PUGET SOUND RATE FOR FLOUR VEXES

Apparent Discrimination on Portland Has Possible Explanation.

HONGKONG CABLE VAGUE

Tariff Advance at First of Year Thought by Some to Be Ignored at Northern Port - Shipper May Have Paid Difference.

Hongkong buyers of Northwest flour caused a flurry among Exporters in the past few days by cabling that Puget Sound millers were getting the benefit of a rate of $2.50 a ton to the Chinese port, while Portland firms were bidding for business on a basis of $1. Some have investigated the report and say that they are satisfied that it grew from the fact a steamer was dispatched from the northern port this month with flour that should have this month with flour that should have been moved in December, and, though the rates were advanced January 1, the millers paid the difference.

Others hold that Portland is being discriminated against. The tariff was advanced January 1 from $2.50 to $3 and Shanghai perts and to Hongkong and Shanghai it is $3.50 and to Manila $4. A year ago it was $3 to Japan, and then the lines forming the trans-Pacific freight bureau cut to $2, in opposition to the Japanese lines, which reduced the tariff without consulting reduced the tariff without consulting others in the organization. Later the rate was restored to $2.50, and on a general agreement raised to the former larges with the beginning of the

The steamer Hercules was to have salled from Portland the latter part of December, and then her date of departure was changed to January, and the Waterhouse Interests said that they would not load the vessel at the low rate, but other arrangements were made, so she did not put in an ap-pearance and the Strathlyon was sent in her place. That there is no genuyers who ship from there, as well as return.

The steamer Orteric will sall tomorrow with a large flour cargo, and the outlook for brisk business is good, with space reservations made up to There appears to be no real difficulty here in getting orders, as is evidenced by the fact that all available space has been taken for the next two months, and a steamer has been chartered besides for March loading. in addition to the regular fleet.

FOG AND DRIFT STOP LURLINE

Steamer Ties Up at Rainier and Misses One Trip.

Rivers, blocked navigation Monday night so far as the steamer Lurline, of the Kamm fleet, was concerned and she tied up at Rainier until after daylight yesterday. The vessel arrived here about 2:30 P. M. and was held until today, one trip being omitted.
Fog alone would not have bothered the steamer, and probably the drift could have been escaped had the night been clear, but with a thick blanket enveloping the stream, compelling the skipper to resort to navigating by courses, it proved so dangerous that he decided not to take chances. It was re-ported that the rise in Lewis River and other streams below the mouth of the Willamette filled the Columbia with drift and while not so much danger at-tended trips down stream, the steamers bucking the current found progress

Bock Men Cling to Offices on Small Margin and River Recedes.

Among the principal damage from the swift current running in the Willamette yesterday was the tearing away from its moorings opposite Jennings of the Kruse boathouse and launch. Rivermen were asked to keep a lookout for the property and to take it in tow if it passed through the harbor, but its non-appearance gave rise to the assumption that it had struck above Sellwood and probably gone to pieces.
