

ASIA AND EUROPE OUTSHINE AT BALL

San Francisco Society Wears Be-Jeweled Trousers at Mrs. Crocker's Fete.

GIRLS IN SALOME DANCE

Beautiful Women Vie in Seeking of Bizarre and Piquant Effects for Oriental Trappings—Men Are Dressed Up, Too.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—A scene of Oriental splendor more beautiful than any setting ever before attempted in the annals of local society and rivaling in its rich beauty the descriptions of the scenes borrowed from the Arabian Nights, greeted the 200 guests who were bidden to Mrs. Templeton Crocker's ball tonight at the St. Francis.

Costumes Are Extravagant.

The gowns of Turkish and Egyptian design, each with its legendary history of romance, were said to be more attractive in their variety and extravagance than the fantastic creations that have appeared in recent seasons in London and Paris and in the capitals of fashion on the Continent. The ball is said to have surpassed the celebrated affair given by Mrs. Crocker's cousin, Mrs. Jack Gouraud, in New York not long ago.

Miniature Palace Created.

A Sultan might have reigned appropriately in the ballroom which had been created within two days at the St. Francis. The ceiling of the room was covered with rare Oriental embroideries in place where royal Egyptian and Persian designs of tapestry.

Around the walls were half curtained alcoves heavy with cushions where the guests lingered between dances or remained seated on fine tapestries and rugs brought from the land of luxury. Here the Sultans, with their favorites, and the picturesque company of Aladdin, Cleopatra, Caliph and other people of the East met for a social hour.

Swarty attendants, clad in the fantastic dress of Asiatic principalities, lurked stolidly in the picture.

The center of the room was really the place of extravagant beauty that lent color and effective finish to the scene. There was a fountain with myriad colored waters falling in a brilliant spray into a deep, cool basin, and the suggestion was of the ancient garden of Alhambra.

Mrs. Irwin's Trousers Pink.

Mrs. Crocker's mother, Mrs. Will G. Irwin, flashed upon the guests in Oriental trousers of coral pink, veiled with a broad band of white and worn with a tunic with breastplate, bodice and broad giraffe of turquoise, pearls and sapphires. A coronet, one of the most resplendent ever seen on the Pacific coast, crowned her display of many pieces of beautiful jewels.

Turkish Bride Striking.

Mrs. Arthur Chesbrough formed a striking picture as a Turkish bride. Her full trousers of turquoise satin were covered with chiffon trousers in the same shade and her costume was completed with an Oriental white-and-gold-spangled coat embroidered in turquoise. Her head dress was a cap of pearls embellished with a paradise algrete.

Mrs. Athole McBean was attired in an emerald green and white, with flowing trousers of chiffon and white satin coat studded with vari-colored stones and embroidered in gold. Her Gertrude Hoffman dress was also white satin lined with emeralds and set with pearls.

Miss Helen Chesbrough also wore the robe of the harem, her attire being of old rose satin with full flowing trousers of chiffon over mesaline and a bolero coat of spangled net. Her sleeves, of chiffon, lace and flowing, were held at the shoulders by bandeaux of pearls.

Mrs. Astor Is Outdone.

The rich, yet dignified attire of Mrs. Perry Eyre, who declined to wear the conventional trousers of the harem, formed a contrast to the costumes of most of the dancers. She appeared as Thais in a flowing robe of white Duchesse satin, with a chiffon overdress. Her bell and sash were of cerise satin elaborated with spangles and jewels and on her head was a crown of jewels to which was attached a flowing chiffon veil.

Men Are Dressed Up, Too.

No masks were worn, but an effort to be realistic as possible was striven for and the faces and arms of many of the women were stained in rich tints to harmonize with their apparel. The men appeared to be good advantage as Omar Khayyam. As there was no particular way of identifying the Persian philosopher, the doctor carried a small turban and a smaller loaf of bread.

she also had experienced the full brunt of the hurricane. Captain Nelson, of the Beaver, and Captain Griffith, of the Admiral Sampson, agreed to keep in constant communication by wireless and to stand by each other in the event of disaster. The Sampson, which lies lower in the water than the Beaver, was constantly shipping the seas and everything movable on deck was awash. The waves broke over the upper decks. Water flowed into the ventilators, flooding the hold and causing much damage to the cargo.

But most every woman is subject to these pains at some time in her life, due to abnormal conditions in life, such as corsets, over-taxed strength, bad air, poor or improper food, wet feet, sluggish bowels, a regulator and female tonic made from native medicinal roots with pure glycerin, and without the use of alcohol, called

I buy the Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery and take them together. I never was disappointed in your remedies and take pleasure in recommending them to my suffering lady. I am now almost fifty years old; at forty-five I took your medicines, both kinds, and I passed that period very easily and left me fat and healthy. I feel like a young girl. If any lady cares to write me, I will gladly tell her more about the good work of your medicines."
