DUBB TAKEN TO ASTORIA.—Emsile Houghton, Chief of Police of Astoria, was in the city yesterday after a man giving his name as Alvert Dubb, who was wanted down the river on a charge of the larceny of a watch. He had been arrested by the Portland police on a charge of vagrancy and the watch, being found on him, led to his identification as the man wanted in Although the parade committee. Although the parade committee, of which George L. Baker is chairman, has not yet determined the basis of the prizes, it is probable that a substantial award will be made to the lodge traveling the greatest aggregate number of miles—determined by the number of members present multiplied by the number of miles traveled. Portland won such a prize at Atlantic City last Summer.

The Tampa Elks will have keen com petition from the far north, as both Alaska lodges will be contestants. Aliska lodges will be contestants.

THAT fascinating romance of chiv-airy and swash-buckling, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," is being revived at the Baker, having an engagement with a matinee yesterday gagement with a matinee yesterday which brought out a packed house. Paul Kester, who dramatized Charles Major's story of Mary Tudor and her merry escapades and unhappy love affairs, has retained in the stage version all of the delightful comedy, tender lines and wholesome heart interest that made the book so popular a few years ago.

Portland has enjoyed this production on more than one occasion; the last time it was made memorable by the delightful artistry of Izetta Jewel with the Baker Stock Company.

Now comes Anna Day, a bonny sweet lass, with charming ways and so much real acting ability that the role seems to live anew. Miss Day is undoubtedly versatile. In her moments of comedy she is quaint, saucy and full of gay abandon, doing it so unaffectedly that her audience laughs with her and enjoys thoroughly the discomfiture her madcap ways produce. is emotional, but not loudly nor in-artistically. So genuine is her grief and terror that it carries the feeling and terror that it carries the teeling across the footlights. Miss Day has played the role of Mary Tudor for three seasons and apparently it has lost none of its charms for her. She goes about her presentation with all the spontaneity and dash that a premier or even a try-out performance would sug-kest. Miss Day has capable support. Reed M. Excellent character work is contributed by Harry Knapp in the role of Francis D'Angouleme, the dauphin. To this role Mr. Knapp lends dignity and impassioned speech, besides a very good stage presence. Milton Bromley as the Duke of Buckingham is convincing, and Robert Sherwood as Caskoden gives a good account of himself. The setting and costuming are quite in keeping with the period of the early fifteenth century and as a whole the production finds favor. Doctors Insist On Operation---Not Necessary

I want to write and tell you what your Swamp-Root has done for me. During the years of 1906 and 1907 I was troubled with what the physicians pronounced "Gravel of the Kidney." I was under the care of one physician for six months and two months with another without securing relief or a cure. The physicians insisted on an operation, claiming that would be the only thing that would help me. My wife being bitterly opposed to an operation, I did not consent, but continued under their treatment for some time. When I was most discouraged believing that my end was near, I heard of

When I was most discouraged believing that my end was near, I heard of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and at once began taking your medicine and noticed almost immediately that the medicine was having its effect. After taking seven bottles of your Swamp-Root I was entirely cured and have not had a sick spell for over a year.

When a person has been flat on his back for six months, suffering untold agony and spent considerable money with physicians without any benefit and then to be cured at an expense of not over $8.00, you can well understand how grateful I feel toward you and your preparation. In appreciation for what your remedy has, done for me, I am willing that you use this letter as a am willing that you use this letter as a testimonial.
