$2500 Danages Allowed Oats.—One drink of whisky cost W. W. Oats $2500 according to one of the jurcers in the suit of Oats against the Southern Parific Railroad Company in the United States Circuit Court to recover $10,000 damages for injuries to his left ankle alleged to have been received while crossing the tracks of the defendant at Fourth and Stark streets. The principal defense to the suit was that the accident and injury was the result of carelessness, as the plaintiff was alleged to be unable to take proper care of himself because he was intoxicated. The only evidence of this was an admission of the plaintiff that he had taken one drink of whisky a short time before the accident and this had so much weight with the jury, it was said, that he was only awarded $2500 damages instead of $2000 that would have been agreed upon otherwise.

Civil War Veteran's Funeral Held.

—The funeral of Jonathan Lambert Clark, a Civil War veteran, was held yesterday, Rev. W. F. Reagor officiating at the service at Finley's undertaking parlors. The service was in charge of the G. A. R. Mr. Clark was born December 30, 1822, at McArthur, O. He came to Fortland one year ago. He enlisted in the Army in Ohio at the beginning of the Civil War, and served in the regular Army a year after the close of the war. He died at his home, at 370 Twelfth street. ANNUAL WILL PRESENT FACTS.

Twenty-seven men who are ominent in a wide range of activities in Oregon have written articles for The Oregonian Annual, which is to be issued next Monday. Each of these writers was selected because he is highly qualified to write about some particular phase of civic, commercial industrial development of Portland or of the state. The stories they have to tell are eloquent of progress and prosperity, yet they are not overdrawn.

The Oregonian Annual has established a reputation not only of being the best 'booster' the state has, but also of portraying conditions without exaggeration. So much is being accomplished in Portland and in the state at large, so many opportunities await the settler, that the plain truth is all Oregon needs to tell. Just a statement of facts such as the Annual will contain is sufficient to attract to Oregon the attention of thousands who live in less favored sections. Besides the story of advancement, so well told by contributors and staff writers, The Oregonian has compiled dozens of tables and prepared many charts, presenting in statistical form various phases of progress.

The price of the Annual will be 5 cents a copy. Postage in the United States, to Canada, to Mexico or to our insular possessions will be 5 cents a copy. Postage to all other countries will be 10

TEN YEARS' EASEMENT OFFERED.—The extension of Kerby street through Montgomery tract in Lower Albina, being improved for railroad and factory purposes, will come before the street committee for disposition next Friday. George W. Brown, who represents owners of the tract, has offered a ten years' easement for the construction of an elsewated railway which will not interfers with the ground underneath. The roadway is to be built in ten years. Councilman Maguire objected to the offer of a limited easement and wants it made perpetual, as he considers a limited easement is not desirable. The roadway, if built, will be constructed of steel or concrete, and will be from four to five blocks long. A delegation from Lower Albina will attend the committee meeting to urgs that the street be extended. An open street to the Brondway and railroad bridges is sought.

East Seventeement Extension Warrs.—Viewers have made their report for the extension of East Seventeenth street through Midway, but the case awaits final action. The viewers so assessed a wide district to pay damages and buy property that must be appropriated to get the street opened that the burden may be light. All Seliwood was assessed to help pay the damages. So far little objection has been raised, but a technicality has been raised. J. F. Kertchem, one of the viewers, owns property in Sellwood and his property was assessed. Rules for appointing viewers provide that they must not be interested in the opening of streets viewed. Mr. Kertchem said yesterday that he cannot see how the fact that his property has been assessed has anything to do with the opening of the street.

Church Plans accurred.—The building committee of the Westminster Presbyterian Church has accepted the plans and specifications of the atone edifice to be built on the block bounded by East Sixteenth, East Seventeenth, Schuyler and Hancock streets, prepared by Ellis F. New Game License Blanks Readt.— Consignments of the new fishing and hunting license forms were forwarded yesterday to the County Clerks of all the counties in Oregon by the State Game Warden. These forms are a de-Game Warden. These forms are a departure from any previously used in this state. They bear an affidavit which the hunter must swear to at the time the licenses are issued. The affidavit covers the place of residence and the Game Warden hopes by its use to be able to prevent residents from outside states coming to Oregon to hunt and saying that they live here. Prosecutions under the new licenses can be made on a perjury charge, which is not the case at present.

Wine Alleged Misseanned,—Efforts are being made by the Government to prevent the distribution and sale of misbranded and adulterated wines in this district contrary to the rules and regulations of the pure food and drug act, but it has proved difficult. Two complaints were sworn out by Deputy District Attorney Evans, in the United States District Court yesterday, for the seizure of 13 barrels of misbranded wine that had arrived in Portland from San Francisco. With United States Marshall Scott, acting immediately, but five barrels could be seized as the balance had gone out to the trade. The complaints stated that nine barrels, misbranded as imported, port, angelica and muscatel wine had been shipped from California by the California Wine Association to Kline Broa. & Co., and four barrels misbranded as imported port by the California Winerles and Distillers to Mike Jacob & Co. It is alleged in the complaint that all of this wine had been manufactured in California. The Portland firms, handling the wine, have been cited to appear in court to explain their connection with the misbranded wine.

CASE AGAINST CITY DISMISSED.—By stipulation between City Attorney Grant and Deputy City Attorney Latourette, for the city, and Whitfield & Coan and J. A. Bennett, for the plaintiffs, the case of Joseph Slossen and Gust Wilde against the city and the Public Works Engineering Company was yesterday dismissed in Circuit Court. The action was to enjoin the city from accepting the crematory constructed by the Public Works Engineering Company. Presiding Judge Gatens refused to make permanent a temporary injunction issued at the time the complaint was filed. The crematory has since been accepted by the Board of Health and Mayor Rushlight.

Lad Purs Our Fire.—What threatened to become a serious fire in a store building, at East Elightieth and Villa avenue, yesterday afternoon was checked in its beginning by the prompt action of Wayne Deneny, a boy living in a neighboring house. The fire started from an overheated store in William Ross' positroom on the account floor of the store building. Seeing the flames the boy hastened to unreal a garden hose, and connect to a lawn hydrant near. The wall was cut through by the men in the positroom so that he could get at the fire and the flames were quickly quenched. The damage was very slight.

Max Frances Pratt Drad.—Mrs. Frances Emily Cole Pratt, wife of G. G. Pratt, of this city, died at her home, 25 East Fifteenth street, yesterday morning, after a short illness. Mrs. Pratt was born in Copley, O., 63 years ago. She is survived by her husband and five children: Mrs. Gestrude E. Gray, Davenport, Neb.; Mildred M. Hensel, Lincoln, Neb.; Mrs. Charles Sweit, Carter, Wash; L. E. Pratt and Miss Edna C. Pratt, of Portland. Mrs. Pratt was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and of the Order of the Eastern Star of Missoula, Mont., of which she was formerly the worthy matron.

Superintendents and Supervisors Are Organized.

PUBLICITY AIM OF ONE

Woman Named to Exploit Oregon's Educational Plan-Varsity President Addresses Teachers-G. A. Rice New Head.

Two subordinate organizations came into existence at the annual meeting of the Western division of the Oregon Teachers' Association yesterday afternoon. The new organizations are an association of the city school superintendents of the state and an association of the county school superintendents of the state and an association of the county school superintendents disposed of the bare work of organization and election of officers yesterday and will meet this morning at 9:20 o'clock to adopt a constitution and outline its work for the future. J. M. Powers, superintendent of schools in Salem, was elected president, and A. C. Strand, of The Dalles, secretary. J. A. Churchill, of Baker, and A. R. Turner, of Grants Pass, were chosen members of the executive committee. They will act with the president and secretary, and L. R. Alderman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be ex-officio member of the executive committee. The Association of County School Supervisors will not confine its membership to supervisors alone, but intends including county school superintendent of Clackamas County, president of the association.

Publicity Plans Big.

The organization proposes to work for closer co-operation of the county supervisors in all parts of the state, interchanging ideas and lending one another assistance in solving the different educational problems that arise. Publicity for educational conditions in the state is their aim, which they intend to reach by means of articles submitted to the school fournals and papers of Oregon. Miss Goldie Van Bibber, of Mapleton, was elected corresponding secretary and will have general charge of the publicity work of the association. Other officers are: Vice-president, G. W. Ager, of Talent. Jackson County; secretary-treasurer, J. H. Jack, of Hillsboro.

P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, addressed the teachers at the opening of the convention yesterday morning on the relation of the state institutions to the high schools. Mr. Campbell said that it was not the intention of the State University to dictate to the high schools what course of study they should follow. The nine and one-half credits presequisite to entrance in the State University, he averred, were the standard that prevailed throughout the United States in practically all high schools. After entering the State University, the course is purely elective, he said, and the only restriction placed on preparatory work is the requirement that at least one-sixth of it must be along the lines of the major subject selected after entering the university.

companions in the street or from quacks whose greatest desire is to keep people in ignorance. Teaching this subject is attacking ignorance and not innocence. Innocence is beautiful in a babe, but criminal in a boy or girl of 12 or 15."

Frank Rigler, superintendent of Portland schools, gave an address in the afternoon session on "Retardation," or the presence in the public schools of a percentage of children whose progress is not up to the standard it should be at their age.

Poor Attendance Blamed.

Poor Attendance Blamed.

Retardation has long been held by various authorities to be due chiefly to physical defects, said Mr. Rigler. While he did not belittle this as a cause of slow progress among some school children, Mr. Rigler said that it was to be blamed much more on irregularity of attendance. Sickness he pointed out as one of the unief causes for irregular attendance, and also indifference on the part of the pupils. Remedies suggested were both social and pedagogical. Proper food and clothing, he said, would do much to combat the physical causes of irregular attendance, while those arising from indifference must be attended to by the school officers in arousing interest and in compelling attendance by truant officers.

The general election of officers for the state association was held in the morning, the following officers being chosen: President, C. A. Rice, Portland; first vice-president, J. H. Ackerman, of Monmouth; second vice-president, J. P. Wells, of Jacksonville; secretary, L. A. Wiley, of Portland; treasurer, E. P. Carleton, of Salem; executive committee, L. R. Alderman, of Salem; C.
