second Incursion Threatened.

Despite these obstacles, the Royalists are reported as preparing for a second combined incursion into Portugal. They will be divided into three columns—100 men under Captain Couceiro, the Royalist leader, near Porto; 100 men under Captain Camacho, near Lousada, and 250 men under Chagas near Foz de Douro, and the arrival of a Royalist cruiser, and it is said, then will attack Oporto.

There is a report that Captain Couceiro has been stabbed, but no definite news has given.

The Diario Noticias publishes a dispatch from Abrantes, 50 miles from Lisbon, to the effect that last night a band, armed with rifles and revolvers, was surprised by a military force in the act of leaving up the railroad tracks. The plan was to demolish several bridges. Several villages were exchanged and the attackers fled, leaving three dead. It is reported an attack has been made upon the communication stores at Barcelona, but the soldiers fired upon the attacking party, who immediately disappeared.

Spain Disarms Monarchists.

MONTALEGRE, Portugal, Oct. 22.—(Special)—The Spanish authorities have disarmed 350 Monarchists at Sampaolo d'Araujo, near the frontier. Many others escaped.

BIG PROJECT READY SOON

Lost River Diversion Dam and Tributaries to Cost $150,000.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special)—Work on the Lost River diversion dam and miscellaneous culverts, channels, together with cuttings and bridges being done by George C. Clark & Co., contractors, probably will be completed by December 1. The cost of the work done by the company is in the neighborhood of $150,000, while a large amount of material is furnished by the Government, for which the work is being done, and the Government also has paid for the engineering in connection with the project. The whole cost is said to run close to $150,000.

W. W. Patch, engineer, advertised for bids some time ago for a cottage to be built for the gatekeeper of the new dam, but all the bids were too high, so the Government will do the work itself. The bids were nearly twice as high, Mr. Patch says, as the work would have cost two years ago. It is proposed to have the cottage ready by December 15. The diversion work will contain Tule Lake.

COAL VEIN IS UNCOVERED
Bituminous Product Found on Land of Benedictine Fathers.

MT. ANGEL, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special)—An eight-foot vein of bituminous coal was uncovered on the property of the Benedictine Fathers, 15 miles east of Mount Angel, last Saturday. There has been no development work, and very little prospecting done, but the surface outcropping of an eight-foot vein and two other undeveloped veins have attracted the attention of mining experts.

The property is leased by H. S. Brinley of Portland. The coal was tested by an expert and found to be of superior quality.

COOS CRANBERRY CROP GOOD.

MAESFIELD, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special)—The cranberry crop this year in Coos County will be good. J. H. Pinkerton, who has a cranberry marsh on North Inlet, where most of the berries are grown, has exhibited some cranberries which he said to be the finest ever seen in this locality.

CULT IS DISRUPTED

Priestess' Revelations Lead to Arrest of Beauty Expert.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATES

Prominent Citizens of Newark Will Be Asked to Tell of Institution Where Homage Was Paid to Woman.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 22.—(Special)—Desertion of the cult by the "priestess" has led to the disruption of a health and beauty school for men and the detention of Dr. Reno H. Krans on a technical charge of misdemeanor.

The Essex County grand jury is conducting an investigation of the school and the students, many of whom are wealthy and prominent citizens, with families, are much worried.

The priestess whose defection led to the arrest of "Dr." Krans is Mary T. Sofia, 23 years old. She was found by the police in the company of a "strong man" at a local vaudeville theater and her disclosures in connection with the school of health and beauty form the basis of the case against Krans and his institution of learning. She is now at the Detention House in this city.

School is advertised for advertising for men who wished to meet a lady of refinement. Miss Sofia was the lady. "Dr." Krans separated the wheat from the chaff, among those who responded to his notices, and the elect were admitted to the "inner circle."

In classes at the school of health and beauty, while Krans stood upon a pedestal, while Sofia, at her feet, recited weird incantations which were a part of the rites. The students could not fathom the meaning of the master's talk. Miss Sofia said that an ex-Governor of the state and other men of prominence received instruction from her.

Priestess Paid Homage. Some of the students have confided to the police that Miss Sofia was paid great homage by all the students. Krans referred to her as "the great Om" and requested the pupils as they looked upon her, to concentrate their minds upon the highest ideal of the science.

The police learned of the school's existence through the appearance in the Chief's office more than a week ago of Krans himself. Krans reported that Miss Sofia, a relative, was missing from his home in Broad street.

The names of the students have not been made public. It is known, however, that subpoenas have been prepared and they will be summoned before the grand jury soon.

Miss Sofia's parents live in the Bronx, New York. They said the girl met Krans some place in the West and that they were associated in educational work in various cities.

WARSHIPS OUT OF FUEL

(Continued from First Page.) Kilometer Ten Station, they did not reply to the rebel fire. The rebels advanced, cheering, but their shots for the most part fell short. The rebels retreated after the third shot. The cruisers freely shelled the rebel position east of the race course, and apparently succeeded in scaring them, for within a short time they were in full retreat.

At 11 o'clock Thursday morning a large body of rebels advanced past the race course, the Chinese cruisers having taken up a position farther down the river. There was little firing at this time, but the Wushang forts opened on the warships, which began to maneuver to prevent the forts from taking aim. Thousands of coolies followed the advancing rebels.

river. The march on the station met with no opposition.

There was only one casualty among the foreigners. A German marine of a landing party was shot through the hand.

It is probably true that fighting occurred two days ago at Nanchang, 60 miles south of Klukiang.

Late reports from reliable sources say that fighting is now going on at Nanking and Manchang.

IMPERIAL ARMY IS ROUTED

Chinese Revolutionists Put 20,000 Soldiers to Flight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The Tai Tung Yat Bo (Chinese free press) received the following cables this morning from Shanghai:

Shanghai, Oct. 22 (7 A. M.)—Big engagement yesterday between the revolutionary forces and the Imperial army. Fifteen thousand revolutionists attacked the army of General Yin Tehang, 20,000 men, in the mountain pass at Kwang Sul in the mountain range between Ho Pa and Ho Nan, where General Yin had made his headquarters.

The Imperial army was defeated with great slaughter. The army retreated in rout 30 miles north. All stores, artillery, guns and ammunition which General Yin Tehang had stored there were left behind and captured by the revolutionists. It was a great victory for Commander-in-Chief Li Hung Huen, who led the rebel army.

"The rebels occupy the Sha Gat district and control every mountain pass." "Hong Kong, Oct. 22 (8 A. M.)—Viceroy Chang Min Chi, of Quan Tong Province, has issued an edict forbidding all newspapers to publish any reports of the revolution. The people of Canton are greatly aroused at this antagonistic measure. Viceroy Ching has taken extreme precautions and is unable to spend her money as she has a habit of doing.

The following was received today by the Young China, a Chinese paper of this city:

Shanghai, Oct. 22.—Revolutionists control 34 mountain passes. Peking in panic.

Governor Sun Fo Koo, of the province of Shan Tung, is reported to have narrowly escaped death yesterday and is now in hiding in Ching Tso. Revolutionists burned the Governor's residence at Tai Nan Fu according to cables to the Free Press.

GIRL WANTS CASH

Old-Fashioned Guardian Asked to Turn Over Fortune.

ACCOUNTING IS SOUGHT

Carlotta Heath Dearly Loves Trustee, but Just the Same She Prefers to Spend the Money Herself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(Special)—Miss Carlotta Heath dearly loves Frederick R. Maddock, her guardian and trustee of her estate, valued at $135,000, but she believes that she has a right to spend her money as she sees fit and has begun suit to have Maddock relieved of his duties in handling her fortune. She wants an accounting.

Mr. Maddock is the sole surviving member of the manufacturing firm of Edmund J. Heath & Son. He promised Carlotta's grandparents and parents on their deathbeds that he would look after the girl. He is not a young man, Carlotta says, he is too old-fashioned.

The parting has come. Maddock and his wife have left the handsome Heath home at 309 Roseville avenue, New York, and Carlotta is looking forward to the handling of her own money when her suit is decided.

Carlotta's views on this subject are exactly opposite. She is not bitter, however. Neither is Mr. Maddock. Carlotta loves her old-fashioned guardian dearly. She has told him so fulfilling my pledge to Carlotta's grandmother if I should allow her to dispose of her fortune as she sees fit. A young girl of her temperament is unable to assume the responsibilities of a large fortune.

PINEAPPLE TRADE HEAVY

Estimated Shipments From Hawaii Total $3,000,000.

BETTER ROADS ARE SOUGHT

Tillamook County Seeks Best Way to Expend Money.

HONOLULU, Oct. 22.—(Special)—This season's export of pineapples is something stupendous when previous figures are considered. The value of the exported pineapples for the season now closing is estimated by Manager Friedly, of the Hawaiian Preserving Company, at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, representing something over $60,000 cases of the canned fruit sent to the ports of this territory.

The great export stirs the thoughts of the earnest men interested in the big industry and all concerned are contemplating improvements against the beginning of the next busy season, June, 1912. The Hawaiian Preserving Company alone estimates an output this season, of between 150,000 and 170,000 cases. This company has four or five weeks more to run on the canning.

The Granges are opposed to the laying of a heavier tax than that of last year, namely $ mills, also to the expenditure of the county's money for roads that would be of use to only a few. The county has spent over $75,000 on its roads, $28,000 of which was expended in the purchase of machinery, most of which has not been used. The complement of machinery now owned by the county is equal in size to that owned by the County of Multnomah, including the City of Portland.

A bond issue is seriously agitated, and with the assurance that the money to be realized by the issue would be judiciously and economically spent, little doubt is felt as to the outcome of any election that might be called to authorize the same. All eyes are turned to Polk County to see how the election there will result.

Work will be started soon on completion of the Neah-kan-nie Mountains road, which will connect with the shore road already built by Clatsop County.

This piece of road is not only an expensive one to construct, but a difficult one from an engineering view point. With the completion of this road, and with the splendid county road running from the south line of the county far in the northern part, Portland motorists will have a trip before them that for ease of travel and scenic attraction will be hard to excel anywhere in the country.

Glavis Ranch Worked.

WHITE SALMON, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special)—Armed with forks, a small army of Japs moved on the Glavis ranch, pitched their camp and are now tearing up the earth, throwing out big counting of his stewardship, which he will present to the court.

"As you can see from this," he said, "Carlotta's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret C. Heath, left her $111,865.91, while at the present time this portion of the estate is worth $115,052.11, an increase, after all the expenses of the household and Carlotta have been paid, of $3,186.20. The rest of Carlotta's estate at the time of the appraisal was valued at $2,151.08. It is now worth $23,221.47, an increase of $1040.39."
