nesota fitted him for the part in his profession which he chase, as he preferred the outdor life and doing good among the rough woodsmen to preaching in a church. His fearlessness and strength won the respect of his hearers. His duties took him over hundreds of miles of territory, which it was necessary to cover on foot. Services were held in the bunk-houses of the logging camps after the men had finished their day's work. Frequently he was called upon to administer to the sick and to the dyna; but the most exciting instances in his work were his visits to saloons, where he rounded up his men, many times having to whip the saloon-keeper first.

many times having to write the satoon-keeper first.

Professor Sweetzer commented upon the magnificent forests of Oregon, saying that he hopes that the destruction of timber in the Eastern and Middle Western States will not be repeated here, but that a conservation system, such as in use in Germany, will be adopted by the Government.

HOW NATURE CURES CONSTIPATION

and Less For That Purpose.

The custom of Internal Bathing for keeping the intestines pure, clean and free from poisonous matter—curing constipation, billousness and the more serious diseases which they bring on—has become so universally popular, and so scientifically correct in its application, as to merit the most serious consideration.

bideration.

Drugs for this purpose have proven that their doses must be constantly increased to be effective, that they force Nature instead of assisting her, and, once taken, must be continued.

On the contrary, the scientifically constructed Internal Bath gently assists

Nature, but is infinitely more thorough in its cleanliness than any drug, no matter what its nature.
