COLLEGE "YELLS" DECRIED BY TAFT

Students Told Time Might Be Devoted to More Elevating Subjects.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 25.—President Taft bade farewell tonight to Minnesota and departed for the real "home of the enemy"—Wisconsin. Before leavthe enemy"—Wisconsin. Before leaving St. Paul, Mr. Taft expressed his gratitude for the reception accorded him here and in Minneapolis. His here tonight was on the arbi tration treaties and was devoid of poli-

The President arrived in St.

The President arrived in St. Paul after a two hours' automobile ride from Minneapolis. He was taken to Minnehaha Falls, to Fort Snelling, to the State Soldiers' Home and to other points of interest on the way.

In addition to his speech on peace, President Taft made two addresses in the course of the day. One was on the subject of the Panama Canal at the iuncheon of the Young Men's Republican Club of Minneapolis and the other was a lot of homely advice to the students of the University of Minnesota.

Poer Youths Have Better Chance.

To the students, the President suggested that the activities of college life might better be devoted to more elevating subjects than "barbaric yells," and he also declared that the young man who started in life without means was far better equipped than the rich man's son, with an income sufficient to live without working.

The President also made a plea for fairness in sport, whether it be upon the college gridines or on the professional buseball field. He deplored the action of baseball crowds in attempting to put the visiting team at a disadvantage by insulting remarks and catcalls hurled from grandstands and bleachers. Poor Youths Have Better Chance.

"Is love baseball," exclaimed the President, "but I also love a fair deal." The President's remark about college yells was called forth by the greetings he received from the Minnesota students under the leadership of "cheer leaders" who jumped in front of Mr. Taft and went through various gyratious.

The President spoke generally of the responsibility of university men and "University men go out into the world without any money, as a rule." said Mr. Taft, "and those who have not money usually serve the public best. If there is anything that is an obstacle, if there is anything that is it is difficult for a young man to overcome, it is an income that will enable him to live without work.

"You don't applaud that enthusias-tically," he added, with a smile. "You would like to try it the other way. But I am giving you the benefit of real experience. You look about, after you have been out of college 25 years and pick out, if you can, a single man that has made a real success and had a great deal to live on the partial work. The partial way and the partial way and the compared to being bothered that complained of being bothered that complained the complained that Income Regarded as Obstacle.

single man that has made a real success and had a great deal to live on when he left college. If you find him, he is entitled to a great deal more credit than you are if you have had to hustle in order to get enough to eat for he has had to overcome more obstacles and more difficulties than

Victims Cry "Go On." The President said he wanted to stop here, for if he pruceeded he would have to criticise some phases of college life. There were cries of "Go on, go on,"

so Mr. Taft went on.

"I suppose it is necessary," he said,
"to keep up those barbaric yells that are supposed to be an expression of university life. I suppose it is necessary, too, that the leaders go through the contortions that we saw here, in order to feel the real college spirit, but so Mr. Taft went on. it was not necessary 30 or 40 years ago. They got along with a less sharp yell than the rest and with a more seful hurrah."

graceful hurrah."

Mr. Taft suggested that American universities might well devote a little study to manners. The Anglo-Saxon, the Northern races, he said, prided themselves on their straightforwardness, on their telling each other just what they thought, whereas they might learn a great deal from the politeness of the Latin races. "Heaven save me," exclaimed the President, "from a candid friend."

COOS TAXES ARE OBJECTED

County Will Have All Timber Lands Cruised for Assessments.

MARSHPIELD, Or., Oct. 25 .- (Special.) - Many objections to the assess-ment on timber lands will be presented to the Board of Equalization of Coos County by the Coos County Tax Asso-clation. The Board has set October 27 as a special time for hearing the objections. The Tax Association is composed of many timber-owners in this county. They will object to the whole assessment on the grounds that in many tracts are assessed without equity in

All of the individual cases will be brought up and besides the Tax Association several companies owning tim-her will also have objections to pre-sent to the Board. The county has timber in the county with a view of making a more equitable assessment. In the townships where the timber has been cruised by the county cruiser there has been advances in the assess-

UNIONS FAVORED, ALLEGED

Employers' Association to Demand Explanation by County Court.

Following complaints made by Port-land contracting firms that the County Court has adopted the policy of favor-ing union firms in county work, the Employers' Association has taken a hand and will ask the court to explain. The last complaint received was that of William Sheehy, president of Sheehy Bros. Painting & Decorating Company, yesterday. His concern made the lowest hid for the painting of the west wing of the new Courthouse, but was not granted the contract for the work hand and will ask the court to explain.

We're Throwing in a $20 Cabinet for $12 to Make It Interesting!

Yesterday's selling of the new hornless Talking Machines at $22.80, including 12 latest double-sided records, was bigger even than Tuesday's big sale. Get one of these fine Talking Machines today. They're simply splendid! And 12 latest double-sided records-24 selectionsgo with each machine. You can even select from the November list of records now, at Eilers Music House.

This $20 record cabinet now $12.

Fifty-two of these wonderful machines went on sale Monday at this extraordinary-revolutionaryunprecedented price-$22.80, on terms of Ten Cents a day-an achievement made possible because of the magnitude upon which our Talking Machine business, like our Piano department, is conducted, and because we want you to visit our new Talking Machine salesrooms, of which we are so proud.

There are 52 machines-see description, and plenty of records to choose from.

Come in right away-or telephone for one-all should be sold inside of three days-and even sooner -such a low offer has never been made heretofore. It will not be made again soon, if at all!

AT EILERS MUSIC HOUSE-Biggest, busiest, best-Oregon's talking machine headquarters, now at Seventh and Alder.

This is the machine, though the drawing does not do it justice.

This is a hornless talking machine of the very latest model—portable, compact and complete. The sound waves gathered by the reproducer are led through the tone-arm to the tone-chamber, in the hase of the cablinet, and magnified by the construction of the tone-arm and tone-chamber so that the music is exactly the same as that from which the original records were made, without "cramping" or distortion. In some instruments the tone-chamber (upon which the naturalness of the reproduction largely depends) is left out, and instead the sound waves are projected through the working parts of the motor, losing much of the accuracy and volume of the recorded music.

The motor is a powerful, noiseless spring motor. It pluys either 10-inch or 12-inch records of any make, and can be wound while running. Convenient adjustment of speed, which allows the operator to obtain the best regults possible from the record, is provided for, Ellers Music House, now at 7th and Alder.

because the concern has an "open shop." Mr. Sheehy bid $10,300 for the work, which bid was $400 below the next lowest bid, and says that he is entitled to the contract.

"I was informed recently," said Mr. Sheehy, "by a representative of Lewis-Hicks & Company, the general contractors, that the County Commissioners had opposed the granting of the painting contract to my concern because we have an open shop.

had complained of being bothered by delegations from unions who objected delegations from unions who objected to the employing of nonunion men and for that reason it did not desire the contract to be given to my company. I saw the Commissioners and was told the same thing. I have taken it up with the Employers' Association and an investigation is to be made. My concern has been doing business here for 20 years and its reliability is not questioned. It is a case of unionism, which I do not believe should govern the actions of public officials."

Portland Now in Territory of Great Northern Official There.

SEATTLE. Oct. 25 .- (Special)-As I result of changes caused by the resignation of Archibald Gray, assistant general freight and passenger agent of the Great Northern at Portland, W. A. Ross, in charge of Great Northern passenger affairs in this city, will take over the Portland territory, receiving additional authority and prestige in handling the business. Official announcement was made to Official announcement was made to-day by M. J. Costello, assistant general traffic manager, of the appointment of George H. Smitton, general agent at Minneapelis, to the post of assistant general freight agent at Portland, the passenger and freight jurisdiction be-ing once more split, the passenger busi-ness being given over to Mr. Ross. The arrangement is the same as that

The arrangement is the same as that in effect before H. A. Jackson was sent to Portland four years ago. Mr. Jackson acted in the capacity of both freight and passenger agent, and the place was passed on to Archibald Gray, of this city, in the same form. The policy is a continuation of that recently announced by the Great Northern of ly announced by the Great Northern of centralizing the business of the Pacific Coast, both in operation, traffic and right of way in Seattle, to have admin-istrative authority nearest to the point of origin of the volume of traffic. All promotions, resignations and changes will be effective November 1.

SMITTON LONG IN SERVICE

Gray's Successor Rises From Botton to High Post in 15 Years.

George H. Smitton, new assistant freight agent of the Great Northern in Portland to succeed Archibaid Gray, has been in the traffic depart-ment of the Great Northern for the last 15 years. He has been gen-eral freight agent of the freight de-partment at Minneapolis for three years and served for the same length of time and served for the same ingile that in a similar capacity at St. Paul. He has worked his way to the top from the bottom rung of the ladder.

Mr. Smitton will be in Portland to assume his new duties on November 1. Since Mr. Gray's departure, the of-

The petition to have the firm declared bankrupt was filed February S. 1911, by the St. Helens Quarry Company, but the defendants filed a metion denvine they were bankrupt and dedenying they were bankrupt and de-manding a jury trial. In a statement made by Rector & Daly, they say their assets were $15,000 and their liabilities

$100,000 February 8. When the Commercial Bank of Van-couver was closed by the State Bank Examiner December 19, 1919, Rector & Daly owed the institution about $50,000, and interest on this has brought the amount to about $54,000 at this time. Several weeks ago Rector & Daly offered M. B. Kies, receiver of the defunct bank, $6500 in full settlement for the $55,000 debt. It was refused. The receiver and members of the depositors' committee finally agreed to accept $7500, and two weeks was allowed Rector & Daly to pay, but the money was not forthcoming. Daly owed the institution about $50,00
