

THANKSGIVING DAY TO TEEM WITH JOY

Varied Programme Offered for Enjoyment of All in Popular Holiday.

BIG FEASTS PREPARED

Clubs and Hotels Offer Sumptuous Repasts Fit to Tickle Palates of Kings - Dining - Car Menus Also Bounteous.

PROGRAMME OF EVENTS FOR THANKSGIVING DAY.

- 10 A. M. - Hunt Club paper chess. 10:30 A. M. - Union services in representative churches. 10:30 A. M. - Association football game. 1:00 P. M. - Golf contest at Waverly Golf Links. 2:15 P. M. - Lambert Grand Opera Company in "Lulu" at the Hotel. 2:30 P. M. - Football at Multnomah. 4:00 P. M. - Madam Butterfly at the Hotel.

The Portland resident will not be able to complain of lack of variety this morning as he glances at the calendar for the day's events. He may start a bare hour or so after old Sol has risen above the horizon and yet find that there is much he will have to overlook at that hour if he has pressed to know just at what hour of the day he is to eat his Thanksgiving day dinner.

With the stores all closed and business houses generally observing the prohibition of the President, the turkeys all ready for the oven, Thanksgiving day promises to see the biggest assemblage of Portland residents at their homes that the city has yet seen. The day will be characterized by church services, by grand opera, by sports. It will be hard to find the man or woman whose diverse tastes cannot be suited. Those who are in the city on a visit or those who have not homes of their own will find that thorough preparations have been made to satisfy their desires.

Royal Feasts Prepared. The leading clubs and hotels will offer feasts as epicureans as any could possibly desire. Institutions have made arrangements to supply their inmates with a dinner that shall make the day a happy memory, while the jells will be merely jells in name.

In every Portland club the day will commence with a buffet lunch and a game of cards. The menus on dining cars on the leading railroads will be such as to make the night an exciting travel. This is the satisfying fare that passengers on the O.-W. R. & N. will have set before them:

- Olive, Oyster, Celery, in Branch Consomme with Poached Egg in Baked Salmon, a la Italienne. Sweetbread Croquette, Creamed French Peas. Roast Turkey, Cranberry Sauce. Stuffed Roasting Pig with Chestnuts. Plum Pudding, Hard and Brandy Sauce. Mince Pie. Hot Cheese. Fresh Fruit. Assorted Cakes. Cheese. Cold Ham.

Commercial Club in Lead. The Commercial Club has arranged a repast that can hardly be exceeded in the city. Some attention is given in the main article on the bill of fare is drawn by the great embossed turkey on the menu card that will loom before the diner. The Commercial Club's menu for today follows:

- Eastern Oysters of Half Shell. Cream of Turneps and Quenelles. Consomme Royal. Almonds. Baked Salmon, Monte Carlo. Pommes Nioisette. Lamb Chops, served with Haricots Verts. Boudinotie Fench. Roast Prime Ribs of Choice Beef, York-shire Pudding. Sweet Potatoes, Surprize. Young Turkey with Chestnut Dressing. Cabbage Sauce. Asparagus Tips, Hollandaise. Artichokes, Vinaigrette. Plum Pudding, Hard and Brandy Sauce. Hot Mince Pie. French Nesselrode Syrup. Charlotte Russe. Assorted Fancy Cakes. Figs. Dessert. Cheese. Bents Wafers. Cafe Noir.

At the University Club Steward Wildersheim promises that members who dine at the club will remember the day. Here is the menu he has arranged for the evening meal:

- Ripe Olive. Celery on Branches. Oyster Cocktail. Green Peas. Fresh Lobster on Shell. Roast Young Turkey Stuffed, Cranberry Sauce. Combination Salad. English Plum Pudding, Hard Sauce and Brandy Sauce. Toasted Crackers. Cheese. Cafe Noir.

Hotel Diners Sumptuous. Particularly elaborate are the arrangements that have been made by the leading hotels of the city, all of which have made special arrangements to mark the day. Here is one hotel menu:

- Aviation Cocktail. Grape Fruit a la Reine. Blue Point Oysters on the Deep Shell. Mock Turkey. Chicken Consomme. Ripe Olive. Almonds. Sautéed Peas. Fillet of Black Bass. Maitre D'Hotel Butter. Escalope of Chicken. Salmon. Hollandaise. Pommes Goutonneuses. Sliced Cucumbers. Breast of Young Lamb. Truffles on Supreme. Calf Sweetbread Braised with French Mushrooms. Canned Fruits. Roast Turkey, Chestnut Dressing, Cranberry Sauce. Prime Roast of Beef au Jus. Young Pig with Lady Apples. French Fried Duck, Currant Jelly. Fresh Fish. French String Beans. Brown Sweet Potatoes. Asparagus and Butter. Mashed Potatoes. Creamed Potatoes. Chicken Salad, en Pimentons. Fruit Salad, en Belgique. English Plum Pudding, Hard and Brandy. Extra Mince Pie, Hot or Cold. Pumpkin Pie. Green Apple Pie. Tutti Fruiti Ice Cream. Assorted French Fruit. Assorted French Pastry. Roquefort Cheese. Camembert Cheese. American Cream Cheese. Small Black Coffee.

Another hotel will serve the following: Toks points on half shell. Cream of chicken Potatoes. Celery on branch. Sautéed Almonds. Consomme a la Reine. Queen Omelette. Botted Chicken. Hollandaise sauce. Potato Fondante. Sweetbread on Calfste a la Delmonaco.

BURNS BOCKED AS SHORT LINE'S END

Eastern Oregon Terminus for Road Building from Vale Is Selected.

HARRIMAN PLAN REVEALED

Extension to Bend Easy-Road Likely to Be Made Main Line From Portland to East-Work This Winter Not to Be Great.

Burns will be the Western terminus of the extension of the road that the Oregon Short Line now is building from Vale toward the Malheur country, if the plans being made by the Harriman system are carried into effect.

Actual construction work west of Vale already has been started, but present plans do not contemplate extensive work this winter. When Judge Robert R. Lovett, head of the Harriman system, was in Portland two weeks ago he declared that engineers had been ordered to make the final surveys west of Vale and that construction of the road would be undertaken soon. He added, however, that the Western terminus had not been selected and that no railroad building would be done at that time.

While Bend is the terminus of an east and west line connecting with the Oregon Short Line at Vale, as it would connect there with the O.-W. R. & N. Company's Deschutes line, it is believed that the Harriman interests do not contemplate going farther than Burns at this time. In fact, an official announcement that the Burns line has been authorized is expected soon after the first of the year.

More than 100 civil engineers have gone into the field to make preliminary surveys have already been made, it is believed, that through the completion of their reports on the territory between Vale and Burns before the first of the year.

The Harriman vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, has charge of construction work on the road, but it is believed that within the next few months a contract will be let for a considerable portion of the line between Vale and Burns.

Construction of 140 miles of road west of Vale has been authorized, it is reported.

Rail Chiefs Visit Vale. The zeal that the Harriman interests are displaying in Eastern Oregon is illustrated by the fact that both A. L. Mohler, president of the Harriman system, and Judge Lovett considered it necessary to visit Vale and look over the situation there on their recent trip through the Northwest.

The fact that the double-tracking policy recently outlined by the Union Pacific, Short Line and O.-W. R. & N. systems, does not provide for much immediate work east of the North-South connection is taken to indicate that the future use of the Vale-Bend road as the main line of the Harriman system is proposed.

While it is believed that the road will be built as far westward from Vale as Burns within the next year or two, the project between Burns and Bend has not developed to definite stage. However, while work is going on east of Burns, it is believed that the preliminaries on that end of the line between Burns and Bend can be arranged.

Following the visit of Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Harriman system, authority was given the Oregon Short Line officials to begin construction of the Oregon Eastern Railway from Vale, Malheur County, westerly to a point called Dog Mountain, near Harney Lake, in Harney County, Oregon, a distance of 140 miles. This line will constitute the first section of a new transcontinental route through Central Oregon, and will involve heavy expenditure. The building will be under the direction of W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager, and Carl Stradley, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line. Field engineering parties are now in the field running the final lines and preparing for construction.

Mr. Stradley spent last week in Eastern Oregon, looking over the situation from the terminus of the Nyssa-Vale branch of the Oregon Short Line, which he believed the Utah Construction Company will bid on the work. The new line will tap an undeveloped section of Oregon long desired by both the Harriman and Hill interests.

F. H. Knickerbocker, assistant to W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, said tonight that the work immediately contemplated was merely sufficient to hold the right-of-way through one of the main passes on the proposed line. He said this work would not be extensive, and that no one at this time could forecast what would be done in the Spring. There was a possibility that the extension would be continued at that time, he said, but he regarded the possibility as somewhat remote.

Game Law Violators Fined. Three convictions for violation of the state game laws were received by the Fish and Game Commission yesterday from deputy wardens at various points. David Pence, arrested at his home near

BURNS BOCKED AS SHORT LINE'S END

Eastern Oregon Terminus for Road Building from Vale Is Selected.

HARRIMAN PLAN REVEALED

Extension to Bend Easy-Road Likely to Be Made Main Line From Portland to East-Work This Winter Not to Be Great.

Burns will be the Western terminus of the extension of the road that the Oregon Short Line now is building from Vale toward the Malheur country, if the plans being made by the Harriman system are carried into effect.

Actual construction work west of Vale already has been started, but present plans do not contemplate extensive work this winter. When Judge Robert R. Lovett, head of the Harriman system, was in Portland two weeks ago he declared that engineers had been ordered to make the final surveys west of Vale and that construction of the road would be undertaken soon. He added, however, that the Western terminus had not been selected and that no railroad building would be done at that time.

While Bend is the terminus of an east and west line connecting with the Oregon Short Line at Vale, as it would connect there with the O.-W. R. & N. Company's Deschutes line, it is believed that the Harriman interests do not contemplate going farther than Burns at this time. In fact, an official announcement that the Burns line has been authorized is expected soon after the first of the year.

More than 100 civil engineers have gone into the field to make preliminary surveys have already been made, it is believed, that through the completion of their reports on the territory between Vale and Burns before the first of the year.

The Harriman vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, has charge of construction work on the road, but it is believed that within the next few months a contract will be let for a considerable portion of the line between Vale and Burns.

Construction of 140 miles of road west of Vale has been authorized, it is reported.

Rail Chiefs Visit Vale. The zeal that the Harriman interests are displaying in Eastern Oregon is illustrated by the fact that both A. L. Mohler, president of the Harriman system, and Judge Lovett considered it necessary to visit Vale and look over the situation there on their recent trip through the Northwest.

The fact that the double-tracking policy recently outlined by the Union Pacific, Short Line and O.-W. R. & N. systems, does not provide for much immediate work east of the North-South connection is taken to indicate that the future use of the Vale-Bend road as the main line of the Harriman system is proposed.

While it is believed that the road will be built as far westward from Vale as Burns within the next year or two, the project between Burns and Bend has not developed to definite stage. However, while work is going on east of Burns, it is believed that the preliminaries on that end of the line between Burns and Bend can be arranged.

Following the visit of Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Harriman system, authority was given the Oregon Short Line officials to begin construction of the Oregon Eastern Railway from Vale, Malheur County, westerly to a point called Dog Mountain, near Harney Lake, in Harney County, Oregon, a distance of 140 miles. This line will constitute the first section of a new transcontinental route through Central Oregon, and will involve heavy expenditure. The building will be under the direction of W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager, and Carl Stradley, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line. Field engineering parties are now in the field running the final lines and preparing for construction.

Mr. Stradley spent last week in Eastern Oregon, looking over the situation from the terminus of the Nyssa-Vale branch of the Oregon Short Line, which he believed the Utah Construction Company will bid on the work. The new line will tap an undeveloped section of Oregon long desired by both the Harriman and Hill interests.

F. H. Knickerbocker, assistant to W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, said tonight that the work immediately contemplated was merely sufficient to hold the right-of-way through one of the main passes on the proposed line. He said this work would not be extensive, and that no one at this time could forecast what would be done in the Spring. There was a possibility that the extension would be continued at that time, he said, but he regarded the possibility as somewhat remote.

Game Law Violators Fined. Three convictions for violation of the state game laws were received by the Fish and Game Commission yesterday from deputy wardens at various points. David Pence, arrested at his home near

BURNS BOCKED AS SHORT LINE'S END

Eastern Oregon Terminus for Road Building from Vale Is Selected.

HARRIMAN PLAN REVEALED

Extension to Bend Easy-Road Likely to Be Made Main Line From Portland to East-Work This Winter Not to Be Great.

Burns will be the Western terminus of the extension of the road that the Oregon Short Line now is building from Vale toward the Malheur country, if the plans being made by the Harriman system are carried into effect.

Actual construction work west of Vale already has been started, but present plans do not contemplate extensive work this winter. When Judge Robert R. Lovett, head of the Harriman system, was in Portland two weeks ago he declared that engineers had been ordered to make the final surveys west of Vale and that construction of the road would be undertaken soon. He added, however, that the Western terminus had not been selected and that no railroad building would be done at that time.

While Bend is the terminus of an east and west line connecting with the Oregon Short Line at Vale, as it would connect there with the O.-W. R. & N. Company's Deschutes line, it is believed that the Harriman interests do not contemplate going farther than Burns at this time. In fact, an official announcement that the Burns line has been authorized is expected soon after the first of the year.

More than 100 civil engineers have gone into the field to make preliminary surveys have already been made, it is believed, that through the completion of their reports on the territory between Vale and Burns before the first of the year.

The Harriman vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, has charge of construction work on the road, but it is believed that within the next few months a contract will be let for a considerable portion of the line between Vale and Burns.

Construction of 140 miles of road west of Vale has been authorized, it is reported.

Rail Chiefs Visit Vale. The zeal that the Harriman interests are displaying in Eastern Oregon is illustrated by the fact that both A. L. Mohler, president of the Harriman system, and Judge Lovett considered it necessary to visit Vale and look over the situation there on their recent trip through the Northwest.

The fact that the double-tracking policy recently outlined by the Union Pacific, Short Line and O.-W. R. & N. systems, does not provide for much immediate work east of the North-South connection is taken to indicate that the future use of the Vale-Bend road as the main line of the Harriman system is proposed.

While it is believed that the road will be built as far westward from Vale as Burns within the next year or two, the project between Burns and Bend has not developed to definite stage. However, while work is going on east of Burns, it is believed that the preliminaries on that end of the line between Burns and Bend can be arranged.

Following the visit of Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Harriman system, authority was given the Oregon Short Line officials to begin construction of the Oregon Eastern Railway from Vale, Malheur County, westerly to a point called Dog Mountain, near Harney Lake, in Harney County, Oregon, a distance of 140 miles. This line will constitute the first section of a new transcontinental route through Central Oregon, and will involve heavy expenditure. The building will be under the direction of W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager, and Carl Stradley, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line. Field engineering parties are now in the field running the final lines and preparing for construction.

Mr. Stradley spent last week in Eastern Oregon, looking over the situation from the terminus of the Nyssa-Vale branch of the Oregon Short Line, which he believed the Utah Construction Company will bid on the work. The new line will tap an undeveloped section of Oregon long desired by both the Harriman and Hill interests.

F. H. Knickerbocker, assistant to W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, said tonight that the work immediately contemplated was merely sufficient to hold the right-of-way through one of the main passes on the proposed line. He said this work would not be extensive, and that no one at this time could forecast what would be done in the Spring. There was a possibility that the extension would be continued at that time, he said, but he regarded the possibility as somewhat remote.

Game Law Violators Fined. Three convictions for violation of the state game laws were received by the Fish and Game Commission yesterday from deputy wardens at various points. David Pence, arrested at his home near

BURNS BOCKED AS SHORT LINE'S END

Eastern Oregon Terminus for Road Building from Vale Is Selected.

HARRIMAN PLAN REVEALED

Extension to Bend Easy-Road Likely to Be Made Main Line From Portland to East-Work This Winter Not to Be Great.

Burns will be the Western terminus of the extension of the road that the Oregon Short Line now is building from Vale toward the Malheur country, if the plans being made by the Harriman system are carried into effect.

Actual construction work west of Vale already has been started, but present plans do not contemplate extensive work this winter. When Judge Robert R. Lovett, head of the Harriman system, was in Portland two weeks ago he declared that engineers had been ordered to make the final surveys west of Vale and that construction of the road would be undertaken soon. He added, however, that the Western terminus had not been selected and that no railroad building would be done at that time.

While Bend is the terminus of an east and west line connecting with the Oregon Short Line at Vale, as it would connect there with the O.-W. R. & N. Company's Deschutes line, it is believed that the Harriman interests do not contemplate going farther than Burns at this time. In fact, an official announcement that the Burns line has been authorized is expected soon after the first of the year.

More than 100 civil engineers have gone into the field to make preliminary surveys have already been made, it is believed, that through the completion of their reports on the territory between Vale and Burns before the first of the year.

The Harriman vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, has charge of construction work on the road, but it is believed that within the next few months a contract will be let for a considerable portion of the line between Vale and Burns.

Construction of 140 miles of road west of Vale has been authorized, it is reported.

Rail Chiefs Visit Vale. The zeal that the Harriman interests are displaying in Eastern Oregon is illustrated by the fact that both A. L. Mohler, president of the Harriman system, and Judge Lovett considered it necessary to visit Vale and look over the situation there on their recent trip through the Northwest.

The fact that the double-tracking policy recently outlined by the Union Pacific, Short Line and O.-W. R. & N. systems, does not provide for much immediate work east of the North-South connection is taken to indicate that the future use of the Vale-Bend road as the main line of the Harriman system is proposed.

While it is believed that the road will be built as far westward from Vale as Burns within the next year or two, the project between Burns and Bend has not developed to definite stage. However, while work is going on east of Burns, it is believed that the preliminaries on that end of the line between Burns and Bend can be arranged.

Following the visit of Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Harriman system, authority was given the Oregon Short Line officials to begin construction of the Oregon Eastern Railway from Vale, Malheur County, westerly to a point called Dog Mountain, near Harney Lake, in Harney County, Oregon, a distance of 140 miles. This line will constitute the first section of a new transcontinental route through Central Oregon, and will involve heavy expenditure. The building will be under the direction of W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager, and Carl Stradley, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line. Field engineering parties are now in the field running the final lines and preparing for construction.

Mr. Stradley spent last week in Eastern Oregon, looking over the situation from the terminus of the Nyssa-Vale branch of the Oregon Short Line, which he believed the Utah Construction Company will bid on the work. The new line will tap an undeveloped section of Oregon long desired by both the Harriman and Hill interests.

F. H. Knickerbocker, assistant to W. H. Bancroft, vice-president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, said tonight that the work immediately contemplated was merely sufficient to hold the right-of-way through one of the main passes on the proposed line. He said this work would not be extensive, and that no one at this time could forecast what would be done in the Spring. There was a possibility that the extension would be continued at that time, he said, but he regarded the possibility as somewhat remote.

Game Law Violators Fined. Three convictions for violation of the state game laws were received by the Fish and Game Commission yesterday from deputy wardens at various points. David Pence, arrested at his home near

Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tooth Powder is used by people of refinement and endorsed by the Dental Profession in operation but it did not prove successful. He and Isherwood invested McMinnville capital in a condensed milk factory, capitalizing for $100,000. Smith put up about $13,000 cash to start the factory and about $15,000 was contributed by McMinnville residents. Subsequently Smith got back the money he advanced, with interest. He and Isherwood took $71,000 worth of stock in exchange for their services and the "cream aid" receipt. Cream-aid is a substance which, when added to milk, is supposed to give it the consistency and quality of cream. The condensed milk business has proved successful. Factories are in operation at McMinnville and Washougal, Wash. "There is right and justice on both sides of this question," said Judge McGinn. "A decree would certainly lead to one side or the other getting the advantage and the losing faction would not thereafter have a 'lock-in'."

GOLD HILL, Or., Nov. 29.-(Special.)—The new county bridge across Rogue River at this place will be finished and ready for traffic by December 1. It is a through-span truss, built for very heavy traffic. The proposed electric line from Grants Pass to Ashland may run across it.

Sam Krasner, a North End saloon-keeper, who recently escaped for a month, was indicted yesterday for a month, for two indictments, one charging him with placing his wife in a disorderly house and the other with accepting the earnings of a fallen woman, was fined $100 in the Municipal Court yesterday for permitting gambling in his place. Krasner was arrested November 15 by Patrolman Hirsch. The case has been postponed twice, and yesterday, when Krasner's attorney, John D. Mann, asked for another postponement, it was denied. Mann then demanded a jury trial for his client, and was told that it was not customary to grant a jury trial under the circumstances, but that it would not be denied if he insisted.

When the time set for the trial came Mann pleaded guilty for his client and Krasner was fined $100. Mann then gave notice of appeal. An appeal cannot be taken in cases where a plea of guilty is made, but Judge Tawell consented to change the plea to permit the appeal.

Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday morning vacated his capacity as judge and assumed the role of mutual friend of parties who were warring in his court for the control of the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company. He told them to get together and settle their differences like business men, expressing himself as satisfied that if he ruled in favor of one clique the other would be "frozen out." The litigants will come in Tuesday with their counter proposals in writing and the judge declares he will accept and enforce the one that is in the event neither one seems reasonable he will draft the terms of a settlement himself.

Three suits were involved in the controversy. They were Felix W. Isherwood against the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company; W. T. Macey and 30 others, all residents in or about McMinnville, against Felix W. Isherwood, and Ferdinand Joplin against W. W. Nunally, Macey was seeking to cancel stock held by Isherwood and J. Woods Smith, founders of the factory, on the ground that it had been allotted in payment for a receipt of a substance known as "cream aid" which proved worthless. Mr. Smith had a "cream aid" factorial in operation but it did not prove successful. He and Isherwood invested McMinnville capital in a condensed milk factory, capitalizing for $100,000. Smith put up about $13,000 cash to start the factory and about $15,000 was contributed by McMinnville residents. Subsequently Smith got back the money he advanced, with interest. He and Isherwood took $71,000 worth of stock in exchange for their services and the "cream aid" receipt. Cream-aid is a substance which, when added to milk, is supposed to give it the consistency and quality of cream. The condensed milk business has proved successful. Factories are in operation at McMinnville and Washougal, Wash. "There is right and justice on both sides of this question," said Judge McGinn. "A decree would certainly lead to one side or the other getting the advantage and the losing faction would not thereafter have a 'lock-in'."

GOLD HILL, Or., Nov. 29.-(Special.)—The new county bridge across Rogue River at this place will be finished and ready for traffic by December 1. It is a through-span truss, built for very heavy traffic. The proposed electric line from Grants Pass to Ashland may run across it.

Sam Krasner, a North End saloon-keeper, who recently escaped for a month, was indicted yesterday for a month, for two indictments, one charging him with placing his wife in a disorderly house and the other with accepting the earnings of a fallen woman, was fined $100 in the Municipal Court yesterday for permitting gambling in his place. Krasner was arrested November 15 by Patrolman Hirsch. The case has been postponed twice, and yesterday, when Krasner's attorney, John D. Mann, asked for another postponement, it was denied. Mann then demanded a jury trial for his client, and was told that it was not customary to grant a jury trial under the circumstances, but that it would not be denied if he insisted.

When the time set for the trial came Mann pleaded guilty for his client and Krasner was fined $100. Mann then gave notice of appeal. An appeal cannot be taken in cases where a plea of guilty is made, but Judge Tawell consented to change the plea to permit the appeal.

Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday morning vacated his capacity as judge and assumed the role of mutual friend of parties who were warring in his court for the control of the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company. He told them to get together and settle their differences like business men, expressing himself as satisfied that if he ruled in favor of one clique the other would be "frozen out." The litigants will come in Tuesday with their counter proposals in writing and the judge declares he will accept and enforce the one that is in the event neither one seems reasonable he will draft the terms of a settlement himself.

Three suits were involved in the controversy. They were Felix W. Isherwood against the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company; W. T. Macey and 30 others, all residents in or about McMinnville, against Felix W. Isherwood, and Ferdinand Joplin against W. W. Nunally, Macey was seeking to cancel stock held by Isherwood and J. Woods Smith, founders of the factory, on the ground that it had been allotted in payment for a receipt of a substance known as "cream aid" which proved worthless. Mr. Smith had a "cream aid" factorial in operation but it did not prove successful. He and Isherwood invested McMinnville capital in a condensed milk factory, capitalizing for $100,000. Smith put up about $13,000 cash to start the factory and about $15,000 was contributed by McMinnville residents. Subsequently Smith got back the money he advanced, with interest. He and Isherwood took $71,000 worth of stock in exchange for their services and the "cream aid" receipt. Cream-aid is a substance which, when added to milk, is supposed to give it the consistency and quality of cream. The condensed milk business has proved successful. Factories are in operation at McMinnville and Washougal, Wash. "There is right and justice on both sides of this question," said Judge McGinn. "A decree would certainly lead to one side or the other getting the advantage and the losing faction would not thereafter have a 'lock-in'."

GOLD HILL, Or., Nov. 29.-(Special.)—The new county bridge across Rogue River at this place will be finished and ready for traffic by December 1. It is a through-span truss, built for very heavy traffic. The proposed electric line from Grants Pass to Ashland may run across it.

Sam Krasner, a North End saloon-keeper, who recently escaped for a month, was indicted yesterday for a month, for two indictments, one charging him with placing his wife in a disorderly house and the other with accepting the earnings of a fallen woman, was fined $100 in the Municipal Court yesterday for permitting gambling in his place. Krasner was arrested November 15 by Patrolman Hirsch. The case has been postponed twice, and yesterday, when Krasner's attorney, John D. Mann, asked for another postponement, it was denied. Mann then demanded a jury trial for his client, and was told that it was not customary to grant a jury trial under the circumstances, but that it would not be denied if he insisted.

When the time set for the trial came Mann pleaded guilty for his client and Krasner was fined $100. Mann then gave notice of appeal. An appeal cannot be taken in cases where a plea of guilty is made, but Judge Tawell consented to change the plea to permit the appeal.

Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday morning vacated his capacity as judge and assumed the role of mutual friend of parties who were warring in his court for the control of the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company. He told them to get together and settle their differences like business men, expressing himself as satisfied that if he ruled in favor of one clique the other would be "frozen out." The litigants will come in Tuesday with their counter proposals in writing and the judge declares he will accept and enforce the one that is in the event neither one seems reasonable he will draft the terms of a settlement himself.

Three suits were involved in the controversy. They were Felix W. Isherwood against the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company; W. T. Macey and 30 others, all residents in or about McMinnville, against Felix W. Isherwood, and Ferdinand Joplin against W. W. Nunally, Macey was seeking to cancel stock held by Isherwood and J. Woods Smith, founders of the factory, on the ground that it had been allotted in payment for a receipt of a substance known as "cream aid" which proved worthless. Mr. Smith had a "cream aid" factorial in operation but it did not prove successful. He and Isherwood invested McMinnville capital in a condensed milk factory, capitalizing for $100,000. Smith put up about $13,000 cash to start the factory and about $15,000 was contributed by McMinnville residents. Subsequently Smith got back the money he advanced, with interest. He and Isherwood took $71,000 worth of stock in exchange for their services and the "cream aid" receipt. Cream-aid is a substance which, when added to milk, is supposed to give it the consistency and quality of cream. The condensed milk business has proved successful. Factories are in operation at McMinnville and Washougal, Wash. "There is right and justice on both sides of this question," said Judge McGinn. "A decree would certainly lead to one side or the other getting the advantage and the losing faction would not thereafter have a 'lock-in'."

GOLD HILL, Or., Nov. 29.-(Special.)—The new county bridge across Rogue River at this place will be finished and ready for traffic by December 1. It is a through-span truss, built for very heavy traffic. The proposed electric line from Grants Pass to Ashland may run across it.

Sam Krasner, a North End saloon-keeper, who recently escaped for a month, was indicted yesterday for a month, for two indictments, one charging him with placing his wife in a disorderly house and the other with accepting the earnings of a fallen woman, was fined $100 in the Municipal Court yesterday for permitting gambling in his place. Krasner was arrested November 15 by Patrolman Hirsch. The case has been postponed twice, and yesterday, when Krasner's attorney, John D. Mann, asked for another postponement, it was denied. Mann then demanded a jury trial for his client, and was told that it was not customary to grant a jury trial under the circumstances, but that it would not be denied if he insisted.

When the time set for the trial came Mann pleaded guilty for his client and Krasner was fined $100. Mann then gave notice of appeal. An appeal cannot be taken in cases where a plea of guilty is made, but Judge Tawell consented to change the plea to permit the appeal.

Circuit Judge McGinn yesterday morning vacated his capacity as judge and assumed the role of mutual friend of parties who were warring in his court for the control of the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company. He told them to get together and settle their differences like business men, expressing himself as satisfied that if he ruled in favor of one clique the other would be "frozen out." The litigants will come in Tuesday with their counter proposals in writing and the judge declares he will accept and enforce the one that is in the event neither one seems reasonable he will draft the terms of a settlement himself.

Three suits were involved in the controversy. They were Felix W. Isherwood against the Willamette Valley Condensed Milk Company; W. T. Macey and 30 others, all residents in or about McMinnville, against Felix W. Isherwood, and Ferdinand Joplin against W. W. Nunally, Macey was seeking to cancel stock held by Isherwood and J. Woods Smith, founders of the factory, on the ground that it had been allotted in payment for a receipt of a substance known as "cream aid" which proved worthless. Mr. Smith had a "cream aid" fac-

DEATH PLANS WRITTEN

Letters of J. H. Lutes, Who Shot Two and Killed Self, Are Found.

The attempt Tuesday night of J. H. Lutes to kill his wife and J. H. Maffey, his former business partner in

How to Get Rid of Pimples, Quick

Stuart's Calcium Wafers Act Quickly On Every Variety of Skin Trouble.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Simply Grand for Pimples and All Skin Eruptions. It is easy to understand why. Creams and lotions only get at the surface, but Stuart's Calcium Wafers get into the blood, attacking the impurities that cause skin diseases. You'll never have a good complexion without pure blood.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers contain no poisonous drugs of any kind. They are perfectly harmless and can be taken with absolute freedom. But they work almost like magic. Calcium Sulphide, their principal ingredient, is the greatest blood-cleanser known to science.