George M. Hyland, to whose lot fell the address, told how the Brotherheod of Elks came to be formed. He said that in his mind's eye he saw dying, alone and neglected, an actor, no felecials to care for him and none to say over his body the last rites.

Mr. Hyland told of the organization by Harry Vivian of the first lodge 40 years ago and described how its purpose was to provide, primarily, a home in all parts of the country for itinerant actors so that if their end should come they would find friends and brothers who would care for them and bury would care for them and bury

ELK CARCASS IS SEIZED

Animal, Said to Have Been Killed in Montana, Found in Shop.

The carcass of a buil elk weighing more than 500 pounds was seized by Deputy Game Warden Craig in the Jones market, on Fourth street, near Morrison street, Saturday night, where is was displayed in front of the shop. The animal's head was missing, but the hide was later found at the shop of a taxidermist on First street.

"A placard on the elk announced:
"This elk was killed in Montana by Captain E. W. Spencer," said Mr. Craig esterday

Under the game laws of Oregon the taxidermist, the merchant offering the ment for gale and the express company ment for sale and the express company transporting the animal are liable to a heavy fine. Complaints are therefore to be sworn out today by the Game Warden's office.

Under the Lacey law, unless it can be proved that the elk was legally killed in Moniana, the hunter can be fined and imprisoned.

Deputy Warden Craig also selzed a deer carcass at the Great Northern Express office, consigned from Lily, Mont, to Lincoln Allen, at Airlie, Or. The press office, consigned from Lily, Mont., to Lincoln Allen, at Airlie, Or. The Oregon deer season closed November 1 and the law declares it is a violation of the game laws to have deer meat in one's possession after that date. Under the law both the consignor and the common carrier bringing the deer into this state are liable.

"E. J. Rahles, on the other hand, is the young man who refused to make a confession for the Burns detective agency.

"During this last Summer a number "During this last Summer a number of these circulators were arrested, through the efforts of the Burns detective agency, put under pressure, and, according to the testimony of all of the circulators, were promised immunity for testifying in substance as the detective agency desired. Judge Cameron permitted these men, after making this confession, to be released upon their own recognizance.

Inquiry Is Made.

"Since being relieved of the pressure of work in the referendum case, I have investigated the law relative to the appointment of a special District At-torney by the local presiding judge, with the object of appealing to the court to give us a special prosecutor so that all cases of fraud could be prosecuted in accordance with the laws of the State of Oregon.

I find that section 1002 of the code "I find that section 1002 of the code is the only law we have on the subject. This does not give the necessary power to the court for such an appointment. However, I called on Judge McGinn and Judge Gatens and laid the facts before them, and suggested that I call on District Attorney Cameron and ask that he consent to an appointment of yourself, John Jeffrey, E. S. J. McAllister and W. S. U'Ren as special prosecutors. This I did, but Judge Cameron turned the proposal down coldly, with the statement 'that he did not need any assistance." assistance.

Thus it will be seen that the Burns Thus it will be seen that the Burns detective agency appears to be running the District Attorney's office, and that they are endeavoring to protect fellows who perpetrated fraud in the referendum petition, who, during this last Summer, signed untrue statements or 'confessions' for the Burns agency or 'confessions' for the Burns agency in the'r effort to destroy the university referendum, at the same time using these false confessions to convict innocent men, whose petitions check up all right, and who had the independence and nerve to stand out against these Burns detectives, when they were alone in jail and told that they had been deserted by me; that I was guilty of crooked work relative to the referendum, and that if they did not confess and right a statement for them that and rign a statement for them that they would be convicted. "Now, the question in my mind, Colonel Wood, is this: Is this damnable thing going to continue any longer?

"Are the people of the State of Oregon going to permit this detective agency, that has been thoroughly discounten-anced in court in the referendum case, to longer continue their damnable prac-

There is also a difference of opinion as to how the building should be constructed, some of the board members wishing to have a building with auditorium above and stores below, and others desiring to have a church building without these. It is pointed out that the stores would materially increase the revenue of the church, and
