SPECIAL POLICE CALLED

Attack of L. W. W. Centered on South Aberdeen and Cosmopolis. Gray's Harbor Mill, Fearing Riot, Closes at 4 o'Clock.

ABERDEEN, Wash., March 28 .- (Sp. cial.) -A score or more of broken heads, with one man shot through the right arm and sent to a local hospital, tonight marked the end of the second day's rioting in the labor conflict be-tween the mill strikers and millowners

Frank Spagel, a Greek, was shot while engaging in the free-for-all light between the officers and the strikers during the noon hour teday. At the Anderson & Middleton mill bricks, stones and clubs were freely used and for a while it looked like a general riot would follow. Twenty special police were sent to the scene as soon as the mills opened.

Island City Man to Be Senatorial Candidate From Eastern Oregon.

LA GRANDE, Or., March 26.—(Special.)—Ed E. Kiddle, president of the Pioneer Flour Milling Company, of Island City, consented late tonight to make the race on the Republican Licket for joint Senator for the Twenty-fourth District, comprising Union and Wallowa counties. Mr. Kiddle has never been in politics and it was only after repeated requests from a number of farmers and business men that he con-sented to run. In his platform he stands for a reduction of taxes, equalstands for a requestion of taxes, equation of property values for taxation purposes, abolishment of a number of apparently useless state commissions and a better system of purchasing state supplies. An English architect, Noel A. Dew, who has just arrived with the intention of taking up work here, said yesterday

"Americans, instead of trying to make the old things do a bit longer, realize that there is a sure return from the expense involved in the adaptation of anything that will save time or render business easier of accomplishment.

"Portland gives me the impression, however, of having been laid out without any thought for the future. What I mean is that individual requirements seem to have been considered before vity or state needs. With other towns to serve as a guide or as a warning signal, the corporations of cities of comparatively recent birth should realize the duty they owe to posterity in planning a city. They should see that it stands on a well organized basis, so that, as it expands, there will still be order and system in its apread. Wide streets and lungs, by which I mean parks and playgrounds, are essential in the heart of any city. Portland needs more than she has."

Mr. Dew has taken an active part in municipal affairs. In Bangor, North Wales, he was on various committees for the improvement of his native lows, for the imprevement of his native lows, besides having the distinction of being the youngest City Councilor in the country. CREATION OF PORT OF COOS BAY IS HELD VOID.

Justice Moore, in Opinion for Supreme Court, Reverses Findings of Lower Tribunal.

SALEM, Or., March 26.—(Special.)-Invalidating the election which created the Port of Coos Bay Commission and sustaining quo warranto proceedings brought by Prosecuting Attorney George M. Brown to determine the rights of Henry Sengstacken, E. Min-gus, W. C. Harris, L. J. Simpson and C. S. Windsor to act as a corporation as commissioners of the port, Justice Moore today, in an opinion for the Su-preme Court, reversed the lower court of Coos County.

In concluding his opinion, which is extensive and consumes 12 typewritten pages, he sums up the case by saying:

"The vote upon any measure, determined at a special election, ought not to be disturbed if it can be avoided, and a diligent effort has been made to find, if possible, some way to escape the conclusion which has been forced upon."

pending elections and of other matters in which a party or the public might be interested. The time has arrived, however, when such notices should be given by being printed in a newspaper, if one be published in the county.

"By the means suggested greater publicity would undoubtedly be given, for but few persons ever pause to read the posted notices, while hearly everyone reads the local papers. The absurdity of requiring 150 election notices to have been put up is apparent and in case of a general election a fallure to comply with the command of and in case of a general election a fallure to comply with the command of the statute would have been immaterial, but as the election herein was or more efficient method of imparting the resulted information respecting the required information respecting special elections be desired, the authority must be secured from the legislative

partment. DECISION CAUSES SURPRISE

Steps to Be Taken at Once to Hold Another Election.

MARSHFIELD, Or., March 56 .- (Spe-MARCHIFIELD, Or, March 36.—(Special.)—The news of the Supreme Court decision that the Port of Coos Bay was invalid, was received locally with much surprise, as the decision was based on a purely technicial point.

Steps will at once be taken by the Chamber of Commerce and business in-terests to form another port. The Chamber of Commerce has called a mass meeting for tomorrow night, when the matter will be discussed and funds immediately raised to hold a special election to vote again on the formation port district.

At the former election the port proposition carried by a vote of five to one and it is believed that the case could be the same again. The plan is to form another port as early as possible and allow the Commissioners appointed by the Governor to serve until a new commission is elected in November, so that provisions can be made to provide means for retaining the Government

The commissioners have expended money derived from taxes in making improvements in the harbor, but it is not likely that this tax money can be returned to the taxpayers. A special train took the school children to the asylum grounds, after the parade, where they occupied reserved seats.

Children's Respect Asked. Dr. Steiner's address was concise and to the point, a special feature being a talk to the children in which he urged that under all circumstances they pay the Institution the respect due it by referring to it as the "State Hospital," —Not Bug House or Crazy House. Governor West sprung a surprise during the course of his address in stating that if the board would permit he intended to see that an Eastern Oregon man should be selected as su-perintendent of the branch asylum, if we had a man big enough to fill the place, which he felt sure we did, and his idea was to make it an Eastern Oregon institution in the strictest sense of the word. Governor West also stated that un oubtedly the state hospital here would stablish an experimental station, such as is maintained at Corvallis Agsuch as is maintained at Corvalits Ag-ricultural College, stocked with the finest blooded cattle the state could procure, which plan, if carried out, will mean much, not only to Umatilla

The commission also invited the Ad

Club at its regular weekly luncheon today to discuss the question of issu-ing the official programme of the reunion, which seems to have caused a controversy between various members of the Ad Club and the programme so-licitors. A. A. Schell, of the Ad Club's committee on "fake" advertising, met with the commission last night and complained that the solicitors for the so-called official programme have sought to obtain advertisements from firms doing business in Portland, contrary to the understanding Portland business men had with the Elks at the time they secured contributions to the entertainment fund one year ago.

It was pointed out that the publishers of the official programme are to pay the Elks commission $1800 and to pay the Elks' commission $1000 and to deliver them 50,000 coples, in consideration of which they are to be allowed to sell 75,000 additional copies and to obtain whatever advertising they can from communities outside of Portland. It is specified, also, that the programme is to carry no "display" advertising, but to be limited to "straight reading matter" and illustrations. In this way, it is expected, it will be a this way, it is expected, it will be a valuable souvenir. PUBLIC DOCKS DISCUSSED

F. W. Mulkey in Lecture Points Out Problems Before City.

That Portland should have a system of public docks that will answer all local shipments, that will be flexible enough to meet changes in trade condi-tions and will be connected with a belt line; that the $2,500,000 available must be used for initial installation and that at least $15,000,000 must be expended within the next 15 years on the public dock system, was the statement made Monday night by F. W. Mulkey in his lecture at the auditorium of the East Portland Branch Library,

Mr. Mulkey held that the matter of public docks and a belt line are closely connected together and essential. He pointed out that the belt line proposi-tion on the West Side is an easier problem than on the East Side owing to common user provision of the United Railway Company's line, while the East Side at present is "bottled up." Mr. Mulkey said that the report of the advisory board of experts is ex-pected here by April, but whether it pected here by April, but whether it will be made public at that time, he said, he is not prepared to say. He remarked that conditions might arise that would make the publication of the report unwise. The speaker pointed out the need of public docks if Portland is to maintain its place in the land is to maintain its place in the shipping world and remarked that the $2,500,000 is a very small sum with which to acquire sites and erect docks and that this sum must be regarded merely as the beginning.

As to the location of the docks, Mr.

Mulkey said that the trade conditions on both sides of the river would have to be considered in locating local docks. but the location of the transshipment docks must be away from centers, free from delay to ships from any cause whatever. He also expressed the opin-ion that the docks should be handled separately from municipal affairs. Mr. Mulkey discussed at length the effect of the completion of the Panama Canal and declared that Portland must be fully prepared for that event, if she is to hold her prestige. The address was full of information on dock matters of Portland and of other cities.
