PARK HONDS ADVOCATED.-The Rose City Park Improvement League adopted a resolution at the meeting Tuesday a resolution at the meeting Tuesday night approving the proposed issue of park bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 for new parks. It was reported that three arc lights have been placed in the district. Floyd J. Campbell, chairman, read a letter from President Josselyn, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, favoring the construction of a viaduct over the track of the O.-W. R. & N. Co. at the Sandy boulevard crossing as the only safe boulevard crossing as the only safe method. It is suggested in the letter that the property damaged be bought outright. The longue approved the viaduct and will urge that it be built. The league also went on record as ap-proving viaducts on other street cross-The league also went on record as approving viaducts on other street crossings on the O.-W. R. & N. line in Center Addition, where the club is contending for grade crossings. It was the sentiment of the league that it would be a mistake to provide grade crossings at any street crossings on the O.-W. R. & N. and that viaducts are the only safe method.

Apoplexy Taxes Insurance Man—
According to information received in Portland yesterday, J. W. G. Cofran, well known as a pioneer Portland insurance man, died at Hartford, Conn.
January 15, of a stroke of apoplexy.
As the general agent of the Hartford Commercial Insurance Company,
Mr. Cofran came to Portland in 1875.
His success caused him to be sent to San Francisco in 1885 as associate general agent of the company, and three years later was elected a vice-president of the company. To fill this position, he transferred his office to Hartford,
Conn. He was born in New Hampshire, and was 53 years old.

The Fisher-Thorsen Company, which laid the wood-block pavement on East Morrison street between Union avenue Morrison street between Union avenue and East Water street, is having the pavement repaired. The pavement was damaged by water from the railway crossings on East First street by breaking of the concrete. New crossings are being placed at this street intersection. A solid foundation is being built under the crossing and it is thought that when the present repairs have been finished the pavement will be in good condition and may then be accepted by the city. The blocks have been treated with preservative.
