PRETTY MRS. CREEL IS STILL UNHAPPY

Beautiful Wife of Chilean Returns to New York Incognito and in Tears.

STAY ABROAD IS SHORT

American Woman Who Advises Girls Not to Marry Spaniards Will Not Say Whether She Has

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 .- (Special.)-Mrs. George H. Creel, Jr., who sailed from New York weeping November 2, has returned in tears, and on the sam steamer in which she sailed. When she went away she said it was to get a divorce from her husband, a wealthy Chilean, to whom she was married Callean, to whom she was married about a year ago. She refuses to say whether she got her divorce or not.

Mrs. Creel is very beautiful. Many artists have said that she is the most beautiful woman in America. Dukes, princes and wine agents have courted her. It is said that one of the best-known and wealthiest wine merchants had fallen in love with her. Of her affairs Mrs. Creel will say little, except that she has been very onhappy and that Spaniards do not make good husbands for American girls. Her husband is a Spaniard.

When Mrs. Creel returned on the

When Mrs. Creel returned on the steamer La Savoie, the same in which she salled a few weeks previous, she was booked as Mrs. M. Rue. She kept to her cabin throughout the voyage.

Jewels and Furs Worth $15,000.

At the pier, on the ship's arrival, she said she was an American woman visiting her native land. She swore off $15,000 worth of jewels and furs, and went to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Van Hensimer, 202 West Seventy-fifth street.

Interviewed there, Mrs. Creel would not admit that she was the weeping Mrs. Rue who came to town on the La Savols. She had been weeping, she said, but had arrived two days previous on the Lusitania. She said Mrs. Rue was her sister, but would give no information concerning her and her husband. But the captain of the La Savole recognized in Mrs. Rue the weeping Mrs. Creel, who went abroad November 2.

Mrs. Creci Will Not Tell.

"People like to gossip," said Mrs. Creel when she was informed of this. "Did you get your divorce in London?" she was asked.
"I will not tell you," was the reply. A large bouquet of American beauties was presented to Mrs. Creel by a middle-aged man when she sailed for London. She declined to say who this man was or whether he was the same man who met her at the pier when she man who met her at the pler when she

In connection with Mrs. Creel's tears in connection with Mrs. Creers tears and present unhappiness, it is recalled that when she was married to Creel she informed her friends that she was happy for the first time in her life. When she left her husband and announced her intention of suing for diverse who made became her views under vorce, she made known her views upon marriages between Americans and

CRIME WAVE RUNNING HIGH

Thieves Reap Harvest While Police Prepare for Own Defense.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 .- Forty burglaries, more than a score of highway robber-ies and several pickpocket thefts re-ported to the police Thanksgiving eve and night, brought the toll of the pres-ent crime wave to its highest propor-tion. In only a few of these cases have arrests been made.

The total of burglaries and holdups this year has run far larger than before. Each year residents have become accustomed to a marked increase in crime as the cold weather starts and the criminal classes who have spent the Summer on the road return here for the Winter. This year, however, many police, commanding officers and patrol-men have been occupied preparing de-fenses against charges of the Civil Service Commission and the crime rec-

Employes of Stokes Testify Against Lillian Graham.

Hotel Proprietor Not in Court When Stenographer and Clerk Assert Showgirl Pursued Him

After Marriage.

NEW, YORK, Dec. 1 .- (Special.)-Lillian Graham, who with Ethel Conrad is on trial charged with trying to murder W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, kept telephone wires hot calling Stokes during the past four years and made frequent efforts to see him after he was married, declared two women witnesses today. One was Marlon Brophy, Stokes' stenographer, and the other was Agnes Hande, floor clerk at the Ansonia.

Hande, floor clerk at the Ansonia.

Miss Brophy asserted that sometimes over the telephone, Miss Graham gave messages to Stokes under her own name, and semetimes she used other names. Miss Brophy said she was familiar with the showgirl's voice.

Miss Hande testified that she had warned Miss Graham to keep away from the Ansonia after the marriage of Stokes. She said she asked Miss from the Ansonia after the marriage of Stokes. She said she asked Miss Civil Graham what she wanted there, and then told her to go away lest she cause trouble between Stokes and his bride.
"Miss Graham used a word I soldem use," continued Miss Haade. "She said:

What do I care for his -- Denver red-haired wife?" ed-naired with:
Miss Haade also said that just before the went to Europe Miss Graham hreatened to commit suicide because Stokes refused to give her money.

While Miss Brophy was on the witness stand the defense tried to show that the letter introduced Wednesday, in which Miss Graham told Stokes why he which Miss Graham told Stokes why he need not fear to have her as his guest on his Lexington farm, was a "frame-up," and written after Miss Graham visited Lexington, but Miss Brophy declared she had never seen the letter before.

Miss Brophy denied that Stokes made her his confident in his affairs with women. She was shown the clothing women. She was shown the clothing worn by Stokes the night he was shot and asserted that they were the kind he usually wore and not a disguise. Stokes was not in court today, al-though the trial proceeded as usual. Mr. Stokes is still confined to his bed by an attack of acute indigestion. Paupers Are Over 2 Per Cent.

LONDON. Dec. 1.—(Special.)—The statement of persons in receipt of relief in London just published shows that there are 102.485 paupers, of whom 73.231 are in the workhouses and 28.254 (including 658 children boarded out beyond the unions and 11.717 other children under 16 years of age) are on the outdoor lists. The total is lower by 13.488 than that for the corresponding period of 1916, and this is chiefly due to the removal of the pauper diagnalification under the cid-age pensions act. The number of paupers represents a rate of 22.7 per 1800 of the population.
