Tricks Known Only in Marine Corps Fall Unnoticed by ex-Member. Auto Ride Like Awakening World of Puture.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 21 .- (Special.) -With his every cense keyed to the highest pitch, his face aglow, eyes sparkling and every faculty and force of mind and body alert, S. Chandler Rogers, the Providence Hospital double-identity patient, took his first automobile ride, accompanied by his nurse mobile ride, accompanied by his nurse, Miss Baker, and a member of the department of psychology of the University of Washington, today. When it was over, Rogers, after undergoing a rigid test at the offices of the United States marine recruiting station, returned to the hospital to relate with all the esgerness of a school boy his novel experiences.

all the eagerness of a school boy his novel experiences.

During the first 15 minutes of his two-hour ride, Hogers endeavored to find something in the landscape to remind him of his lost life as George Kelly, United States marine, and later milhand, a year and a haif of which he had spout in and about this city. But the effort was futile. Then he turned attention to the automobile, Here he found many things to excite his wonder. The frequent sounding of the horn pursled him, as to its erigin and purpose. erigin and purpose

Marvels Are Many. "Where does that noise come from?" he asked, a look of wonder on his face. "Every time we go by something I hear it."

"Every time we go by something I hear it."

"It's all very new and strange to me." he said. "I have been told many things by people who have talked to me at the hospital. Sometimes I thought they were making fun of me. So sincere, so genuine and so hearty was Rogers in everything he saw, that no mistake could be made as to the man's utter and complete absence of sense of knowledge of the life of today. Rogers was sent through the open door of the United States marine recruiting station in First avenue Sputh and Main street. Here a stage setting had been provided in the hope that Rogers would be brought back to his former life by a vision of men and scenes with which he was long associated.

which he was long associated.

Old Commands Lose Weight.

Officers, Sergeants and Corporals in Navy attire, guns and swords and all the Naval paraphernalis were provided when Rogers, ignorant of where he was going, entered the room. Rogers paused. His brown knitted, the old expression of stolid, unknowing, of absolute and utter ignorance of where he was or what was expected of him, overspread his countenance.

Every possible fest was tried by the officers and others. A gun was placed in his hands and he was graffly commanded to stand at "attention." Awkwardly be handled the weapon. The order was shouted at him again, but the words were without meaning. Then the officer, Lieutenant H. M. Smith, U. S. M. C., took the weapon. examined it as one inspecting a squad of marines, and flung it back at him in regulation style and manner. But not a muscle moved and Rogers stood looking blankly at his inquisitor.

"Had this man any recollection of even a day or a week on a battieship," explained Lieutenant Smith, "his hands would have rises to receive the rifle, be thorough and severy test that his explained Licutemant Smith, his hands would have rises to receive the rifle. So thorough has every test that his case is simply astonishing. Hogers underwent an ordeal lasting half an hear. He was stripped and measured and a record taken to be forwarded to the Navy Department at Washington, where a probe is underway for his record. Finally, his fingerprints were taken and these will also be forwarded, so complete is the work of tracing Rogers' or Kelly's record.

SMALLPOX CASES ALARM

Dr. White Says State May Be Endangered if Spread Isn't Checked.

Mild smallpox cases have developed throughout the state in numbers sufficient to cause activity on the part of the state health officials to prevent an epidemic. Dr. Caivin S. White, of the State Board of Health, said last night that the situation has not yet reached the danger stage, but that unless measures are taken at once to stop the spread of the disease it is likely to become a monace.

"Several cases have developed at Cor-vallis," said Dr. White, "and a number of cases in Benton County. We found a case on Front street a few days ago, the person afflicted with the dis-case having just came from Corvallis, and being attacked after leaving." case having just came from Corvallis, and being attacked after leaving."

Dr. Ralph Falk, State Health Officer in Idaho, telegraphed Dr. White yeaterday that Dr. J. C. Woodward, Health Officer at Payette, Idaho, had reported to him the case of members of the Crull family, of Malheur County, who, he said, were unquarantined, and were about to move into Idaho.
