Alice Teater Says She Committed Robbery at Request of J. E.

Morris While Posing as His Wife.

Burgiaries in fashionable apartment-houses to the number of 10 or more, re-sulting in losses of several thousand suiting in losses of several inousand dollars, have been cleared up through confessions of J. E. Morris and Allos Teater, who were arrested Wednesday alght. The catch is said to be one of the best recently made by the depart-ment. The work was done by Detect-ives Mallet and Moloney. The Teater woman has been posing as Mrs. Mor-ris.

The Standing within a ring of her vic-tims, all prominent persons, in the of-fire of the clerk of the Municipal Court yesterday morning, the woman told the uplets story of her operations with

The woman thief, who is 24 years old and originally from Connecticut, said she fell in with Morris at the Bur-ton Hotel last October, and soon after-ward began prosing as his wife. Later he began bringing home loot, and she was at length inveigled into accom-panying him on his raids. Morris be-fore taking up burglary was employed panying him on his raids. Morris be-fore taking up burgiary was employed as salesman for a creamery. "I don't know how many places we robbed," she said. "About 10, I guess," but we were in nearly every apart-ment-house is the fashionable guarter. Usually he went in while I kept watch, at Dr. Little's place he talked to the Swede girl while I went in. Didn't the girl tell yeu?" she asked Mrs. Little.

Tears Follow Laughter.

Laughing, weeping and by turns be-coming stubborn and mute, the woman told all she could remember of the thefte. She showed a marvelous meni-ory in relating to the victims the smallest details of their rooms.

"He sent me in and I went," she said guess I was easy." Morris was captured upon descrip-Morris was captured upon descrip-tions obtained from pawnbrokers who had hought part of the loot. Whon ar-rested he had on his person jewelry stolen Wednesday from Mrs. Charles Corsor, living at the Parkhurst apart-ments. Mrs. Corser did not knew she had been robbed thil informed by the detactives. Finding himself aurrounded detectives. Finding himself surrounded by evidence, Morris weat through the "sitps" at detective headquarters and picked out seven which contained re-ports of crimes committed by him. The cases of Morris and his comwill be taken direct to the grand jury.

well represented by those who will hear the result of their speaking this even-ing. A minute and one-bair was al-lotted to each candidate for his oran. Eugene Brookings presided and Christensen was chairman of the Sale-Closing-Out J. J. Sayer, of the Portland Commer-

day. J. J. Sayer, of the Portland Commer-cial Club, called attention to the ex-cursion to the Oregon Agricultural Col-lege, via McMinnville, Sheridan and Dallas next Thursday and Friday. Copies of the new by-laws of the club ware distributed for suggestions or corrections from the members and May 2 was named as "Woolgrowers' day" for the luncheon. Participation in the Rose Festival parade by the club was referred to the executive committee. Although the speeches in general were to the point some things were respecially noticeable. The egotism of some prevented them from mentioning their names, and after all, as George M. Hyland said: "Numbers count only at Salom." The speeches were filled with references to the candidates' taxes, age in the state and present complicated taws.
