Gipsy Smith Tabernacle was crowded to its limit with people, the White Temple was filled, even to the airles. Grace Methodist Church was in similar condition, every seat in the First bres-byterian Church was occupied, 1900 persons were addressed in an open-air service outside the tabernacie, an equal, number liked the walks and steps outside the tabernacie merely to look in, and the streets from Eighteenth to Elleventh were a dense mass of people last night while the services in the thernacie were in progress.

"If was the greatest meeting I have sed on this tour," declared Gipsy nith "Fifty thousand people were turned away," asserted the police, who kept order. "At a conservative esti-mate 25,000 persons in all heard Gipsy Smith, were at one of the overflow meetings or were turned away," said H. W. Stone.

Crowd Arrives Early.

At the inbernacle every seat was taken by 6 e'clock and it took pelice force to propel the evangelist himself into the building. The meeting began half an hour earlier than the schoduled erowd of 1900 persons in the street on the same subject as that upon which Gipay Smith was preaching, "Zachias." pr. W. R. Hinson took the same topic at the White Temple, while Dr. J. H. Cudlipp and Dr. J. H. Boyd spoke from the same Bible story to their respec-

The meeting at the tabernacle ended with a remarkable demonstration. Glp-sy Smith's appeal for converts had met with a response far greater than that attending any previous meeting. It was impossible to invite them into the inquiry room, as the curtains had been form down to accommodate an addi-tional 1000 persons, so the Gipsy asked that there be general slience while those who had signed a pledge prom-sing to lead "a Christian life," filed 1000 Answer Appeal.

Fully 1600 persons surged against the platform. For many minutes the evangelist leaned over and shook them by the hand while the choir sang or hummed hymn after hymn. Four hymns were gone through from start to finish before more than half had passed the rostrum. At a conserva-tive computation 1800 people reached for the Gipsy's hand clasp, while there were half that number of pledge cards signed and in the hands of ushers. "All I get out of you is the joy of owing I have helped you—it's my ges. It is due to me," said the

'One of the things the devil likes to do with young believers is to keep them from telling anyone about it. Signing these cards is simply crystallising your faith," declared the

The Gipsy scored those who came to see him from curiesity and he asked those who had obtained good from his ministrations to take back seats in the

There was a stir in the meeting as if several persons were about to leave. Striding to the front of the platform with his arms outstretched before him the Gipsy shouted:

"Stand aside you devits dammed and let the angels of God come into the audience. Iad I the power of Elijah I would call in you men and women to him. If Jesus does not go home with you tonight it's because you won't have him."

Following the meeting, Gipsy Smith said that since he left Engiand he had never seen such a remarkable response as that exhibited at the meeting. When the news of the overflow meetings was carried in he announced it to those in the tabernacle.

Applause that was long and oft-repeated was a conspicuous feature of the meeting. The Gipsy made not the slightest attempt to check the enthusislightest attempt to check the enthusiasm. In another manner, also, the meeting was unusual. There was no call to the inquiry room, no procession of weeping, sobbing people. An appeal was made by the evangelist to those desiring his prayers and who wished to profess Christianlity to stand.
There was a large response, and following it the ushers passed to those who had risen a small card printed with a declaration of faith. A large number of these were signed.
Gipsy Smith showed he had not forgotten the Oregon-Washington football game, which he witnessed Saturday.

"I saw the game," he said, "and I am glad I saw it. Washington beat you and I am sorry, for I wanted Oregon to beat. When they took me to the game they asked me which side I was for. I told them Oregon.

Portland's New Theater Will Have First Performance.

BUILDING'S COST $165,000

Handsome Vaudeville House Which Is to Be Thrown Open to Public Tonight Has Seating Capacity of 1400.

With the performance tonight at 7 o'clock in the new Pantages Theater, corner of Seventh and Alder streets, the third fireproof building in Portland for theatrical purposes will be formally opened to the public. The new stucture takes its place as one of the best-appointed theaters in the Pacific Northwest. The property on which the theater stands is a full quarter block. The building alone represents an investment of $165,000.

Every convenience included in such buildings has been arranged by the architects, Emil Schacht & Son, as well "And the king was much moved and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept, and as he went, thus he said: O. my son Absalom. My son, my son Absalom. My son, my son in Portland as it was said of lots of boys in Portland as it was said of Salome in Portland as it was said of Salome in Portland as it was said of Salome in Portland as it was said of John the Baptist in a charger. So the gambling fire got hold of his manhood and its burning up all that is worth having. The boy you taught to play cards the boy you instructed at the card table is burning up his manhood, his love of mother and home, seelf-respect and reverence and all that is worth having, even care for God, and as a number of features not usually provided. The parquet entrances are reached through the marble-lined ves-ibule at the corner of the building on Seventh and Alder streets. The fover and parquet are fitted with carpets and draperies of rich green. The chairs are mahogany upholstered in black leather. The walls are cream tinted with panels in a darker tone.

View Is Unobstructed. There is but one balcony, the gal-lery being separated from that sec-tion by an aisle. From any seat in the house an unobstructed view of the stage may be had. pacity is 1400. The stage measures 75 by 85 feet. The proscenium arch is 62 feet in height. Fourteen boxes are ranged on either side of the stage opening.

An unusual feature is the lounging room on the mezzanine floor beneath the slope of the balcony. The senter space has been partitioned off for a writing room for women. From one of the passages leading from the balcony exit the men's smoking-room is reached. This is a commodious room extending the full length of the building on Seventh street. The large dressing-rooms, 16 in number, are located under the stage and are fitted with every convenience. Two bathrooms are lo-cated at each end of the dressing-room section. Two heating plants, a patent ventilating system and a complete lighting system have been installed. The building is fireproof throughout.

Mrs. Pantages to Appear At the formal opening tonight Alexander Pantages, of Seattle, owner of the building, and Mrs. Pantages, will occupy a box, as will also Mayor Rush-light, Manager J. A. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schacht, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schacht, Mr. and Mrs. Raiph Hoyt. FOR A SICK, SOUR, BILIOUS STOMACH, GAS OR INDIGESTION SURELY TAKE CASCARETS

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the etomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and regulate the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire
