

FEDERAL SCHOOL IDEA IS REVERSED

Eminent Sculptor Advocates Establishment of University at Washington.

BORAH'S BILL APPROVED

H. K. Bush Brown Points Out What He Declares to Be Manifest Shortcomings of College Training of Today.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 10.—The bill of Senator Borah, proposing the establishment of a Federal University at Washington, is warmly endorsed by H. K. Bush Brown, the eminent sculptor, in a review published in the Oregonian of the hour—Are universities worth while?

Not only does Mr. Bush Brown deal with the necessity for such a university as proposed by the Idaho Senator, but he throws considerable light on the manifest shortcomings of the general college training of today. The interview, given today, follows:

Salaries Are Low

The acid test of an education is what a man can do. Is it fair to put a commercial test to a university degree? Such a test, however, has been made by the Harvard appointments office and the showing while startling is certainly far from flattering. According to the statistics available the average wage of a man who has received a bachelor's degree is at first about $15 a week. Princeton reports show that its graduates start at an average of $8 a week. From salaries made up from the salaries paid graduates in certain lines of employment the averages are as follows: Brokerage business, $3 to $5 a week; manufacturing, $7 to $12, and engineering, $10 to $15.

"In all these lines the college graduate does not receive more than the average high school graduate. It is obvious that these institutions are not measuring education in dollars and cents. Their declared purpose is to give an all-around education for a lifetime."

"The attainment of the degree, which stands for culture insures, however, a respectable position in society. Most graduates are also skilled in several of the gentle arts of literature, and while they have not increased their earning capacities, they have quite naturally acquired the needs and facilities for spending more than when they entered college."

Ambition Is High

"Of course our average college graduate has a higher ambition and so let us leave him to struggle with life on his own terms and strain out his own imagination while he contemplates a different kind of a university. One that does not deal with the theory of life as set forth in text books, lectures and libraries, but is ruled by science and art in every phase of its manifestation. It would be necessarily divided into two great interlocking and overlapping sections, one of which would be devoted to the things which are devoted to the care and development and welfare of the body, and the other to the major arts or those things which are devoted to the development and welfare of the spirit."

Education to Be Lived

"In order to comprehend this new university we must start with the fundamental principle that education is not a commodity that can be acquired for a fee. It can only be had by living it. That only by self-reliance, self-supporting and self-respecting work can we attain a real knowledge of the arts and science. By dealing with them personally at first hand, and not by the means of instruction from others. A great university would deal with life in all its conditions and be in perpetual experimentation with every problem for the uplift of the great Republic established on the fundamental base that 'all men are created free and equal.' Yet we have one kind of education for the poor, another for the rich, and through individualism, selfishness and the love of power have a people divided against itself, and it is known that a 'house divided against itself cannot stand.'"

"Let us then be frank with ourselves and our National ideal, and establish one community in the form of a university wherein science and art will be enthroned as the dominating spirits, and where every one will be judged by his deeds, where self-reliance and self-support shall rule."

Borah Advocates School

"In outline this is the kind of institution contemplated by Senator Borah, of Idaho, in his bill to establish the Federal University, to be located at Washington and be in cooperation with the state colleges, universities and experimental stations, and have local co-operative centers wherever the people want them. It is to be within reach of every citizen who wishes to better his physical, mental or spiritual condition by his own efforts, for the purpose of life is not only prosperity but self-development. The trustees or regents of this university are to be selected from men who have experience in the application of the arts and sciences to the needs of daily life. It is to be assumed that they can put such an institution on a practical basis. The long term of service of the trustees insures a permanency of policy."

Outside Aid Expected

"While Congress is asked to make the initial appropriation, the foundation endowment feature of the university will attract endowments from those who have money to leave for the benefit of mankind, no matter in what form the fund is intended to apply to the betterment of life. Such a university will deal with life in every form, and will set up an unassailable standard, namely, that every one should know how to do some one thing well."

Taft's Policy Explained

The Company to a successful conclusion. That giant monopoly has been dissolved by a mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States. It has been declared a combination in illegal restraint of trade and has been subjected to the penalties provided in the Sherman anti-trust law. This is not only true of the Standard Oil Company, but also of the tobacco trust, the International Harvester Company and a number of the most imposing aggregations of capital in the Nation.
There has been some criticism of this decision, but it is certainly in full accord with the opinions oftentimes expressed by President Roosevelt on that subject.

Law Reasonably Constructed

"The law has been constructed according to the rule of reason. It has been given by construction such a degree of flexibility as to permit corporations engaged in legitimate business and pursuing legitimate methods to continue their operations, but at the same time it restrained the illegal activities of trusts and monopolies. The law may have defects, but it has certainly had sufficient vitality to constitute an effective remedy for each case so far submitted."

"It was impossible to legislate wisely or adopt additional amendments until the terms of the law were construed by the court. Whatever defects appear in the law can now be remedied by legislative action. But I submit that no amendments suggested up to date would seem to add to the efficiency of the statute as it now stands and as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

"The Sherman anti-trust law was passed for the purpose of preventing our industries from being monopolized by a few great corporations. Senator Sherman saw the danger of unrestrained combinations of capital. He sought to construct a law which, if enforced, would remove this danger."

Great Combinations Dissolved

"If the law had been enforced during the last 20 years with a vigor and firmness which the present Administration we probably would not be facing so serious a crisis at the present time. The greatest combinations of capital in the Nation have been dissolved. The Standard Oil Company has been resolved into its original elements."

"Now, the question arises, will this action on the part of the Government have the effect of restoring competition? Has the day of competition given way to a new era of combinations and Governmental control?"

"I am firmly convinced that competition will in a measure be restored by the dissolution of trusts. It has returned in a limited degree in the oil industry."

"Each company which was formerly a constituent part of the trust stands on its own feet with separate management. Each company must make its own showing. Stockholders are selling their holdings in some of the companies to the head of the other. In the course of time each company will be independent of the other."

"But whether that is true or not, President Taft is not in a position to plain duty. The Republican platform did not endorse the theory of permitting combinations to increase, coupled with Government control. The American people have not subscribed to that doctrine. It may be the proper solution but neither people nor party has been committed to it and the President has not been charged with the responsibility of inaugurating such a policy."

Trusts Opposing Taft

"His duty in the premises was clear. The way was blazed by his predecessor. He bowed to a mandate of the majority of the American people. He enforced the Anti-Trust law without fear or favor and as a result he has aroused the bitter opposition of some of the greatest trusts in the country."

"He has filed a bill in equity against the United States Steel Company. That company is charged with being a common carrier in restraint of trade. It is charged with having violated the law in the absorption of the Tennessee Coal Company. Mr. Perkins, the head of the United States Steel Company is the head of an organization which has for its purpose the defeat of President Taft for re-nomination."

"The President is entitled to the loyal support of the American people. He has kept the faith; he has discharged his duty; he has enforced the law; he has struck at the very vitals of the evils in our industrial system. He is determined to eradicate it, and if given opportunity he will successfully bring to an end the evils arising from our industrial conditions."

"Mr. Cole left late last night for Hood River, where he will speak tomorrow night. He goes from there to The Dalles."

BANK OFFICERS ARE SUE

Depositors Commercial Bank File Charges in Superior Court.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 10.—(Special.)—Civil suits have been filed against officers of the defunct Commercial Bank of Vancouver, including Hugh C. Phillips, president, Gilbert W. Daniels, treasurer, A. L. Miller and E. J. Cook, by C. F. Rosseter and L. J. Rogister, in the Superior Court. The amount sued for is $25,000 cost and disbursements, this amount being alleged to have been on deposit at the bank when it was closed, December 19, 1911.

"If this case should win it is possible that more of a similar nature will be brought. Plaintiffs have discovered in article 12, section 12, Constitution of Washington, this clause: 'Any president, director, manager, cashier or other officer of any banking institution who shall receive or assent to the receipt of deposits after he shall have knowledge of the fact that such banking institution is insolvent or in failing circumstances shall be individually responsible for such deposit so received,' and believe that it applies in this case."

BEACH TO RETURN TO AMERICA SOON

Third Person Said to Be Involved in Scandal as Shown by Warrant.

LAWYERS GIVE STATEMENT

Attorneys Say New York Broker Will Shorten Stay in Europe to Come to America to Answer Charges.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Frederick O. Beach, the broker and society man, who is charged with attempting to kill his wife by slashing her throat, and who, with Mrs. Beach, is now in Europe, will return to this country to meet the charges against him, according to the law firm of Nicholas, Anshel, Lindsay & Fuller, of this city. They said:

"Mr. Beach, accompanied by his wife, went abroad on the third instant, intending to return about the first of June. The trip was made for his wife's health. They intend to make a short stay in London and then join friends on the continent. We are authorized to say that Mr. Beach will return in ample time to meet the preposterous charge against him. In the meantime the public may be trusted to see the cruel absurdity of the whole proceeding."

"When the declaration of the Beach attorneys was received at Alton, S. C., the authorities there said Beach would be brought to trial for the alleged attack on his wife."

"It is understood the showing on which the warrant for Beach's arrest was issued involves a third person."

"Beach arrived in Paris, France, this morning from London, with his wife, Mrs. Camilla Beach. They went immediately to the residence of W. K. Vanderbilt in the Rue Lavoisier, where they are guests. Beach declined to make any statement."

BLOODSTAINS BASE OF CHARGE

Beach Says Clothing Marked When He Carried Injured Wife.

LONDON, April 10.—Before leaving London Frederick O. Beach told some friends:

"The only basis for the charge against me is my bloody clothing, which was the result of carrying my wife to our home after seeing her negro assailant running away. I brought my wife to Europe to recuperate from her wounds."

"On receiving a long cable message from New York, Mr. Beach said he would sail April 13 to face the charges."

COWLITZ READY FOR YEAR

Fruit and Produce Association Plans Big Season in Whole County.

KELSO, Wash., April 10.—(Special.)—With the opening of the new warehouse and office of the Cowlitz Fruit and Produce Association, the season's work in marketing and shipping of Cowlitz Valley produce begins today. Contract forms were mailed to 150 farmers this week in the Kelso district. Cecil C. Stephens, president of the association, says that this is the only active organization of its kind in the Lower Columbia River Valley.

The association has the advantage of being ready for the marketing end of the business, as their warehouse is easily accessible to the freight and express depots, as well as the river docks. A special rate has been made by the express companies on fruit shipped to canneries. The growers already have received some flattering offers for their fruit, one on which means a return of $500 per acre on Bartlett pears alone. Opportunities for the successful culture of strawberries are excellent, not only on account of the adaptability of the soil, but because this district is free from the "crown rot" pest.

The Bartlett pear is the favored fruit in this section, since Senator Paulinus made the association an offer of $20 per ton for the fruit, containing furnished. The officers of the association are Cecil C. Stephens, president; C. F. Jabush, vice-president; C. W. Marsh, secretary; E. G. Baird, W. McCorkle, John Gadsbaw, Lawrence Perry, trustees.

LAZY "SAINT" IS FRAUD

Arrest of Man With Income of $7500 Follows Effort to Get $60.

BERLIN, April 9.—(Special.)—A man named Bursy, venerated in Upper Silesia as a prophet and saint, was arrested on a charge of a long succession of frauds. He is a person of humble origin with a disinclination to work, who managed to persuade the country people that he was endowed with supernatural powers, and, moreover, could foretell the future.

From all parts of Silesia pilgrims came for his aid and advice, and he received them in a room adorned with religious pictures and fragrant with incense burning in dimly-lit lamps such as are hung before altars in churches. In this mystic atmosphere he predicted coming events in the lives of his dupes. Sometimes 100 persons visited him in a single day, and many made voluntary offerings, but apparently they were not too generous a scale, as during the last year he had a fixed price for consultations.

His fees and gratuities brought him an annual income of $7500, and he might still have been in the receipt of this agreeable competency had not been for the outcry made by a poor widow, from whom he tried to extort $50, for which he guaranteed to rescue her husband from prison. In his efforts he was supposed to be enduring in the other world. The woman made a great effort to raise the money, and the story came to the police, who promptly arrested the swindler. They have discovered a large number of persons who, realizing that they have been fooled, are willing to give evidence against him.

PANAMA VOLCANO KILLS

WHOLE VILLAGES ARE REPORTED SWEEP AWAY.

Steamship Captain Tells of Eruption Near Bocas del Toro—Effect Felt at Sea.

MOBILE, Ala., April 10.—Thousands of persons have been killed and whole Indian villages swept away by the eruption of Chiriqui Peak, near Bocas del Toro, Panama, according to a story of Captain Olavik of the United Fruit steamer Fort Morgan, which arrived here today.

Captain Olavik says the eruption occurred April 5, early in the morning. Even far out on the gulf, Captain Olavik says, he saw evidence of the disturbed elements. The sea was affected in many places and the air was filled with smoke and dust far out into the gulf.

Captain Olavik says inhabitants of Bocas del Toro were panic-stricken, believing that place might be overrun with the lava that was belching forth from the peak. Chiriqui peak, as far as known, never has shown volcanic activity, and the sudden bursting of fire and lava from the crest took the inhabitants by surprise.

Author, After Visit to Africa, Writes of Negro Problem.

PARIS, April 9.—(Special.)—Washington Dawson, a young American author, whose novels, dealing with the negro problem from the Southern point of view, are very well known, has returned to France on the same subject. It is to be published in a few days. The work is particularly interesting. Mr. Dawson, who accompanied ex-President Roosevelt on his African expedition, has been able, from personal observation, to draw comparisons between the negro in his natural state and the negro in America. The gist of his argument is that the black man should be treated as a black man and not as a white man; that is to say, with kindness and sympathy, but not with false ideas as to his capacities and possibilities. The two races should be kept in parallel lines, but there should be no converging.

Professor Dawson's note of the book is to be published in the light of history and current events, that the South was right in 1860. Paul Adams' profane and spiteful fact that the American negro is descended from the least developed of the East African natives. The mutual jealousy of the black and white races is a fact which induces Mr. Adams, with his skill as a litterateur, to draw a comparison between them and finally he asks whether the "return to nature," which is the ideal of the negro, is not a menace to civilization.

NEW TOWN HAS FUTURE

Prediction Made That Ruby Will Become Important Station.

GRESHAM, Ore., April 10.—(Special.)—A platform and commodious warehouse have been built at Ruby, the station at the crossing of the Mount Hood road and Troutdale branch of the O. R. line. It was used for the first time on Monday morning, when the milk train from Eatacaca switched in from Linneman Junction and received the milk from the Troutdale car with its load of voluntary testimony went to the city in one consignment. The milk train returned to Linneman Junction and awaited the Troutdale car with its load of voluntary testimony went to the city in one consignment.

The day of the milk wagon has almost passed away from this section, only a few routes being retained from Rockwood now, covering an isolated territory.

Making Ruby an important station on the system was not predicted when the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company took over the Mount Hood road. An agent will be kept there, and a new business center is likely to spring up as a rival for some of the other places to compete with.

WIDOWS HELD VALID

Lower Court Reversed in Decision in Spreckels Contest.

$10,000,000 IS INVOLVED

Ruling Is Victory for Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels Who Put in Claim for Virtually Entire Estate Less Widow's Part.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The State Supreme Court reversed the decision of the lower court today by which the Claus Spreckels will, involving an estate of $10,000,000, was held invalid by Judge of the Superior Court, February 15, 1911.

The decision is a victory for Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels, who, as executors of the estate of the elder Spreckels, claimed practically the entire estate, less the bequest of $2,500,000 to the decedent's widow, Mrs. Ann Christiana Spreckels.

The administration of the estate by Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels was contested by John D. and Adolph Spreckels, who attacked the will in the Superior Court.

The opinion, which was written by Justice Sloss and concurred in by the entire court, held that this will was not governed by the rules which affected the distribution of the Fair estate and that the trust created was valid.

The will provided that the estate should be held in trust for Rudolph, Claus A. Spreckels, and the daughter Mrs. Emma C. Ferris, whose residence is in England.
