Edward Welter Says Auditorium Should Be on East Sixth.

STREETCARS TOO NOISY

Location of Proposed Gathering Place Narrows Down to Bellenger Block and Heiple Tract on East Third-Division Exists.

The auditorium, if built on the East Side, will have to be built east of East Sixth street and not be surrounded by streetcar lines, says Edward Welter, member of the auditorium committee from the East Side Business Men's Club.

Mr. Welter has been making a thor-Mr. Welter has been making a thor-ough examination of all the proposed sites as to their proximity to carlines the past week, and he has eliminated consideration of most of the sites the other members of the committee have suggested for the reason that they are within the 2000 fact limit of the Zieg-ler ordinance forbidding vacation of streets within that distance from the Willamette River. There is one posstreets within that distance from the Willamette River. There is one possible exception and that is the site in the Heiple tract on East Third street, where no street will have to be varated. The other sites suggested are full blocks and parts of others. Mr. Welter strongly favored the Wittenberg-Nicolai site, between Union and Grand avenues at first, because it is in a commanding location, but it is surrounded by car tracks on three sides, Grand and Union avenues and also on Holladay avenue.

"I have talked with the leading musicians of Portland the past week."

musicians of Portland the past week musicians of Fortand the past well as said Mr. Welter yesterday, "and also with men who have attended conventions in the East and they are unanimous in saying that the auditorium should not be built on any streeter track or tracks and ought to be at least a block away.

"In my judgment the Bellinger block on East Sixth street West would be an on East Sixth street was would be as ideal site for the auditorium. We were limited to about $100,000 in selecting an East Side site, and I understand from good authority that the Bellinger block can be had for much less than $100,000. The block across the street on East Sixth street can also be had for a reasonable figure. It has been suggested to the auditorium commission that the two blocks there be obtained, so that the auditorium will tained, so that the auditorium will not have to be built close to the street, but may be set back 100 feet from Grand avenue, the entrance being Grand avenue, the entrance being from Grand avenue, the space being for driveways and parking. There could be space left at the back of the building for the same reason. This site would be free from the noise of streetcars and yet near to them. A considerable portion of the audiences will come in automobiles and other vehicles."

The rival to the site suggested by Mr. Welter is the Helple site on East Third street, in Wheeler's Addition, and near the approach to the new rall-road bridge. A site 350 by 350 can be road bridge. A site 350 by 350 can be obtained there without any street vacations. L. M. Lepper, member of the auditorium committee of the East Side Business Men's Club, favors this site for the reason that a riverside park might be obtained in connection with the auditorium between the auditorium and the Willamette River, which, he believes, ought to be considered seriously. No price was given on the site in the Heiple tract, but this is not considered important by the committee, as the committee recommends that it be obtained through condemnation proceedings in any event.

CHRISTMAS FILMS GOOD

The shows and the crowds yesterday at the People's, Star and other heaters at the People's, Star and other theaters were all permeated with the Christmas spirit. Producer Armstrong, with his scenic effects and lights at the Peoscenic effects and lights at the Peo-ple's, contrived to make "a miners' Christmas" a brilliant and original pro-duction, assisted as he was by Musical Director Carney and the trio. The People's will continue the production for one week. On top of this came "The Kiddles' Christmas," a spectacu-lar photonias in which the real Sants. lar photo-play in which the real Santa Claus appears. This is double the length of the usual film and was favorably received by both the old and young.

Harry Thorn made his reappearance at the Star Theater yesterday as musical director, and received an ovation. The show had a picture, "The Actor's Heart," that smacked of Christmas good cheer and sentiment and, with three other clever films, and the Doric The Serviced a photo-play entertain-

"A Reformed Santa Claus" gave to the Arcade Theater a Christmas headliner and the added picture recently put on the programme here was a welcome substitute for a song. "The Little Widow" was the thriller, and "The Millionaire Barber" gave the laughs.

The Oh Joy had two melodramas of exciting quality and a comedy. The Tivoli also had a Christmas picture, as did also the Crystal. All of the Christmas pictures for 1811 were of high grade and showed the great progress being made by the licensed and censored film-producers.
