MATHES WANTS TO PLAY WITH GOAST

New Outfielder Protests at Being Relegated to Class B League.

Dugdale Wants to Buy McDowell, Infielder for Beavers, but Portland Manager Will Not Sell. Barry May Be Sold.

BY W. J. PETRAIN. Joseph J. Mathes, the young outfield-ar drafted by Walter McCredle from the Butte club, of the Union Associa-tion, does not want to play in the Northwestern League next season. At least such was the tenor of a letter received by Walter McCredle yesterday, received by Walter McCredle yesterday, yet its contents pleased the manager, for Mathes does want to play in the Pacific Coast League. "I want a chance at your Pacific Coast League club," said Mathes in his letter, "and if you will give me this chance I'll guarantee I'll crowd some-body off that club." Mathes explains that he read a newwaner clipping that he read a newspaper clipping where McCredie had obtained waivers on him by the Pacific Coast League clubs, and he naturally presumed that he was stated definitely for the Northrestern League team, and immediately wrote McCredie about the matter.

"I like letters like this one," said McCredle yesterday. "Mathes will get the chance he wants with my Coast club. President Lucas, of the Union Association, where Mathes played last year, assures me that he is a most promising youngster, and I shall give him all the chance he needs to show what he has. If he is good enough for the Pacific Coast League team he shall the Pacific Coast League team he shall play with that club, and I shall send olm a ticket to the Beavers' camp and order him to report there March L."

Dowell, the young infielder McCredie purchased from the Nebraska State League last season, but "Dug's" desire in this matter will not be gratified, says the Beaver manager.

"I have not seen this player, but I've heard of him, and will give $750 for him," said the leader of the Seattle Savages to Walter McCredie recently. "Nothing stirring," replied the Beavers' leader, who figures that if McDowell is leans to the Seattle mag worth looking over by the Portland club first, and that is what will hapen to McDowell next Spring.

Jack Barry is wanted by several Northwestern League magnates as manager next season, and Walter Mc-Credie announces that he will not endeavor to stop the ex-New Yorker if he can land a berth in such a capacity. Seattle, Tacoma and Victoria are said to be the clubs looking at "Jawn" with longing eves.

Harry ought to make an excellent leader of a team in any minor league, for he knows more baseball in one minute than most of the "profesh" exhibiting in these parts of recent or remote decudes. Besides being gifted with a thorough insight of the National pastime, Barry possesses a demeanor and disposition that makes him a most likeable fellow, and easy to get along with at all times. That he would be a success as a manager seems assured. Barry ought to make an excellent

When his name appeared on the reserve list of the Portland club, which had to be, as the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs has abelianed non-reserve contracts, Mickey wrote McCredie saying that he wanted to close with an Eastern club and asked the Portland manager for his release. McCredie promptly replied telling him to go ahead and sign anywhere he chose, as Fortland would not interfere. Now Mickey wants to come back to Portland, but, in view of the fact that Walter Kuhn, Dan Howley, Temmy Murray and Dan Burch are already listed with the Beavers, there meems to be small chance for La Longe. Multnomah Club Rules No Instructor Shall Compete in Outside Matches.

McDonald's Football Players Coming Here on New Year's With Lineup Far Stronger Than That Which Played Christmas.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. Eddle O'Connell, wrestling instructor t the Multnomah Club and claimant at the Multnomah Club and cialmant for the world's welterweight championship, will not again appear in a professional match in Portland, unless he severs his relationship with winged "M" athletics. A fiat to this effect was issued by the board of directors a day or two ago.

O'Connell is not the only tutor affected by the manifesto, however, for the ban also includes the boxing instructor, Tommy Tracey. The resolution reads as follows:

"No instructor in boxing or wresting employed by the Multnomah Club shall be allowed to participate in outside matches without the specific consent of the board of trustees."

The order undoubtedly comes as a result of the muddle over the recent athletic carnival staged at the Armory, which led to the estrangement of which led to the estrangement of O'Connell and Tommy Ryan, the latter handing in his resignation a few days later. The Multnomah grappier had been figuring on a bout with Singh, the Hindu, but this will necessarily have to be given up.

O'Connell, who is recognized as one of the cleverest men at his Weight in the country, has appeared before local fans a score of times, beating such men as Heinrich, "Strangier" Smith, Tremblay. Matsuda, Berg in a handicap, Dwyer in a handicap, Albright, Buzu-kos, Ito and numerous others. The ban will prove a keen disappointment to his friends.

At the same session the board of trustees voted down Dow Walker's recommendation for the creation of athletic memberships. Under present arrangements each department of sport pays the regular dues for its athletes. For instance, Manager Pratt. of the football eleven, will find a bill for approximately $200 for dues staring him in the face when he squares around to close the account after the New Year's game with Seattle. to his friends.

Portland fans are to be given a rare treat in the pisskin line when Tom Mc-Donald's clubmen invade Multnomah gridiren en January 1. The northerners have settled down to work with a grimness that betokens no ping-pong play. The squad will be reinforced by the addition of Halfback Wand, of Washington, who is in great shape. McDonald expects to be stationed at fullback in Smith's shees.

fullback in Smith's shoes.

Ed Diedrick says considerable Scattle money went begging at local emporiums on the Christmas battle, even at odds of 5 to 4 and 5 to 3. Several wagers were placed yesterday at 10 to 9 on the northerners, despite the 9-to-0 drubbing received on Monday. The Seattle huskies will unquestionably be stronger with a week's more seasoning. but the fact that Multnomah will be on the home grounds should offset this advantage to a great extent. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Christmas struggle at Seattle gave the fans an opportunity to compare for themselves two great stars of different schools—Vincent Borleske, former Whitman star, and Melville Mucklestone, of the 1911 Washington

Mucklestone, of the 1911 Washington squad.

Mucklestone has been rated as one of the greatest halfbacks ever seen on a Northwest gridiron, but even "Muck" faded into obscurity beside the dashing Broadway High School coach. There was no comparison between the two men. This Borleske is the man for.

Mucklestone has been rated as one of the Seattle All-Stars will be on sale at the Columbian Optical Company, 145 Sixth street, commencing at 10 o'clock belt, won from Jim Parr at London belt, won from Jim Parr at Lond of the greatest hairbacks ever seen on a Northwest gridiron, but even "Muck" faded into obscurity beside the dashing Broadway High School coach. There was no comparison between the two men. This Borleske is the man for whom Lincoln High of Portland is angling for 1912. The local officials want a member of the faculty in control, and Borleske is not satisfied with his results at Broadway High, Seattle. As another aftermath of the great Christmas day affray, Seattle writers are loud in their praises of Cherry, O'Rourke, Berry, Rodgers, Hurlburt, and, in fact, the entire winged "M" squad. Cherry, at center, seemed to be a particular thorn in the Seattle side, for he repeatedly talked the opponents out of formations, and caused numerous cancellations in signals. Chorry had the better of Tegimeier all through the contest.

Pool and billiard halls seem to hold some sort of fascingtion for baseball moguls. Harry Ostdlek and Heiney Spiesman, of the Spokane club, recentily purchased a click factory at St. Marles, idaho, and now comes Happy Hogan with the announcement that he has bought out Jim Jeffries' pool and billiard parlor in Los Angleles. W. W. McGredie recently sold out his local pool and billiard interests to Secretary Hugh McGredie and his father.

Lawson Robertson, coach of the Irish-American Athletic Club track and field team, New York City, places Con Walsh, the Seattle weight heaver, as the most likely American entrant for the 16-pound weight event at the Swedish Olympiad.

The writer had a talk with Walsh in Seattle on Christmas day, and the big Irishman declared that he will probably be out of the Stockholm games through eligibility obstacles, but would participate in the San Francisco trials nevertheless. It appears that Walsh, while a resident of the United States the required five years, participated at London in 1908 for a Canadian club.

"I wrote Secretary Sullivan a fortnight ago, and he replied that he might pull me through, but it is doubtful," said the champion hammer-thrower and 56-pounder. Walsh is rather peeved because the Pacific Northwest Association took away his Astoria Coast championship medals on the charge that he was not eligible to compete.

Spencer was a sprinter through and through. His speed attracted the attention of W. Fred Ely, who was then manager of the Portland team, and who had seen Spencer in a minor game at San Francisco while scouting for talent. Ely immediately signed the young fellow and brought him to Portland.

During Ely's short regime as manager of the team Spencer played a utility role, but when Dugdale took charge in June, Erve Beck was switched to first base and Spencer was switched to first base and Spencer was played regularly at the keystone sack. His one defect is what has kept many a fast youngster out of the hig show—failure to think quick enough.
