

AGGIES PUT OUT; OREGON'S SHARV

Crushing Defeat From Washington Entirely Eliminates O. A. C.

EUGENE BACKERS ARE BLUE

State University Men Have Confidence Sorely Tried by Fluky Victory Over Missionaries—Doble's Men Now Favorites.

Disaster, complete and unmistakable, put a sudden check on the championship aspirations of the Oregon Agricultural College Saturday, and a near-panic shattered the optimistic air which has pervaded the Oregon campus since Coach Warner's men were successful in their clash with Pullman.

The Corvallis Farmers were eliminated from the conference championship by the University of Washington at Seattle, and although this was looked for by impartial observers, the score they were beaten by—24 to 6—came in the nature of a colossal surprise.

Overweighed 17 pounds to the man, Whitman gave Oregon a fierce fight for the game and would have won had not one of its touchdowns been decided by illegal and technicality. Reports of the game indicate that Oregon was decisively whipped, despite the fact that the score was in its favor.

From all sides this game is expected to be the one deciding the conference championship. Oregon has defeated Pullman; Washington has conquered Oregon Agricultural College and Idaho, although Whitman's men were victorious in the game with the latter.

Whitman's schedule includes three games: Idaho at Moscow next Saturday; Pullman at Spokane, November 13, and Oregon at Corvallis, November 18. Should the Midgets come out victorious in the trio, winning by decisive scores, and Oregon win from Washington, a great many would credit the Washington lads with being the best in the territory, despite the fluke victory Oregon gained over them.

Neither the University of Washington nor Oregon has games scheduled for Saturday. The Aggies will play Pullman at Corvallis, and Idaho will enter the Whitman game on Thanksgiving day.

Washington plays Pullman at Seattle, November 13. The Moscow team will wander to Salt Lake for a game with Utah on November 13.

Oregon Agricultural College will wind up the season with a game with Walla Walla, November 18. The Aggies will play Willamette University at Corvallis.

"If Dudley Clarke plays against the sailors as he did against the Multnomah this afternoon, we will have a walkover," commented Captain Finley of the Multnomah team, after Saturday's game between Vancouver and Multnomah.

Clarke's playing certainly was a revelation. His more vim into his work than all the rest of the men on the field combined. His smashes through Multnomah's line were masterly. He went at his clubmates like a wild bull and nothing seemed able to stop him.

CLARK GRIFFITH SAID A WHOLE BOOKFUL

When the Pacific Northwestern League was organized in 1901, all the clubs maintained as small a list of players as possible. That year Portland issued monthly stipends to but three pitchers and one of them was Willis F. Sallsbury, a steady and reliable performer.

23 Leagues Are Overtaken by Financial Disaster in Season Just Over.

PACIFIC COAST IS NOT HIT

Top-Heavy Schedules One Cause of Many Wrecks—Movement Under Way to Have World's Series Over by October 6.

More than one bankroll was badly bent in baseball ventures in the season just ended. Waning interest in the pastime caused many a minor league magnate to hoist the white flag of financial distress, while the long schedule of the National League worked hardships on the club owners of the big circuits, hindered the staging of the world's series, disappointed thousands of red-blooded fans and, as indicated by Eastern gossip, resulted in the framing of an ironclad resolution to the effect that future world's series should be ended on or before October 6.

A review of conditions in the minor leagues reveals a startling list of casualties for the year. In fact, such a number of financial disasters as the minors present probably is unparalleled in baseball history.

Following are a few of the "smashes" showing that Miss Fortune did not confine her activities to any particular season of the country:

Western League—Wichita club transferred to Pueblo; Des Moines club kept on the road for six weeks because of lack of home support.

Southern League—Mobile's closing series transferred because of poor attendance.

Tri-State League—Shifts in schedule because of poor support accorded certain clubs.

New York State League—Shakeups in schedule for same reasons that affected Tri-State.

Central League—Grand Rapids transferred to Newark; South Bend shifted to Grand Rapids to hold territory, and Evansville after becoming a wanderer, placed in South Bend.

Connecticut League—Holyoke and Northampton clubs dropped; Waterbury rescued by new organization to which the club finished with six clubs.

Three-I League—Springfield transferred to Decatur because of lack of patronage.

South Atlantic League—Season split because of poor attendance and Augusta franchise forfeited to league.

Union Association—Missoula club taken over by new organization to avoid wreck and Butte games transferred because of non-support of the team which stood second in the race.

Ohio League—Newark franchise transferred to Piqua.

Minnesota-Wisconsin League—Wausau and Red Wing clubs dropped.

Central Association—Hannibal club still open four, and finally disbanded.

Southwest Texas League—Victoria withdrawn and Corpus Christi dropped; winners of halves did not play off.

Kansas State League—Did not finish season.

Western Canada League—Winnipeg and Brandon withdrew.

K-T-L League—Harrisburg transferred to Jackson; Paducah reorganized.

Mountain States League—Point Pleasant transferred to Middleport.

JOE JACKSON IS SECOND

Tiger Fielder Heads List for Fourth Consecutive Time With .420—Lajoie's Figure .365—Cleveland Third in Team Hitting.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Falling short two points of equalling Lajoie's record of .422, made with a member of the Philadelphia club in 1901, Ty Cobb, of Detroit, topped the 1911 American League batters for the fourth successive year, with an average of .420, according to official averages announced today by President Johnson of the American League.

Second to Cobb is Joe Jackson, of Cleveland, whose average is .408. Jackson took part in one game less, Napoleon Lajoie, of Cleveland, who gave Cobb such a close race for batting honors in 1910, has an average of .365. Last year Cobb finished with an average of .382 and Lajoie with .354.

The world's championship Philadelphia club has seven men in the select 300 class. Collins leading with an average of .367, Lapp hit .355, Baker, home-run hero of the world's series, .334; Murphy, .329; McInnes, .321; Coombs, .319, and Lord, .311.

In club batting, Philadelphia leads with .297 with Detroit second with .291 and Cleveland third with .282. Cobb also is champion at home-run hitting, having eight to his credit, while Jackson, of Cleveland, and Crawford, of Detroit, are tied for second with seven each. Cobb's nearest rival in base stealing was Milan, of Washington. He stole 55, while Cobb stole 53.

LET US NOT FORGET

What Former Portland Diamond Favorites Are Now Doing.

W. H. N. the Pacific Northwestern League was organized in 1901, all the clubs maintained as small a list of players as possible. That year Portland issued monthly stipends to but three pitchers and one of them was Willis F. Sallsbury, a steady and reliable performer.

"Solly" as he was familiarly called by the fans, was not of the sensational order, for he was quiet in his mannerisms and deliberate in his actions, occupying the box. He was not a great curve-ball pitcher, and neither did he possess speed above the ordinary, yet he was a consistent winner, and his main stock in trade was a clear head and fine control.

Both Engle and Glendon were rated as better pitchers, yet Sallsbury finished that season with a winning percentage almost as high.

He performed for Portland but one season, for he was signed by the Philadelphia National League team after having been permitted to become a free agent, but did not last long in the big league. Sallsbury was a native of Iowa and joined one of the Three-Eye League clubs in 1903, playing in that league intermittently until 1906 when he turned up as a member of the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast League.

"Solly" pitched fairly good ball for San Francisco, but Cal Ewing let him go in 1907, and he went to Albany, Ore., where he entered business and followed baseball as a side issue.

Lincoln and Jefferson second eleven will meet on Multnomah Field next Tuesday. Both of these second or third organizations have been doing some good work, which has resulted in strong rivalry between the two teams.

Eddie McAllen, Columbia's crack quarterback has quit school and is playing with the Columbus club eleven, in the same capacity. Eddie will be a valuable addition to the Vanover team which defeated it by the score of 38 to 6. Astoria will play the Hill team here Saturday.

Lincoln second team will play Hillsboro next Saturday at Hillsboro. Hillsboro is supposed to have a strong team and even though somewhat crippled by the defeat administered by Jefferson Saturday it ought to put up a good game.

CHARTER CHANGE URGED

Sheridan Proposes to Revise Document in Near Future.

SHERIDAN, Or., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The feeling that favors a prompt revision to the city charter is growing. At a meeting Wednesday the Commercial Club appointed a committee to confer with the City Council at its next meeting Monday night to formulate definite plans for organizing a charter committee which will have power to submit a revised charter to the voters of Sheridan.

The matter of a new city charter has resolved into a faction fight between the "wet" and "dry" elements and there is no prospect of a settlement until the question is settled. At a recent election a vote on the revision of the city charter was lost, the principal reasons being due to the restrictive liquor clause in the proposed document.

It is probable that the vote for a revised city charter will be polled at the annual city election held in December, as it will take some time to compile a new charter.
