PUBLIC POLICY IS EDDY CASE ISSUE

Federal Court Decision on Legal Status of Christian Sience Soon Due.

QUESTION CLOUDED

Ruling Is That Allegations as tinuance of Inquiry.

CONCORD, N. H. Dec. 17,-(Special.) -The legal status of Christian Science and the question whether it is or is not contrary to public policy are to be argued and decided in the United States Circuit Court here early next year. The proceeding is an unusual one and coun-sel for both sides are hard at work presei for both sides are hard at work pre-paring for trial.

The suit was started when a bill in equity was filed in the United States Court by Dr. E. J. Foater Eddy, Mrs. Eddy's adopted son, in which he set up the same claims against the disposition of the residue of the estate to the di-rectors of the Boston Church for re-ligious purposes as were set up by George W. Glover, Mrs. Eddy's son, in the state courts here.

Counsel for General Baker, executor of the will, set up a general demurrer of the will, set up a general demurrer in the Federal Court, and also intro-duced an interlocutory motion to stop Feater Eddy from going on with the case, by reason of a family settlement.

case, by reason of a family settlement, to which he was a party and in which he agreed not to contest any will which Mrs. Eddy might make.

The motion to remove the case from the court on this ground was denied by Judge Aldrich because the plaintiff alleges that the family settlement was procured through "deception."

The judge says that there are questions of fact to be determined and that Dr. Poster Eddy has a right to show these facts if he can. Judge Aldrich says further that the pleadings of the plaintiff raise the question whether these facts if he can. Judge Aldrich says further that the pleadings of the splaintiff raise the question whether Christian Science, to the furtherance of which the bulk of the estate is willed, is or is not against public policy. In reviewing this phase of the case the judge says:

"While not reciting all allegations in respect to teachings and practice presented by the bill, it is sufficient, for the purpose of showing that the question of public policy involved cannot be determined as one of the law, to say that the plaintiff alleges that the practice and teachings of Christian Science are permisious and hostile to organized society, and constitute a business which is forblidden and made void by public policy, by the laws of the land.

"It is, therefore, sufficient to see that there are allegations presenting questions which cannot be ruled favorably to the defendants as a matter of law upon demurrer. This results because the question of public policy in respect to Christian Science as presented on the face of the bill cannot be determined as a pure question of law.

There is now pending in the state

There is now pending in the state courts of New Hampahlre a proceeding by another heir which puts in issue the construction of the New Hampahire statute limiting church incomes, and the question whether the religion of Christian Science contravenes the polley of the state, and such questions be-ing questions of local law, the decision of the State Supreme Court would con-clude the questions presented here. It is further suggested that this court may well consider before entering upon the main question whether it should not wait the decision on the demurrers in the Glover suif.

"We do not feel free to accept that view. The effect of the decision will, some it is believed, open up for trial many facts which those who are attacking at the the will and religion of Mrs. Eddy have been long fighting for an opportunity to reveal." at that time who felt the same as I did, and if I had not taken action sometor reveal."

The earnest little factory girl who has acquired the dignity of an inspec-tor, clothed with state authority, de-clared the law should be made more rigid to meet new conditions.
"I do not intend to advocate any such legislative reform," she explained. "I simply intend to fill the duties my new position demands."

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch Angry at Mayor Gaynor for Instructing Police to Wink at Boys Playing in Streets.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. - (Special.) -Discussing "Rowdyism in American Cities" at the club rooms of the Women's Political Union, 46 East Twenty-ninth street, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch deplored lawleseness of American college boys and that of the Tiess educated boys in Wall street."

Mrs. Blatch pointed out particularly to her fellow suffragists the antics of students at Cornell which had come under observation, and Mrs. Pankhurst's experiences at Harvard.

Part of the eo-called lawlessness was atributed by Mrs. Blatch to the "race assimilation process" going on "race assimilation process" going on in the United States, Mrs. Blatch was

In the United States, Mrs. Blatch was considerably worked up over the subject. "There is nothing like it in all Europe," said she.

The speaker found some fault with the way New York's public schools are conducted, and scored Mayor Gaynor for instructing policemen to "wink" at boys playing ball in the streets. Mrs. Histch was particularly aroused about this.

"Why, ladies, I was knocked down once in the street by a football kicked by a 20-year-old boy," said Mrs. Blatch. Think of it! True, the one who kicked the ball didn't hit me by design; but, dear me, one can never tell where a ball will go! Not long ago a woman carrying a baby in the street was struck by a batted ball and was knocked down. The ball came so close to the baby's head that it bent the little vizor of its bonnet. Every Monday we read in the papers of rowdies arrested in the streetcars and Football Hits Woman.

Every Monday we read in the papers of rowdles arrested in the streetcars and in the elevated and subway trains.

"Now, what did we hear a few months ago when the boy who couldn't pley ball in the street wrote to the Mayor? What was the Mayor's reply? It was one of driveling emotion. He was so profoundly sympathetic for the boys, and he was so devoutly sorry that they had been stopped from playing ball in the streets, and he would tell the policemen to give 'a great big wink' at such doings hereafter.

"My dear ladies," continued Mrs. Blatch, "I affirm that Mayor Gaynor's attitude helped to train those boys in the school of lawlessness. If Mayor Gaynor had been knocked down in the street, as I was, or if he had lost the sight of an eye from a batted baseball, as a woman that I know did, he might take a different view of such a situa-

"Gilbert Parker, the English novelist, has reluctantly said in an interview that, although we have a less bitter industrial situation confronting us than England has, we are more given to lawlessness. He spoke of the McNamara dynamiting, but he did not allude to that, but to that deed of chivalrous American men—that tarring and feathering act recently perpetrated out West."
Mrs. Blatch went on to say that

American men and women—parents in the majority of cases—are guilty of "moral lesion" in that they themselves glory in their attitude, which is one of glory in their attitude, which is one of wilful unconcern to matters of good government and private conduct. Then she went on to point out the superiority of English women to their American sisters in this respect, and ended in an eloquent plea for woman suffrage, which she said was the only colution of a National evil. American men, she said, are generally interested in things that interest women, and if the men are to be interested at all it's got to be because of the women.

NURSE THREW UP HER HANDS

From a letter from Mrs. Bessie Anderson, 104 Georgia street, Vancouver, B. C., we condense the following:

"Tour kind letter to hand this A. M. and contents noted with much pleasure, At the same time the credit is due to the Compound and not to me for the recovery of Mr. H. I certainly was pleased to hear that he is doing so well. When I went to see him I found him much discouraged and almost ready to give up. I told him that if I could get well and strong after having been aparently so much worse than he seemed to be there surely was hope for him, for I never will believe anyone could be any lower than I was and get well.

Int it marvelous? My old nurse called a few weeks ago. She had not seen me for six months, and when I suswered the door, took one look at me and was so amazed that she held her hands up in wonder."

We recall vividly Mrs. Anderson's case. A dozen physicians had given her up. She had had convulsions and was pedridden with one of the hardest cases of Bright's Disease ever reported to us. At what seemed the very last moment the treatment was changed to Fulton's Renal Compound. Her recovery was very slow, but about the sixth month she was up and around. Her recovery was very slow, but about the sixth month she was up and around. Her recovery that scores of people called on her and wrote her about it.

The Mr. H. that she refers to was also in the last stages of Bright's Disease, and he, too, changed the treatment and is now out of the hospital and recently passed through this city on his way south for the Winter.

How can physicians and patients overlook these resuits when failure is certain under the Orthodox treatment?
