PISGAH MISSION STONED

Boys Bombard Building and Break

Windows at Lents.

As a further evidence of disapproval of the location at Lents of the Pisgah

Mission, a mob of boys bombarded the building early yesterday morning, breaking the glass in all the windows. The 75 occupants of the mission had a narrow escape from injury. The residents of Lents have objected to the mission ever since its removal to that place from its quarters at East Tenth and Burnside streets. They have already circulated a petition, which is now before the County Court, asking that the institution be moved. When Sheriff Stevens went to their rescue in response to a telephone measage, he found that members of the mission to the number of 75 who make their home in the building, as a result of the bombardment, were sleeping on the floor.

PORTLAND MAN FOUNDER OF ABSTINENCE ORDER.

Good Templars Organized in New York in 1851-Funeral Services Are Held at Crematorium.

The funeral services for Dr. Jesse S. Walter, 90 years old and one of the founders of the Independent Order of Good Templars, who died Saturday at his home, 1250 East Twelfth atreet North, were conducted yesterday afternoon in the Portland crematorium in the presence of relatives and friends. Dr. Walter had been a resident of Oregon for 25 years and had retired from active business several years ago. He was a native of New York State.

Becoming interested in the prohibition movement in 1851, he studied out the plan for the Good Templars Order, and with two others formed the society. He became the first grand secre-tary and had much to do with getting the order introduced in New York and other states. It expanded until it attained a membership of 100,000 and was introduced into England in 1868.

His son, Harley L. Walter, who is in the operating department of the Southern Facilic Company, says that Dr. Walter was the real founder of the Good Templars Order.
Dr. Walter was a member of Aurora Lodge, No. 486, L.O. O. F., of Roches-ter, N. Y., and the services at the Port-land crematorium was conducted by the Portland relief committee of the Oddfellows order. Dr. Walter is survived by a widow and three children: Hariey L. Walter, Mrs. Van Tassell, of St. Helens, and Miss Mabel Walter, of giving Day, will be passed in Portland and Oregon, and already hundreds of Portland folk have determined just how they will put in the holiday.

It may start with church in the norning or a hike; then, of course, will ome dinner — that is the one indispensable feature - and already thousands of plump turkeys, averaging ten pounds in weight, are herded up preparatory to their massacre to make an American holiday. Varied Amusements Offered,

Portland would not be Portland if there were not provided numbers of means by which the afternoon and evening hours might be passed pleas-antly. Theaters, moving-picture shows, the Thanksgiving game and walks in the bracing air are only a few of the means at the disposal of Mr. and Mrs. Portland Citizen and their family. But, as the railroad and steamboat people declare, not everyone will stay in Portland by any means. On the other hand, fully as many as leave will be replaced by those who come in from the country, from the schools and other institutions for at least the one day in the metropolis

Wilkins, of Aldrich, Minnesota, was notified of the accident, but not of the death, and set out at once for Walla Walla. When he arrived there Saturday he found that his son was dead and that the body had been sent here for burial. He telegraphed to Portland to learn if he was too late for the funeral and was instructed to come at once. While buying his ticket at Walla Walla he received a telegram telling him that his wife, who had heard after he left that her son was dead, had died on receiving the news. Mr. Wilkins telegraphed here, relating the circumstances, and took the first train for his home. The funeral of Thomas Wilkins was held yesterday afternoon. When You Make Your Will
