The jurors were: W. F. Bennett, R. A. Manary, C. S. Blair, Ira E. Spencer, E. H. Austin, Van Brightegan, F. G. Lester and C. C. Landon, all farmara; O. F. Johnson and E. A. Blackmore, both bankers, and H. A. Knapp, laborer.

The third day of the trial opened this morning by the state offering rebuttal. George B. Thommas, A. J. Procebstel, M. L. Coovert, members of the Coroner's jury, and W. J. Knapp, County Coroner, and Godon Stuart, a newspaper correspondent, all who had heard the 'astimony of Winfield Gasoway, night police officer, on the witness stand, before the Coroner's jury, testified that Gasoway, had said that Lewellyn had been artested for consorting with a woman, and not a felony, as he had testified to at the present case.

Change in Record Charged.

Change in Record Charged. Counsel for the state asked for the police hioter, in which was recorded its arrest of Lewellyn and Bertha Wells. The defense was willing to adgit that the charge was entered, but the book was asked for by A. L. Miller, one of the state's counsel.

John Secrist, Chief of Police of Vancouver, was sent to get the book, and he returned, after some delay, with the police blotter, which was said not to be an afficial record. Attornoys looked at the entry made on the morning of Sep-fember 10, under the date of September 19, as the date changes at midnight, and soon consternation reigned. There were whisperings, and those most in-terested smelled the book at that point where it was imputed a change had been made. The scent of some chemi-cal used in ink eradicators was pro-nounced. This was called to the attention of Judge McMaster, who was try-the several words, but did not say when he had done so.

Captain W. M. Goodale and Lieutenant Staley A. Campbell testified that the change was from "Bertha Wells, and eld cat," to the word, "rustling for her," and that the word "years" was thanged to "months" in the record of when Lewellyn was arrested one before. The state, contending that Lewellyn and Bertha Wells had been arrested for being in a room together, was a violation of a city ordinance only, while soliciting for immoral purpases was a felony in this state, so that the change from the adjectives. until darkness sottled down over the mountains in a vain efforf to find some trace of the young stockman. Narkaus started up Bobsied Canyon last Monday in search of a cow and calf, which had been caught in the deep snow by the storm. Since then no trace of him has been found. As he came over from Westen Mountain, be was not missed by the river ranchers with whom his relatives thought he was staying. Finally, alarmed at his prolonged absence, a brother started this morning to search for him.

The riderless horse, still saddled and with its bridle caught in the brush, was found standing near the mouth of the canyon, where he had apparently been since Tuesday mornitig.

His tracks were retraced to where a great snowslide had obliterated the trail and filled the canyon. Here they stopped and though the precipitous sildes of the canyon were scouned for miles, not snother trace of Narkaus could be found.

SALEM HEARING TO BE LAST

Proposal to Give Same Schedule to Points on Branch Lines as on Main Traffic Arteries Meets Strong Objection.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 11 .- (Special.) -- At the final conference which the State Railroad Commission granted today with the representatives of the O.-W. R. & N. In the distance rate hearings, it developed that the Oregon and Washington Commissioners are hopelessly apart in any move to secure a uniform plan for the two states and that General Traffic Manager Miller, of the O.-W. Early Decision Expected.

This question was gone into at length. What the Commission will do in this respect will not be known until the order is finally handed down, which is expected in a comparatively short time, the order being delayed by granting time for this conference, which the Commission has announced will be positively the last one granted.

Where the Oregon and Washington Commissions seem to be unable to get together on a uniform tariff is their difference in ideas as to distance and distributive tariffs. The Washington Commission is desirous of making the
