Dead Girl's Sister Tells How Death Was Dealt.

PATIENTS POUNDED ON BACK

Miss Williamson Gives Damaging Testimony at Trial.

PORTLAND MAN IS WITNESS

John Herbert, Uncle of Young Woman Who "Took Starvation Cure" Testifies He Knew Not Body as That of Niece.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 19.—Miss Dorothea Williamson, whose younger sister, Claire, is alleged to have been starved to death by Mrs. Linda Burfield Hazard, took the stand at Port Orchard today and began her story of the events that culminated in the death of her sister at the Olalia Sanitarium May 19, 1911.

Mrs. Hazard is accused in the Kitsap County Superior Court of murder in the first degree. The Williamson sisters were heirs to $200,000.

Word that Miss Williamson would go on the stand today brought out a large crowd, women predominating, and the little country courtroom was filled to overflowing.

Woman Skeleton No More.

When her name was called Miss Williamson walked to the stand with a firm step, looking the picture of health, with rosy cheeks and bright blue eyes.

Her father, an officer in the British army, died when she was 4 years old and her mother died 14 years later.

In 1910 the Williamson sisters were on a tour of the world and saw an advertisement of Mrs. Hazard's starvation cure in a Seattle paper. While in Victoria, B. C., in October of that year, Dorothea suffered an attack of rheumatism and Claire wrote to Mrs. Hazard, who sent a copy of her book on the fast cure and a pamphlet telling of the beauties of the Hazard Sanitarium at Olalia. The sisters did not come to Seattle at that time, but went to California to pass the winter.

Combined Weight Is 235 Pounds.

Dorothea said that at that time she weighed 109 pounds and her sister weighed 124 pounds. They were preparing to separate for a long journey, Claire going to London and Dorothea returning to Australia.

They arrived in Seattle February 24, 1911, and the next day called on Mrs. Hazard.

"Mrs. Hazard was very cordial," said Miss Williamson. "We told her that we planned to sail soon and thought a two or three-weeks' treatment would be good before the sea voyage. We had no intimation that the treatment would result in the breakdown that overtook us. We arranged to pay Mrs. Hazard $50 a month each for treatment."

"We wanted Mrs. Hazard to examine us, but she said a physical examination could not be made until the fasting had proceeded for some time. She gave us a treatment the first day. She pounded us on the back and hammered us about the head with her fists."

Portland Man Takes Stand.

The greater part of the day was taken up with the cross-examination of John Herbert, of Portland, Or., uncle of the Williamson sisters. It was brought out that Mr. Herbert was not shown Claire Williamson's body until after the funeral and when he saw it he told Mrs. Hazard it did not look like Claire.

"Did you mean you had doubts that the body in the coffin was that of Claire Williamson?" he was asked. "I certainly was in doubt whether it was her body," said Herbert. "It did not look like Claire. The hair was a lighter brown than hers and her face and hands were changed."

Others Knew Not Girl.

Mr. Herbert said he spoke to Mrs. Hazard of this and that she led him away from the coffin. He said that others who knew Claire and saw the body agreed with him that the body did not look like Claire.

When asked why he did not begin an investigation to ascertain if the body had been replaced with another, Mr. Herbert said:

"This was at a funeral service held in memory of my niece. I knew she was dead, and whether the body in the coffin was hers or another was immaterial at that time. I was too distressed to think of any investigation and at that time I had no suspicion my niece had met with anything like foul play. At that time it made no difference to me whether there was any body there."

A. CARNEGIE WANTS HIS WITNESS FEES

COMMITTEE ASSERTS TESTIMONY WASN'T WORTH IT.

New York Notary Failed to Affix Seal and Millionaire Has Trouble Getting Sum of $28,700.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Andrew Carnegie, multi-millionaire, is having trouble collecting from the Government $28,700 in witness fees for his recent testimony before the House steel trust committee.

He told the committee when testifying that he was honored by its invitation to appear, that he would frame in gold his subpoena and expense vouchers and keep them forever.

Later, however, Mr. Carnegie apparently changed his mind, for on January 17 he signed his expense voucher and it was received today by Jerry South, chief clerk of the House.

It calls for 454 miles of travel at 5 cents a mile ($22.70) and for three days' witness fees at $2 a day ($6).

SALEM CLUB WILL BUILD

Hillside Folk Would Purchase Property Owned by Elks' Lodge.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Assurance that still another handsome building at least five or six stories in height will be erected here was given tonight when the Hillside Club, at a meeting tonight, showed enough money had been subscribed to make certain that the club will purchase the present beautiful Elks' lodge site.

The Elks now own the property at Court and High streets, where the new building will be built. This is but a block from the site of the six-story Masonic Temple now being constructed.

These two structures will mark a new era in Salem and next Summer will be the first time that two skyscrapers are under construction here at one time.

BAYONET TO BE RESTORED

California Militia First Sergeants Become Third Lieutenants.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Orders were issued from the office of the Adjutant-General today that restore the bayonet in the service of the National Guard, after it has been discarded since 1904, and all citizen soldiery will be re-equipped with this weapon.

Orders have been issued also for officers to be equipped with whistles for use in issuing orders.

First sergeants of infantry companies have been ordered to discard rifles and carry side arms, giving them the rank of third lieutenants. Rifles were too cumbersome for them when performing their functions in the drill. All extra equipment will soon be distributed.

HARVARD'S RUDDER BROKEN

Captain's Timely Discovery Prevents Probable Accident.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 19.—The discovery of a series of broken bolts in the rudder head of the big passenger steamer Harvard, as it was about to sail with nearly 200 passengers for the north at 6 o'clock this morning, is believed to have prevented serious trouble for the big liner.

The rudder of the vessel had all but fallen from its fastenings. Three of the huge bolts by which it is kept in place had been broken off and one of the others was twisted and loose. Captain Jenson discovered the trouble and the vessel was tied up pending repairs.

CITY JAIL BOLDLY ROBBED

Prisoners Lose Much Clothing, Which Police Cannot Find.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 19.—While the prisoners in the city jail, locked in their cells, slept last night a thief ransacked the place, stole neckties, shirts and other articles of value and succeeded in evading the guards and hiding the booty. The thefts were discovered this morning when the prisoners were called for trial. A search of every man in the place was made and every cell was ransacked, but neither the thief nor missing property could be found.

The jail is built of cement and steel and is absolutely rat proof.

LIVES IMPERILED IN FIRE

Lane County Poor Farm Dormitory Burned to Ground.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—The dormitory of the County Poor Farm was burned to the ground tonight. There are 17 inmates and several at least of them are helpless.

The fire caught back of the fireplace and spread rapidly.

TAFT POOH POOHS SOCIALIST MENACE

Exception Is Taken to Bailey's Warning.

FAITH IN PEOPLE IS STRONG

Prosperity Is Need of Nation, Says President.

COURSE NOT TO CHANGE

Executive Says Administration Will Not "Prosecute" Business, but Will Continue to Enforce Law Against the Trusts.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 19.—Speaking before the New Haven Chamber of Commerce tonight, President Taft made a plea for continuance of his economy and efficiency commission, declared that the Administration has no desire to "prosecute" business, but that it will continue in force the law against monopoly and unlawful combinations and urged business men of the country to get together with him to insure prosperity.

Senator Bailey, of Texas, an earlier speaker, although he called himself an optimist, had sounded a warning against the increasing danger of Socialism. To this warning the President took exception.

Prosperity Is Thing Needed.

"I don't think," said the President, "that we are near that which he fears and which I would fear had I thought we were near it—Socialism. I have abiding faith in the American people. I have abiding faith, for they will come back and discriminate between what is good and what is rustian. What we need is prosperity."

"A lack of prosperity does not make the rich uncomfortable; it is lack of prosperity that makes the poor uncomfortable. What I hope is that we shall all get together with good team work to bring about prosperity."

Railroads' Attitude Changed.

In its relations to the railroad, the trust, the tariff and the currency the Government vitally touches business, the President said. He explained the change that has come in the attitude of the railroads toward legislation affecting them and which they opposed vigorously a few years ago. The recent decisions of the Supreme Court in two great cases, he said, had paved the way for business to live within the anti-trust law.

"It has been enforced," said the President, "and it will continue to be enforced."

ISSUE ONE OF "FRANKNESS"

Ewing Says Harvey Got Answer He Asked For.

GORE DEFENDS CANDIDATE

Colonel Watterson May Have Good Deal More to Say if Challenged by Responsible Person, He Now Declares.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Wilson-Harvey episode brought forth today, simultaneously with the arrival of Colonel Henry Watterson, a statement by William F. McCombs, campaign manager for Woodrow Wilson, declaring that "the tears that are being shed over the passing incident are wrung from those who have hitherto been the most conspicuous opponents of Governor Wilson."

Colonel Watterson, who will be here several days in connection with the work of the Perry Memorial Commission, read the McCombs statement as well as one made today at Nashville, Tenn., by Judge Robert Ewing, but declined to comment on either. Judge Ewing, who is related by marriage both to Governor Wilson and Colonel Watterson, said that Colonel Harvey requested a frank answer when he asked Governor Wilson whether he felt that his candidacy was being prejudiced by the support of Harper's Weekly, and that Wilson's answer was frank, accordingly.

Watterson View Agreed To.

"As to the Wilson matter," said Colonel Watterson tonight, "I have nothing to add to what has already been said, unless it be seriously challenged by some responsible person. Then I may have a good deal to say."

The statement issued by Mr. McCombs follows:

"With reference to the alleged Wilson-Harvey incident, it seems to me that Colonel Watterson has said in a statement all that needs to be said. It appears there that from as far back as last October, he himself suggested to Governor Wilson that Colonel Harvey's support through Harper's Weekly might be injurious and that he probably told Colonel Harvey himself the same thing. It would seem that Colonel Watterson had convinced the Governor of the truth of his opinion, and had at

"BEST BUTTER" 49 CENTS A POUND IN NEW YORK.

Home-Grown Potatoes Are Real Luxury, Worth Much More Than Scottish Variety.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(Special.)—The recent cold weather had an appreciable effect on the higher cost of living, judging by figures furnished today by grocers and butchers. It was said that the price of beef to retailers had been put up 3 cents a pound within a week because of the difficulty in getting dressed beef through. In the past month the price of string beans has taken a jump. A month ago they were selling at 10 and 12 cents a quart. Today one must pay 20 cents, if one knows where to go for them, and for wax beans one must pay 2 to 5 cents a pound.

There is a difference at retail between the imported Scotch and the home-grown potato, the former bringing 12 cents a quart and the latter 15 cents.

What is called "best butter" in moderate-priced groceries is now 49 cents, which is 2 cents more than last week. "Strictly fresh laid eggs" are bringing 55 cents a dozen. Cabbages are 10 and 12 cents a head.

The Philadelphia banker and partner of J. Pierpont Morgan originated a brand new feature in society nuptials by copyrighting all photographs of his bride that were sent to newspapers. The intent of this copyright was to prevent promiscuous publication of his bride's features.

WILDE SIDE DROPS 3 NON-UNION MEN

State Uses First Peremptory Challenge.

JURY MAY BE IN WEDNESDAY

Prosecution Casts Out Tenant of Attorney for Defense.

JUDGE ILL, TRIAL HALTS

Questioning of Veniemen to Resume Monday—Malarkey Attacks Newspaper Reports—Court Repeats Warning to Venire.

Manifestly non-union men are not desired by the defense as jurors in the trial of Louis J. Wilde, counsel for the defendant in exercising three of its six peremptory challenges having already excused only artisans who admitted in their examination as jurors that they did not carry union cards. Two of these challenges were used by the defense yesterday while the state excused another of the jurors passed for cause, employing the first of the three peremptories to which it is entitled. If the remaining five available peremptory challenges are used, three by the defense and two by the prosecution, the jury will not be completed before Wednesday.

Prospective jurors excused through peremptory challenge yesterday were: C. D. Ramsdell, a non-union contracting carpenter, 4304 Fortieth avenue Southeast, and S. C. Baker, non-union carpenter employed in the Southern Pacific carshops, 967 East Plandora street, both by the defense, and D. W. Fairclough, saloonman, 469 East Couch street, by the prosecution.

Malarkey's Tenant Dropped.

In addition to the foregoing three, Louis Haertlein, excused peremptorily by the defense Thursday afternoon, is a non-union molder. Fairclough, the first man to be challenged peremptorily by the prosecution, is a tenant in a building in which Dan J. Malarkey, chief counsel for the defense, is part owner. Fairclough also was the first of the original 12 prospective jurors to be passed for cause by both sides.

The places of the three jurors removed through peremptory challenges yesterday were supplied by the following veniremen who were temporarily accepted by the prosecution: Pacific Charles A. Kalus, retired, 140 East Forty-seventh street; J. B. Tanner, accountant, 520 Welder street, and C. G. Paine, 1641 Olin street. Mr. Baker, one of the two men excused by the defense, had only been added to the 12 men temporarily in the jury box at the opening of the morning session yesterday.

State's Plan Upheld.

With the acceptance of Baker the jury box was again filled and an argument arose between counsel as to the plan that should be followed in the use of peremptory challenges. Mr. Malarkey, for the defense, insisted that each side should excuse a juror alternately. Judge Kavanaugh, however, sustained the contention of Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald that since the defense under the law was allowed double the number of peremptories conceded the state, it should use two challenges to one by the prosecution until the legal number had been exhausted. Mr. Malarkey then announced that Ramsdell, non-union carpenter, would be excused under the second peremptory of the defense.

Special Prosecutor Clark labored hard to get rid of Charles A. Kalus, who had been passed by the defense, on a challenge for cause, contending that since Kalus was called as a juror in a special venire last Summer, he was disqualified from jury service in the regular panel at this term of court. The challenge was resisted by attorneys for the defense, who cited authorities in support of their contention that the reason assigned was not sufficient to disqualify Kalus.

Bankers Believed Dishonest.

On suggestion of counsel, after the point had been argued at length, court took a recess until 2 P. M. to enable the lawyers to consult other authorities. When court reconvened, Mr. Fitzgerald withdrew the challenge, questioned the venireman further and finally passed him for cause.

Questioning of Mr. Kalus developed the fact that for many years he was a Washington County farmer, removing to Portland 27 years ago, where for 10 years he conducted a saloon at Tenth and Couch streets. The saloon information possessed by the venireman of the pending case was what he had gained by reading the newspapers, although he expressed the belief that "there was not an honest man in the entire bunch of officers" in the suspended Oregon Trust & Savings Bank. Interrogated as to the amount Wilde was alleged to have embezzled, Kalus said: "If Wilde got $100,000 out of that bunch he was welcome to it."

Saloonman Is Challenged.

In the cross-examination of Kalus by Mr. Clark, the venireman explained that the only business transaction he ever had with Mr. Malarkey, of counsel for the defense, was the sale of a glass of
