—City Treasurer Adams has written to Postmaster Merrick, inquiring whether the Government will print, in large quantities, colored postal cards, for use in the city business. Pink, red and sither colors are used to indicate various hinds of accomments and facilitate the Rose Festival this year. Instead of holding a one-night carnival the club may have two night celebrations in addition to the children's parade. "Grand avenue is so fest wide and can he illuminated to advantage," said Mr. Kellaher, "and we shall ask the Council to provide the lights for that street. The coat will be small." The club will take up the subject of preparing for the Festival at the meeting tonight. It is planned to make the children's parade or human rosebud show, more elaborate than before.

In 1859 he went to California, and later in the same year to the mining fields of Southern Oregon. In 1860 he moved to Port-land. Shortly after his arrival in Port-land he went to the mining districts of Idaho, but his stay was brief, and he soon returned to Portland.

About 40 years ago he opened a sporting goods establishment at Portland. Three years ago he retired from active business, and made a trip to Mexico.

Shortly after embarking in business here, Mr. Hudson was married to Miss Allie Gotshall. The marriage was performed here by Rev. T. L. Ellot. Eleven years ago his wife died. Two sisters survive him beside his daughter. They are Mrs. Martha Coleman, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Mary Auld, of Marshalltown, Iowa.
