How Russia Deceived Nations Told by W. H. Galvani.

TALK FOR PEACE SPURIOUS

Speaker at Unitarian Church Says That Senate, Now Hostile, Was Actual Originator of Arbitration Treaties in 1890.

That Russia was secretly plotting the conquest of the Far East while she called on the nations for proportional disarmament, was declared by William H. Galvani, secretary of the Oregon Peace Society, in an address at the Unitarian Church last night. His subect was "International Peace, and the ject was "International Peace, and the Pending Arbitration Treaties."

Mr. Galvani said in part: "The imperial government of Russia, at the very time it came before the world powers with an invitation for gradual proportionate disarmament, was actually, though secretly, engaged in a gigantic plot for conquest in the Far East, one involving not only Northern China and Korea, but the very life of the Island Empire of Japan. Northern China and Korea, but the very life of the Island Empire of Japan. And when the little brown man proposed to submit the entire controversy for a final settlement to an international court of arbitration and conciliation, the great Russian empire would not even give the Japanese government a civil answer.

Perfidy Not Exception "Such perfidy in international rela-tions is certainly no exception, but un-fortunately the prevailing practice among those whose politice-ethical creed is based on the dectrine that language was given to man for the purpose of concealing his thoughts." Mr. Galvani supported the pending arbitration treaties between the United States and Great Britain and France. "It is not generally known," he said, that long before either Great Britain or France ever thought general arbitration treaties possible or practicable tration treaties possible or practicable, the Senate, on February 14, 1890, adopt-ed a resolution, apparently of its own accord, requesting the President of the Enited States to enter into permanent arbitration treaties with any power with which this Government is or may be on friendly relations. This resolu-tion was concurred in by our House of Representatives on April 2, 1890. of Representatives on April 2, 1890.

"It may seem strange that it should have required almost 22 years to put into writing all that was meant to be accomplished by the resolution of Pebruary 4, 1890. And what is stranger still is the fact that when agreements looking to that end had been finally advantable to the stranger of the st adopted between the United States and Creat Britain and France the present Senatorial successors to those who adopted the famous resolutions have entered upon a plot to destroy their actual usefulness.

Three Nations Control War. "I know of no one who is directly interested in preventing the dawn of universal peace, which these treaties are sure to bring about, and I am, therefore, going to speak to you this evening of the 'glories and beauties' of war, so that you may judge for yourselves as to the nature of the difficulty which the friends of peace are trying to meat.

Mr. Business Man, isn't there some member of your family that you would like to see started to accumulate money?

Then give them this sort of a Christmas gift.

A certificate of deposit on this strong bank. A certain amount to be theirs in six months from nowand ask them to increase the amount by their own savings.

This practical kind of encouragement would open any one's eyes to the earning power of money-andthe importance of saving it.

It's a good way to help some you are interested in to make their start in accumulating money.
