District Forecaster Compiles Data for Year.

RAIN FAR BELOW NORMAL

Snow Deficiency Also Recorded Record Most Unusual Since Establishment of Office in '71. 181 Days Are Cloudy.

Weather records for Portland in 1911, as complied by District Forecaster Reals, show a series of weather freaks which have branded the year as one of the most unusual since the estab-lishment of the Portland office of the Weather Bureau, in 1871. The complete statistical record was The complete statistical record was published in pamphlet form yesterday and is ready for distribution to those desiring copies.

Among other rather unusual things the report shows that both the rainfall and the snowfall in the year were below normal, despite the fact that there was more cloudiness than ordinary. A total of 181 days were wholly cloudy, 182 were partly cloudy and the remaining $2 were clear. There were 223 days on which the precipitation fell below one one-hundredth of an inch and only 136 days when the precipitation was over that amount.

Rain Below Normal.

The total precipitation for the year was nearly 12 inches below normal. Eight months out of the 12 had a mean temperature below normal, while the other four were considerably above the July was extremely hot and Septem July was extremely bot and September was unusually rainy. The mean temperature in July was $1.1 degrees, which was four dgrees higher than the mean for August. The hottest day was July 24, when the temperature reached 59 degrees. The coldest day was January 15, when 25 degrees was recorded. In September the precipitation was 3.35 inches above normal. The rainfall in September totaled 5.15 inches, of which amount more than 5 inches fell in the first 16 days. The longest period of rainy weather was 15 days, from November 3 to 15, inclusive. The longest period without rain was

The longest period without rain was from May 27 to June 21, inclusive—25 days—which was unusual. Year's Wind Mild.

There were no wind storms during the year in which the velocity of the wind was greater than 40 miles an hour. The wind maintained the steady hour. The wind maintained the addression of southwest in January, Pebruary, March and April and northwest in June, July and August. The highest wind was on September 11, when a westerly breeze attained a velocity of 37 miles.

For 24 days in the year there was a dense fog which lasted an hour or more and thunder was heard only on four The total amount of snowfall was 7.7

The total amount of snowfall was 7.7 inches below average, which is the streatest deficiency recorded in the last 40 years. The annual weather report contains in addition to the 1311 records the comparative data on temperatures, humidity, precipitation, wind velocity and river measurements since the establishment of the office.

GOVERNOR WEST IN FILMS

Feature at People's Theater Next Sunday Is Interesting.

Oregonians may learn of the recent movements of their Governor in the East at the People's Theater, Sunday, where a clear film will be exhibited where a clear film will be exhibited as a part of the programme.

The picture shows Governor West and the other Western executives, the special train on which they traveled, together with many interesting points which the entire party viaited. One of the most interesting sights was their stay at, and inspection of, the navyyard at Philadelphia, where a huge battleship was lying at the dock. Another rare and pleasing event was their meeting at Baltimore with the Governors of the South.

meeting at Baltimore with the Governors of the South.

A view of the film will show to the people that the Governors tour was an important one, and that the great interest aroused in the East is quite certain to result in much benefit to the State of Oregon. It also will prove that very little of importance escapes the sleepless eye of the camera man.

D LOUGHLIN

Workmen Are Recruited From Coast SENSE OF HUMOR BIG ASSET,

Four hundred telephones were put cut of gervice yesterday afternoon by the osfiapsing of two poles on Belmont atreet, which had become loose since the thaw and which toppied over in a gust of wind. They pulled down a heavy cable. A force of men have tlarted repairing this cable and expect to have these lines in working order today or tomorrow.

All the toll lines have been repaired excepting lines to Estacada and Gresham.

Traffic over the Broadway, Irvington and Union-avenue casilines was tied up for over two hours last night by loose wires of the Fortland Railway. Light and Power Company. The telephone Company coming in contact with the feed wires of the Fortland Railway. Light and Power Company. The telephone wires caused a short circuit, which burned out the feed wires. A force of linemen repaired the damage for guickly as possible. The feed wires are used to supply the current of all cars which pass along Union avenue.

As HENRY WEMME MAY LAND FOR FOLLIES 1912.

Henry Wemme is said to be evolving a scheme to make use of his airship in delivering Portland showshoppers at the First Annual Follies, to be given by the Portland theatrical managers at the Hellig Theater, January 25. Mr. Wemme said yesterday that he understood thoroughly that the rush for tickets would be so great that many persons could not get near the doors of the playhouse. He intends to build an aviators' station on the roof of the Hellig and unload his friends there. The top of the station will be of glass, much resembling a skylight. He believes that patrons of the airship route will be better satisfied if they can obtain a view of the interior of the theater as they designd.

Mr. Wemme intends to purchase 25 tickets for the big complimentary show. He will present them to friends and will escort his guests over the air route to the theater. ...........

Eastern Oregon is made habitable, in the same proportion will the general prosperity of the state be enhanced.

I would favor placing the general supervision of all reclamation work in the hands of one man having the capacity of Colonel Goethals, who is in charge of the Panama Canal. What is more. I would provide ample funds for carrying all projects to completion.

"Bonds have already been issued to the amount of $20,000,000 for promoting reclamation projects. I would favor an increased bund issue, to the end that abundant funds would be available for all of these improvements. Oregon has not received its proportionate share
