

ONE CHINESE IS KILLED, ONE IS SHOT

Murder and Attempt to Slay Take Place Across Street From Police Station.

SUSPECT UNDER ARREST

Men Are Attacked From Behind in Same Building Over Different Rows—Victim Not Mortally Hurt Seld Back's Kin.

Murder and an attempt to slay, one because of long troubles and the other through personal malice, within two minutes of each other, in the same block directly across from the police station last night, caused the death of Shu Ding, a canner foreman, not a tong member, and a serious wounding of Seld Wing, a cousin of Seld Back, a prominent merchant of the Chinese quarter. The shootings had no connection with the case of the Chinese who lives in a small room on the third floor of the Chinese block, was standing in the door of the kitchen, when a man, whom he said was Jong Wah, another canner worker, stepped up behind him and shot him through the back, the blaze from the gun burning Shu's hair and clothing. As the old man fell his assailant fired another shot, which penetrated from the front, fatally wounding him. Crying for help, the 40-year-old man fell on the floor and his assailant ran away.

Second Chinese Shot. The shot had barely been heard by the Chinese outside the building when Seld Wing, coming down stairs from a visit to a relative of his on the third floor, was shot from behind. The bullet struck him in the left side above the hip and penetrated deeply. Seld turned about as he fell. He said last night that he recognized his assailant as Lee Sam, a member of the Hop Sing tong. The prosecution of Wong Si Sam, Lee Soon and Oh San, all Hop Sing tong members, for the murder of Seld Wing in December, Seld Wing says was the cause of the shooting. Seld Wing is a prominent member of the Young Chinese organizations. Shu Ding and Seld Wing were placed in a Red Cross ambulance by Sergeant Harms and Patrolmen Wagoner and Sorenson and were hurried to the hospital. Within a few blocks of the shooting Shu Ding died. Seld Wing is expected to recover. Lee Sam, who was caught late last night in his room in the Chinese block at Fourth and Everett streets, tried to throw away his identification papers. He was arrested by Detectives Royle and Price and a revolver and shells were found in his bed. Confronted by Seld Wing at St. Vincent's Hospital, Lee Sam broke down. Seld Wing identified him positively as his assailant. Scouring Chinatown with Chinese as guides, the detectives on the case searched in vain for Joan Wah, who, Shu Ding said, is the man who shot him.

Two Pistols Found. Of two revolvers found by Sergeant Harms in the building, one is supposed to have been the weapon used by Seld Wing's assailant. One cartridge in it is exploded. The other revolver, also of 23-caliber, has not exploded shells. That the man who shot Seld Wing handed over his weapon to the police when they ran up the stairs at the report of the shooting is the theory advanced by the police. While bending over Seld Wing, a patrolman was given a revolver, which the Chinese said he had found on the stairs. The Chinese then went on down stairs, and because no one who saw him find the revolver, the police, they think Seld Wing's assailant turned over his revolver and escaped. Coming in the midst of the New Year festivities and in a building where a society was holding a New Year banquet, the shooting caused great excitement in Chinatown. Promises made by the Hop Sing tong that they would not cause trouble until after the 14th day of the New Year had seemed to make Chinatown peaceful and a freer festival time had been enjoyed on the strength of the tong men's promise.

ROLLING SPOILS GUNNERY

British Marksmanship Falling Below That of Germany.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Arnold White announces that evidence has reached him to the effect that for two years the gunnery of the British fleet has gone steadily down hill, and that the gunnery of the German fleet is steadily improving. Since a warship is a gun platform, the rolling of the Orion, in consequence of the existing deck accommodation being insufficient for super-dreadnaughts with big guns, is a national calamity. According to Mr. White, the defective gunnery of the British fleet is also due to other and graver causes than the rolling of the super-dreadnaughts. Expenditure on pensions and pay for the salaries of Members of Parliament and the cost of the navy, and the cost of fruit, have caused the government to stint expenditure on coal and expenditure on squadron and fleet gunnery.

PELLAGRA TO BE STUDIED

English Expert to Trace Disease in West Indies.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Dr. Louis Sambon, well-known parasitologist, will proceed to the West Indies to investigate more fully the causes of pellagra, which has assumed serious proportions in the islands. At present Dr. Sambon is in Italy prosecuting the inquiries which he has continuously pursued for more than two years into this peculiar and comparatively modern disease. The work of investigation has become more important of recent years, as the disease has made its appearance in several of the most fertile parts of the empire. Originally it was supposed to be confined to a certain section of Italian peasants.

WOMAN CANDIDATE IS BUSY

Voters of Washington to Get Surprise in Campaign.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Maud H. Tamplin, candidate for the Republican nomination for commissioner of public lands, is preparing to give the voters of the state of Washington something entirely new in the way of a political campaign. Like all great generals Mrs. Tamplin will not disclose her plans, although she frankly admits that she will have some surprises to spring. "It would be unwise for me to tell of my campaign now," said Mrs. Tamplin. "then my opposition would be able to meet every move I make. It is not my intention to follow all of the usual lines that have marked previous elections in this state and my future movements will, of course, depend somewhat upon the developments as the campaign progresses." Already Mrs. Tamplin has demonstrated her ability to campaign. She has delivered several speeches of a semi-political nature and is the only candidate for a minor office that has been able to secure any extended mention in the newspapers of the state. It is a recognized fact that Mrs. Tamplin has a better knowledge of the land office than any other employe connected with the department. She has shown a familiarity with the details of the work that is remarkable and if she is able to establish her qualifications to a sufficient number of voters she will be a formidable candidate to say the least. The fact that she is a woman is regarded by Mrs. Tamplin as a great advantage in her campaign and she will devote most of her time at the outset in an effort to overcome any prejudice that may exist against women in the office to which she aspires.

JUDICIARY IS SCORED

S. A. LOWELL CRITICIZES JUDGES AT BANQUET.

Statement Intended as Friendly, Declares Orator at Celebration of Sons of Revolution.

The United States Supreme Court and the judicial system in general, both Federal and state, came in for severe criticism by Stephen A. Lowell in a speech before the Sons of the American Revolution at the Multnomah Hotel last night. Washington's Birthday was celebrated by that body with a banquet. Sixty-two were in attendance. D. S. Cohen, Howard W. Harrington and General T. M. Anderson were the speakers in addition to Mr. Lowell. Wallace McCamant was toastmaster.

Mr. McCamant read several telegrams sent to the presidents of similar organizations in other states, and two received from Denver and San Francisco. Greetings were sent to Boise, Denver and San Francisco. Although he tempered his statements with the assertion that whatever criticism he had to offer was given in a friendly spirit, Mr. Lowell declared that five men of the United States Supreme Court have usurped to themselves the power which the framers of the United States Constitution intended should remain in the hands of Congress. He said the American people must solve the problem of placing in the hands of persons elected by the people, and of taking out of the hands of a few men appointed by the President, the power of making or annulling the laws.

Mr. Cohen said Washington developed the patriarchal spirit when he was but a youth. He told of the large number of slaves kept by Washington, and of his principle not to sell his slaves even though he had more than he could work on his farms to advantage. He remarked also that Washington was fond of the theater, of dancing, whist and of taking his chance in lotteries. "The American people must solve the problem of placing in the hands of persons elected by the people, and of taking out of the hands of a few men appointed by the President, the power of making or annulling the laws."

Those present were: A. M. Cannon, Wallace McCamant, D. S. Cohen, F. M. Anderson, Howard W. Harrington, D. W. Wakefield, Tyler Woodward, E. A. Thaxter, E. B. Beckman, C. W. Bryant, John S. Bradley, H. Resplendent in dress blouses and brass buttons, Portland's "finest" last night attended in force, with politicians, legal lights and municipal officers, the third annual ball of the police force. More than 2500 persons crowded the floor of the Armory when Detective Sergeant Kienlen led off the grand march, taking the place of Acting Captain Joe Keller.

Long coats with the single row of brass buttons were everywhere. The floor managers, those in charge of the treatments and even the musicians were clad in the blue and brass of the department. Arrayed in white aprons, with the white caps of cooks on their heads, the men who walk the beats served punch to the dancers in an ante-room apart from the dancing hall. Portland police band, one of the four in the United States, furnished the music.

Dances were named in order for: The Mayor, the Police Commission, the Chief, the Captains, the Council, the Sergeants, the Sleuths, the Finest, the Matron (Mrs. Simmons), the Police Judge, the City Attorney, the Constable, the ex-Chief, the Sheriff, Ben Branch, the oldest feller in the department, the Day Relief, the First Relief and the Second Night Relief. For the modesty of the department it is said that the "relief" dances, dedicated to the men on the "beats," were all extra.

In charge of the dance as a committee from the Police Athletic Association were Captain J. F. Keller, Patrolmen T. H. Willitt, A. L. Presser, J. P. Murphy, William Bunn, E. B. Converse, H. A. Thatcher and G. E. Fuller and Detectives W. Epps and Tom Swenne.

More than $4000 was obtained for the fund for the care of sick, disabled or wounded policemen, for whom the annual dance is held.

These Are the "Making-Up" Days For Spring--Let Us Send You a Standard Sewing Machine On the $1 a Week Club Plan Department Second Floor, Northwest. There is not a piece of Furniture in the house which could be considered more essential than the Sewing Machine. And right now is when the machine is needed most. Thoughtful women will do their Summer sewing now. The new Spring goods are in, the embroideries, laces and trimmings are here—and during these long, cloudy days you can get your wardrobe in shape so you can enjoy the sunny afternoons later on. FREE DEMONSTRATIONS have been conducted by us for many years. We believe the way to learn to know the difference between a good and a poor machine is to talk with one who has had experience. It is easy to say a machine will do this or that, but it is another matter to prove it. Our lady in charge will go so far as to teach you how to sew. You may bring a piece of your work to her and she will teach you how to make it—also teach you to care for machine.
