

KING AND QUEEN AT DURBAR CAMP

Natives of India and British Soldiers Have Equal Part in Welcome.

SCENES ARE BRILLIANT

Gorgeously Robed Princes and Smart Troops Pay Homage to Emperor George and Empress Mary in Gay, Glad Delhi.

DELHI, India, Dec. 7.—Native troops and British soldiers had an equal part today in the welcome to King-Emperor George and Queen-Empress Mary, here for the Durbar. The regiments lined the road to the camp and guns boomed salutes as their majesties drove by.

The King-Emperor and Queen-Empress were received on the elaborately decorated platform by the Viceroy and Vicereine, the Governors and heads of provinces, the Commander-in-Chief and a number of high military and civil officials.

After a series of presentations, their majesties proceeded to a pavilion within a wall, where 150 ruling chiefs were introduced. This ceremony occupied considerable time. Meanwhile the provincial legislators had gathered on the ridge by the durbar camp to greet the royal party. Then began the great procession to the camp, four miles away.

Holiday Is Declared.

Throughout India a holiday had been decreed, and great numbers of natives had gathered to get a glimpse of their Emperor and Empress. They formed a striking background to the gorgeously uniformed, European mounted troops, headed by Lancers and "Mitary bands. As Their Majesties approached, the command to present arms was passed along the line of troops. European spectators took off their hats and the natives bent deep toward the ground. The King-Emperor, the Queen-Empress and the Viceroy bowed right and left in acknowledgment.

The bodyguard of Indian Princes who followed immediately outshone in splendor all that had passed. In strict order of precedence came 150 Maharajahs, Rajahs, Nawabs and other chieftains. The column was closed by a band of savage-looking Afghans and Pathan Chiefs, mounted on wild ponies and a detachment of native and British troops.

Their Majesties entered the city through the King's Gate, now opened for the first time since 1857, when the King of Delhi went to public worship.

Reception Is Cordial.

All along the route the impression seemed to be profound and the reception was a cordial one. On arrival at the camp, the troops defiled past the imperial carriage; receptions followed, and the King-Emperor was presented with a brief address of welcome, to which he replied in a few words.

Their Majesties and the Viceroy party then went to their camp, which Circuit House, built by Lord Curzon in 1903, is the center.

The vast camp stretched along the Great Trunk Road in long symmetrical rows of white tents, almost blinding in the vertical Indian sun, while the whole place, when Their Majesties entered, blazed with the bright hues of the East.

The ancient bullock-cart, the smartest modern carriage, the powerful motorcar, the richly-appointed elephant and blooded horses added variety.

Very little trace was to be found of the various fires which have recently caused havoc in the country.

The Emperor's tent did not differ greatly in outer appearance from the others. Internally, however, it is palatial. Great canvas halls stand nearby for official receptions and banquets.

MAN FINDS $10 IN $5 COAT

Vancouver Pawnbroker Sells Garment to Frugal Patron.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Who said there was no such thing as a free lunch? Not Bob Franklin, wasn't it, who declared that the only good luck in this world is hard work.

George Newcomb, of this city, doesn't agree with the philosopher.

When Mr. Newcomb paid $5 for an overcoat he thought he had made a good bargain and when he explored the pockets of the coat, which he purchased at the second-hand store of W. C. Clow in Vancouver, he was convinced of it. In one of the pockets he found a crumpled $10 bill.

Clow cannot remember who sold him the coat, but whoever it was, he says, really needn't have sold the coat at all. Clow did not return Newcomb for the return of the money.

half a dozen Eastern states, and it has some of the finest land in the world. The people of Oregon have the co-operative habit. There is a spirit developed in every community that brings the people closer together, so that all work for the common good.

Speakers Avoid Politics.

Samples of fruits and flowers grown in Oregon were handed out in liberal quantities to the visitors. Some ways in the immense crowd desired to learn more of some of the politics peculiar to Oregon and why people living in such perfect environments selected such queer men to represent them in Washington and elsewhere, but the land promoters skillfully avoided all these embarrassing questions. They also put the soft pedal on all talk about crawfish being the chief diet of Portland folk. Many visitors still remembering an article to that effect printed two or three years ago.

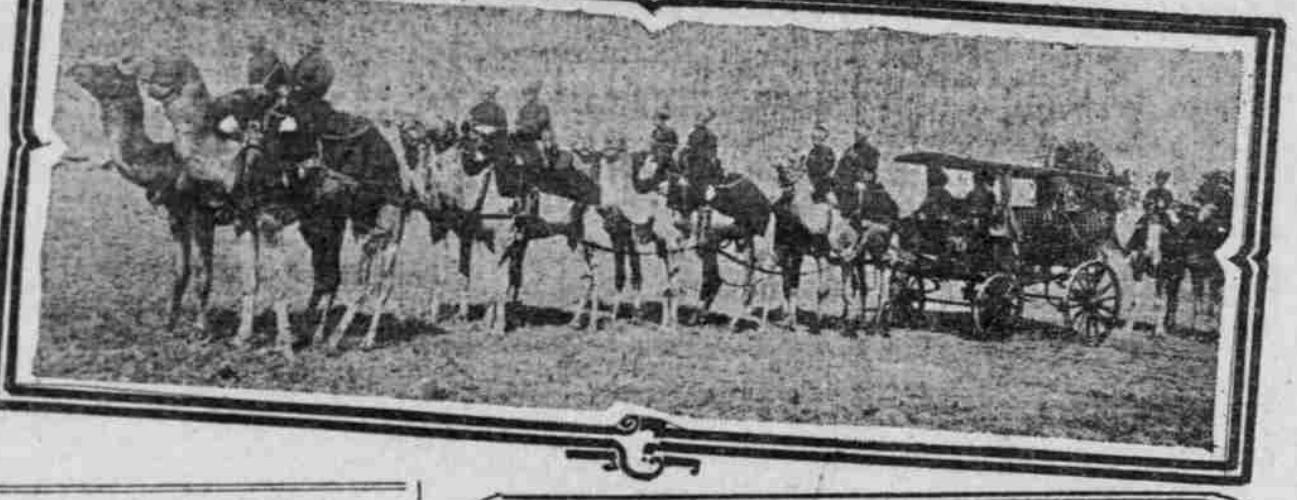

Former residents of Oregon, now ex-patriated for business reasons, made a pathetic picture as they lingered around the exhibit and told all visitors that no land could compare with Oregon in any respect.

Apples Make Big Hit.

Oregon apples secured a big hit when visitors to the show were presented with one of the big luscious prize-winners by the officials of the Union and Southern Pacific railroads. The apples had been sent to the show by Oregon growers who were anxious that their fruit should be put into the mouths of many Chicagoans as it was possible to reach in one day.

WOMAN DENIED ALIMONY

CASE OF MILLIONAIRE MINER WILL BE APPEALED.

Mrs. Minnie N. Taylor Alleges That Husband Sold Property in Goldfield for $2,000,000.

OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Circuit Judge Eakin today denied the defendant alimony in the suit for annulment of marriage of Charles D. Taylor, a millionaire miner, against Minnie N. Taylor. Mrs. Taylor asked $3500 alimony monthly and $7000 suit money. She was allowed $500 suit money. George C. Eversell and William Stone, attorneys for the plaintiff, have appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

The plaintiff was granted an annulment of marriage last September, but about two months later Mrs. Taylor and her attorneys appeared before Judge Eakin and declared she had not been served with summons. Mr. Taylor, however, proved that he had published the summons in a newspaper, a copy of which was mailed to the defendant. The former decree was set aside and Mrs. Taylor was given an opportunity to make her defense. The plaintiff in his appeal asked for a reversal of this decision.

Mrs. Taylor alleged that her husband sold a mine in Goldfield, Nev., for approximately $2,000,000, which money he still possesses. She said that he deserted her while they were traveling in Europe, leaving her with only 47 cents.

TAKES WANTS PEACE

President Quoted as Desiring Treaty With Germany.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Tourists in the Yellowstone National Park have shown so much interest in the beavers that inhabit the streams that the Department of the Interior is considering the advisability of placing colonies of the animals in some of the other National parks.

The beaver has been one of the most potent factors in the exploration of the rocky mountain region because the early trappers were generally searching for beaver when they first penetrated the fastnesses of the mountains. The zigzag dams constructed by these busy animals are familiar sights in the Yellowstone National Park. The beaver seems to be particularly adapted to the Platte, the Yosemite and Mount Rainier National parks.

OMNIBUS BILL PLANNED

Scheme to Link Schedules in One Tariff Bill Frowned On.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A scheme to link some of the schedules already passed at the extra session, but vetoed by the President, into one omnibus tariff bill has been discussed by some of the leaders in Congress, but it was insisted yesterday that the idea of revision, schedule by schedule, would be carried out. It was said that no report from the committee on ways and means was probable before the middle of January.

A bill introduced today by Representative Hoffman, of Alabama, and referred to the committee, provides for placing on the free list agricultural implements, cotton ties and bagging.

BERLIN READS INTERVIEW

Panama Canal Viewed as Agent of Pacification, Through Bringing Nations of World Into Commercial Union.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The Tageblatt publishes, under a Washington date, what purports to be an interview with President Taft upon the subjects of international arbitration, armaments, Mr. Shuster and the trusts.

According to the correspondent, the President is desirous of obtaining an arbitration treaty with Germany. He foresees that all nations that sign arbitration treaties with the United States will duplicate these among themselves.

An international tribunal, he thinks, can be based on this structure, with necessary executive power to enforce its decisions. The first decision of such a tribunal would give the signal for a successful limitation of armament, for which there is no other prospect.

Canal Will Help Bring Peace.

President Taft, says the correspondent, believes that the Panama Canal, by bringing the nations commercially closer, will work for peace.

The President recognized in the course of the interview that a tariff which was too high favored the building up of monopolies.

He was conscious, says the correspondent, that he was elected upon the expectation of an honorable tariff reform. He hopes to submit his proposals on December 10 to the Tariff Board, whose members, although they are not experts, will be prepared to report, with the assistance of experts, whether there should be reductions.

Fractional Shares Get No Votes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Holders of fractional shares in any of the 34 subsidiaries of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will have no voting privilege. This was made clear in an announcement made today by the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, whose annual meeting is to be held on January 1 next.

GERM IDEA SHAKEN

Cross-Examination Weakens Testimony of Nurse.

POINT IS SCORED FOR HYDE

State's Witness Admits She Never Administered Camphorated Oil Hypodermically and Knows Little About It.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 7.—Much of the effectiveness of the testimony of Miss Elizabeth Gordon, a nurse, who testified in the trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde for the alleged murder of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, was destroyed when Attorney Walsh cross-examined her today.

Miss Gordon was the state's star witness regarding the injection, alleged to have been pus germs, given Miss Margaret Swope by Dr. Hyde. The physician says the injection was camphorated oil, and the state's chief contradiction of this statement was Miss Gordon's testimony that she smelled the arm at the point where the needle entered soon after it had been withdrawn and detected no odor.

"Have you ever given a hypodermic injection of camphorated oil?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"No," replied the nurse.

"Do you know what kind of oil is used in connection with the camphor?"

"No, but I think it is olive oil."

"Do you know that the amount of camphor used in a hypodermic of this kind is so small that its odor cannot be noticed?"

"No, I didn't know that."

CASH PRIZES

EVERY WEEK FOR ARTICLES ON "HOW WE WON OUR HOMES"

The Portland Realty Board invites the homeowners of Portland and vicinity to enter an essay contest for the best articles on the general topic, "How We Won Our Home," and offers the following prizes each week:

- FIRST PRIZE, $25
- SECOND PRIZE, $10
- THIRD PRIZE, $5

The articles should deal with actual, concrete personal experiences of home-winning and home-building, setting forth, step by step, the progress toward the achievement, from the time of making the first payment on a lot or acreage to the realization of the ambition. It is not necessary that homes be entirely paid for. Articles will appear in The Sunday Oregonian. Photographs are desirable, but will not be considered in awarding prizes. The right is reserved of running in The Sunday Oregonian stories not awarded prizes. The following simple directions should be observed:

1. Articles should not be more than 800 words in length.
2. The writer should be a bona fide homeowner, or the member of a homeowner's family.
3. Write on one side of paper only.
4. Sign writer's correct name and address.
5. Mail articles to City Editor of The Oregonian.
6. Prizes will be awarded Thursday of each week.
