Veto of Ordinance Routing Plants Is Overruled.

PRICES TO RISE IS THREAT

Companies to Bow to Council's Will and Build Beyond City Limits-Only Three Vote to Concur With Mayor.

Removal of oil-storage tanks from the city limits and an advance in prices of various products handled by the com-panies affected are foreshadowed in the passage yesterday morning of the so-called oil tank ordinance over the veto of Mayor Rushlight by the City Council. The vote was 10 to 3, Councilmen Mone-fee and Jennings being absent. Coun-cilmen Burgard, Monks, and Wallace cilmen Burgard, Monks and Wallace voted to sustain the veto. Mayor Rushlight's veto was opposed . Mayor Rushlight's veto was opposed even by his chief political lientenant. Councilman Baker, this occasioning considerable surprise when the vote was taken. A small number of residents of South Portland were prosent in silent protest against the placing of tanks in that section of the city, but no speeches were made by anyone; the Council voted and the veto was overruled.

Oil Prices to Rise. Oil Prices to Muse.

It is understood that the Standard and Union Oil Companies will make no effort to combat the Council's action, but that they will make arrangements without undue delay to establish their plants at a point outside of the city. They will, however, make a corresponding increase in the prices of oils handled by them, as has been previously efficially announced has been previously efficially announced by their respective agents.

The Standard Oil Company maintains its plant in the central East Side district, where it has been for years, while the Union Company, the plant of which was wrecked by fire and exploded last June, in reality has no place of business here and has had none for many months.

Mayor Rushlight votoed the ordinance because, he said, it forces the oil companies outside the city in an indirect way, but permits them to remain, even in a residence section, if they care to purchase sufficient property 3000 feet from the harbor line. He said there are places where they could build under this ordinance, but the representatives of the companies say they have no intention of remaining in Portland, but that they will move to a point outside and deliver their goods at advance? prices into the city.

Fatality Starts Crusude.

The cil situation has been before the City Council since last June, when David Campbell, then Chief of the Fire Department, was killed in the explosion that followed a fire in the plant of the Union Company, Joseph Simon, who was Mayor at the time, recommended that the Council oust the companies, as has now been done. A committee was named by him to draft legislation, but that committee instead recommended the creation of oil districts, six in number, in the city and this was

A storm of protest followed, when the Union Company purchased property in South Portland, and, acting upon the permit granted by the ordinance, started construction of a plant. The Council finally repealed that ordinance and passed the present one, which the Mayor vetoed.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY OAM-PAIGN COMMITTEE ACTIVE.

Two Subscribers to Endowment Order Names Withheld-400 Ministers Asked to Aid.

More than $30,000 of the $100,000 which the Williamette University cam-paign committee is seeking to raise in Portland for that institution, has al ready been pledged. Two substantial pledges were made to members of the committee yesterday by Portland business men, who stipulated when they pledged the money that their names were not, under any circumstances, to be allowed to get into print Fifteen business men were visited yesterday by the committee, consisting of B. Lee Paget, C. B. Moores, J. O. Gol-tra, R. A. Miller and J. L. Hartman. Dr. E. B. Todd is also working earnestly and effectively for the institution. Dr. Thomas Nicholson, general secretary of the Methodist Board of Education, left for New York City yesterday morning. He expects to make several visits on his way East.

Hishop Smith will send 400 letters today to as many ministers of the Methodist Church in Oregon, Eastern Washington and idaho, asking that they line

By this means it is tions as they can. expected that the committee will be enabled to get in touch with those who are able to help. Thirty-five of the preachers live in Portland.

Many contributions are being received by mall from members of the church, of moderate means, and these show to the committee the friendly spirit these members have toward the institution, and, more than that, a lively interest in the campaign, as the pledges have come without solicitation from the commit-

Restaurant, everything clean and fresh; every courtesy will be shown patrons; at the State Insane Asylum at Salem, the value of that product used during the month of January amounted to $74.40. The cost of butter used in the same period was $834.34. The committee learned that the cleanment was used principally in cooking and for the purpose of economy. The report includes a statement from Dr. Steiner, in which he expresses regret that it should be necessary to use this product and also expressing his desire not to retard the development of the dairy industry in this state. The report, which is signed by C. H. Fraer, A. H. Les and F. L. Kent, is as follows: We, your committee appointed to investi-gate the reported use of electronic at the various state institutions, and partic-ularly at the State Insane Asylum, beg leave gate the reported use of oleomargarine at the various state institutions, and particularly at the State Insane Asylum, beg leave to report:

That, on Monday, February 12, we called upon the state purchasing agent. C. D. Fraser, and Superintendent Steiner, of the Insane Asylum, and found that small quantities of oleo had been purchased for a few of the state institutions. At the asylum we found that gleo was being used principally for cooking purposes and as a master of economy to keep the expenses of said institution within the limits of the appropriation made by the last Legislature. Purchasing Agent Frazer submitted figures showing that for the month of January the cost of cleo at the asylum was 174.46; of butter, $53.54.

Superintendent Steiner said: "I have been and still am a staunch friend of the dairy interests of Oregon, and believe in doing sverything possible to foster and encourage the industry in the state, and would, if conditions permitted, favor the use of butter exclusively at this institution. I regret the undue publicity given this matter, which may have been construed as being derogatory to the dairy interests. I wish we could give every patient more butter than we have ever been able to and keep within the limits of our appropriation."

Superintendent Steiner submitted figures, which had previously been published under date of December 17, 1911, showing that the appropriation for subsistence at the Oregon Asylum amounted to an average of $13.65 per capita a month as compared with $15.20 at the Washington Institutions, $16.50 in Idaho, and a range of $15.31 to $17.11 at the several similar California institutions, we deplore the fact that our state officials have deemed it necessary, in the Interests of economy, to use even small quantities of butter substitutes.

We feel that the continued advancement of the agricultural interests of our state depends largely upon the development of the fairy industry, and we are unalterably opposed to the use, by our state institutions, of any substitute or

Restores Natural Color to Gray Hair

Not a Stain or Dye

That growing old and gray is unwelcome to most of us is shown by the almost unbellevable quantity of har dyes and stains that are sold each year in the United States. Aside from the danger that attends the use of those preparations, it is well known that even the best of them cannot give permanent results and that they color the hair unversity and in patches, making the user ridiculous to any close observer.

Printed below is the prescription or formula for a preparation that is not a stain or dye and contains no coloring matter, but which rapidly restores natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in a manner which is truly remarkable, solely by its action in reviving and stimulating the color sacs in the hair roots, supplying them with the natural food and oil nourishment which they require.

The ingredients are all simple, standard and inexpensive pharmacautical products which you can buy at any drug store. The druggist will mix them for you or you can do it at home. Allow to stand one-half hour before using Here is the prescription:
