GREAT POWER IS MISUSED

Steel Executive, However, Says Unrestricted Competition Would Result in Crushing of Small Industries

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Elbert H. Gary, executive head of the United States Steel Corporation, made a plea for "big business" today before the for "big business" today before the Senate committee on Interstate Com-merce, which is searching for a solu-tion of the present trust problem in the United States.

Big corporations were essential to the development of the country and inc maintenance of business prosperity, he said. To prevent their misusing the enermous power that came with wealth and control of industrial agen-cies, he thought the Government should take control of them, through a Federal iteense system and a corporation com-license system and a corporation com-license system and a corporation com-tion their affaira. Add to this a clear we as to what could and what could not be done; publicity of all the affairs of corporations, and the elimination of Presidential and other political issues from the business world, and the "unrest" that has spread over the United States will largely disappear, said Mr.

Elections Disturb Business The coming elections are already dis-turbing business, he added. He said members of the courts ought to be appointed for life; that the President ought to be elected for eight years without the privilege of re-election.

Judge Gary recommended the sanction of certain acts which the commission of the provider not to be "re-tion of certain acts which the commission might consider not to be "restraint of trade."

-How would the commission know whether an agreement among steel men to fix the price of rails at $28 was restraint of trade." asked Senator Commission.

Cummins.
"It would soon become competent to know that," returned Judga Gary, "as the Interstate Commerce Commission has become competent to decide whether rates are just and reasonable."

He declared unrestricted competition meant the ruin of the small individual or concern, and the gradual strengthening of National monopoly of the larger. As opposed to this, he urged that the Government recognize the need of impartial agreements between corpora-tions and individuals, so that an actual competition might still be maintained would be fair and free to all in-

Is there any particular thing now clearly forbidden by the Sherman law that you think ought to be permitted?" seked Senator Cummins.

Dinners Not to Fix Prices. The famous "Gary dinner," where steel men gathered to discuss their affairs, was not to fix prices, but to dis-close their business conditions to one another, he said.

Every gentleman there, if he was gentleman, could go away with a full knowledge of his competitor's analis and could shape his business so as not to ruin his competitor." said Mr. Gary.

He added that he had not dared even to hold these conferences lately: that there was no means of knowing exactly what constituted a violation of the Sherman law.

The soil has yielded bounteously of its treasure; neither war nor pestilence has taken its grim toil of their numbers; education and morality have made noticeable progress; material comforts have multiplied and good citatenship has made decided advancement and commercial activity and inknowledge of his competitor's affairs

August Sandahl, Baptist, several months ago resigned a position in the County Clerk's office and since that time has carried on a profitable enterprise, marrying couples as soon as they get their licenses. Rev. Joseph Kinget their licenses. Rev. Joseph Kindred, Presbyterian, served on a jury inst month, saw the harvest Sandahl was resping and determined to "get in se it." Monday he went to the court-house, accompanied by his "booster" (who didn't leave his name) and approached a number of couples. Rev. Sandahl was soliciting the patronage of Ernest Smith and Minnie Naplinger and the rivais were interviewing another. The "booster" then walked over to where Sandahl was standing. "Well, did you get 'em?" said San-

"I don't know you," said the "booster," and thereupon landed on the por-tion of Rev. Mr. Sandahl located be-tween the goatee and the nose. He then made a hurried exit.

Sandahl then walked over to Rev. Mr. Kindred, and, stepping on his toes, remarked that he would proceed to pull his nose. Kindred demurred and slieged that he was about to pull Sandahl's

CLAIMS ARE DEVELOPED

CONSIDERABLE ACTIVITY IS SHOWN IN NORTHERN B. C.

Mr. C. B. Clarke Reports Several Rich Finds Being Made in Hazelton District.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 29 .- After mining for 40 years in various Western camps, including Butte, Clarke, of Billings, Mont., believes that he has struck a bonanza in Northern British Columbia. He is developing a group of claims bonded from Kerr Bros. and located at the headwaters of Morris River and due south of Buckley Valley. Work will be continued all Winter. There are a number of blg showings on the property, an 18-foot ledge now being developed. This ore body gives values of $40 a ton in copper, silver and gold, the former metal predominating. Another showing 100 feet wide gave, he said, assay returns of $12 per ton. said, assay returns of $12 per ton.

There are other good claims in the district. Mr. Clarke is confident of securing transportation facilities when his property is developed, as it is only 25 miles from the Grand Trunk Paclific route and there is a water grade all the way. He also stated that Mr. John F. Cowan, a big operator of Salt Lake City and formerly of Butte, had bonded the Rocher de Boule group, 12 miles south of Hazelton, for $100,000, paying $25,000 cash down on the bond. The showing is described as a very rich one, the ore averaging over 30 per cent copper, besides the gold and silver values. There are greater evidences of min-eralization in the Hazelton district than ciuded Mr. Clarke. "It will be a wonderful mining center as soon as railway facilities are provided. I searched, the coast of Alaska from end to end in a fruitless quest for a good proposition, but I had to go to Northern British Columbia before I secured what I wanted. I can assure you that I saw

Hazelton is one of the best-known and oldest towns in British Columbia. The old town has enjoyed great prosperity on account of its strategic location as a supply point, but unfortunately the location is across the river from the railway. The merchants and business houses are preparing to move to the new Grand Trunk Pacific townsite at South Hazelton, at the junction of the Skeena and Bulkiey Rivers, which has been surveyed, and plans are being prepared. # DROP INQUIRY NOW

Administration's Good Faith in Controller Bay Affair Is Fully Proved.

FORGERY TO BE IGNORED

Western Members, Seeking Justice With Reference to Dick-to-Dick Letters, Probably Will Be Outvoted.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Nov. 29.—There is a strong disposition on the part of the Western Republican representatives now in Washington to protest against dropping the Controller Bay investigation, as suggested by Louis Brandeis, until there have been disclosures regarding the forgery of the Dick-to-Dick letter, and until more light has been thrown upon this trumped-up scandal that was used by Chairman Graham and the anti-Taft writers to injure the Administration. Now that Graham, Brandeis and others concede the letter was a forgery and admit that there was no scandal connected with the Controller Bay operations of Dick-Ryan, Republicans will demand that the committee expose infamy of this affair before ington, Nov. 28 .- There is a strong disinfamy of this affair before dropping it.

Supposed Forger Has Reported, However, as the House is Demo-cratic, it is feared that protests will be cratic, it is feared that protests will be unavailing and that the Democratic leaders will seek to put a quietus on the affair. The decision to drop this phase of the subject was not reached until the supposed forger of the Dick-to-Dick letter had spent the Summer in Alaska and had reported to Brandels. Being a lawyer, Brandels could foresee what would happen if the inquiry were permitted to go further, and now every effort will be made by the Democratis to protect the men who the Democrats to protect the men who conceived and promoted the alleged

WIFE AND SISTER CONTEST

Divorce and Death Figure in Case for Custody of Children.

ALBANY, Or., Nov. 29 .- (Special.)while the lifeless body of Ralph New-ton lies undiscovered in the waters of the Calapoola River, his sister and his divorced wife are contesting for the custody of his children. Newton was drowned while working on a log boom near Crawfordsville, November 15.
When she heard of his death, Newton's divorced wife, who has since remarried and whose name is now Zayda married and whose name is now Zayda E. Caves, went to Crawfordsville to get the children, Mildred, age 9; Hazel, age 8, and Ellbur, age 6. She found them being cared for by Newton's sister, Ivy Miller. Mrs. Miller refused to give them up, and Mrs. Caves came to Albany last night and filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The children were ordered brought into court tomorrow for a hearing as to who is entitled to their custods.

Newton secured a divorce from his wife here on March 29, 1909. Mrs. New-ton did not contest the charge that she deserted him in December, 1907.
