As for me, I will take no chances. "Much has been said about the con-nection of the Seid family with the prosecution in this case, which is er-roneous. That adds to the heat in Chinatown, and for that reason I want to tell the connection of the family which I represent. We are not trying to start trouble. It has been said that the Bow Ling Tong, a society of Chi-nese cannery foremen, has offered $500 for the head of Wong Tun, the China-man belonging to the Hop Sing Tong, who interviewed Of Sen, the Chinase woman suspected of the murder of Seid Bing. That is not true. As for me, I woman suppected of the infront of Seid Bing. That is not true. As for me, I belong to none of the Chinese societies, but I am in a position to know that no such reward has been offered. "The Seid family is asking only for justice, and American justice at that. We work. no such reward has been offered. "The Seid family is asking only for justice, and American justice at that. We want the accused persons to have a fair trial in the American courts. To show our fairness we allowed Wong Tun and two others of the Hop Sing Tong to visit the woman in the jail and ask hyr questions. Ol Sen was a mem-ber of this Hop Sing Tong, and while we could have refused to justice and while the police committee of the show our fairness we allowed wong them to the Port of New York for de-portation to Europe. All preparations for the trip were made secretly, leaves of absence being given both at a meet-ing of the police committee of the Tun and two others of the Hop Sing Tong to visit the woman in the jail and ask her questions. No Ronds in Early Days.

There were then no roads, and I inavaled afoot over the slopes of what is now Riverview Cemetery, until I arrived at Tom Stevens' place and there found the first semblance of a road. My first view of the town was of a little struggling village, the busi-ness establishmonis along Front street, from where Jefferson street now is to about Oak street. The immigration was then furnishing more labor than the town could furnish work for. So I went back to the cabin, and every few days would return to the village booking for work. At last I found a position in The Oregonian, receiving my board and dothing for the work I my board and clothing for the work i

Early Growth Slow,

"The town didn't grow much for years. About that time the Oregon Steamship & Navigation Company started a line of boats up the Columbia. There was also a line of boats up the Willamette a little later. The way to reach the valley was by steamship. In the Wilter time there was no reach the Winter time there were no roads to travel. This was before the Can-yon road was built, when the road to Washington County went as far as the Hills.

he city didn't grow until the mines of Idaho, in the 60s, began to trade a little up in the Eastern country. But as business was not brisk, and in the Winter trade was at a standstill, we used to skite all day, when there was ics, and do our work at night. Then the railway came in from the East. Business grew steadily, but it was not until the time of the World's Fair in Portland that the heavier growth set in. From that time, the city has jumped forward with great strides. "This was the city in which I grew up. There was a Chinese quarter, and not until 1890 did the residence and business districts jump over the Chi-nese guarter and start building the city to the West.

Clash Between Lawyers and Judge Enlivens Proceedings-Seven Veniremen Are Passed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7 .- The arrival from the penitentiary of Abraham Rust, ex-political leader now serving a it-year sentence for bribery, who will be a witness, and a clash between at-torneys for Eugene Schmitz, ex-Mayor, on trial for Bribery, and Superior Judge Lawior, heightened interest to-day in the work of obtaining a jury to try Schmitz Schmitz. try try Schmitz. Ruef arrived here inte today and was greeted at the Ferry building by Fremont Older, editor of the San Fran-cisco Bulletin, and by Bert Schlessin-ger, Ruef's attorney when he was tried. Older was one of the most active figures in the graft prosecutions, but later be-came an advocate of Ruef's release from the penitentiary. Ruef's sister accom-panied him across the bay. The clash between lawyer and judge came when Attorney Fairall formally moved that Judge Lawior debar him-self from proceeding with the case, inasmuch as the judge had let lapse the five days fixed by the statute in which to reply to affidavits setting forth that the judge was disqualified by reason of bias. Judge Lawior said that be never had heard of any affidavits of the character in question, but Assistant hever had heard of any altimating of the character in question, but Assistant District Attorney Berry said that the affidavits had been served on him. Judge Lawior ruled that the statute had not been compiled with, and the case proceeded until noon, when the venire was exhausted and adjournment was taken until tomorrow, when a new venire of 25 names will be returned. Seven veniremen have been passed tem-

KAISER WANTS DEFENSES

Emperor Fails to Give Details at Opening of Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 7 .- The speech of the Kalser, who in person opened the Reichstag today, although it gave in-dication of causing demands for a stronger National defense, was disappointing in the respect that it did not give the details the members expected. The Emperor said, upon this topic: "For the success of our work of peace at home and over seas, the em-pire must remain powerful enough to be at all times its National honor defend, at all times, its National honor and its possessions, as well as its just interests in the sworld. It is, therefore, my constant duty and care to maintain and strengthen, both on land and on sea, the defensive power of the German people, which does not lack young men capable of bearing arms. Measures with this end in view are in it is true; it tells of a way to get rid of these plague spots which so often sap the strength and vitality, and best of all, this permanent cure is in reach of every one.

It is an absolutely true statement to say that every old sore or chronic ulcer exists solely because of bad blood. Outside contaminations or influences may increase the local inflammation, but such things have nothing to do with keeping the place open. It is the infected blood discharging its impurities through a weak spot on the flesh that does this, and the sore will continue, gradually growing worse, until the blood is purified of the exciting cause.

See how nature points to the cause through the symptoms. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that external applications never have any curative effect on the sore, show that deep down in the circulation there is a morbid cause which prevents the place from healing. But more convincing proof that bad blood is responsible for old sores, is furnished by the fact that even removing every visible trace of the ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; the sore always returns.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory or infectious matter to irritate the place and nature causes a natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S. S. S. has cleansed the circulation and the place is well, it is not a surface cure, not simply a smoothing over of the outward evidence, but it is a perfect and permanent cure, because every vestige of the old cause has been driven out. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, cleansing and invigorating in their nature, and of great tonic value. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or fhiddle aged. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is greatly strengthened and benefited. To hear of S. S. S. has been good news to thousands, it is good news for you.

If you wish any special advice about an old sore or ulcer write for our free book, and ask our medical department to give any instructions you may feel the need of. No charge for the book or advice. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.
