Fregoleska, a Roumanian whose voice is of the quality of nightingales, should be acclaimed first choice, is a matter over which the audience is divided.

dious in her long-sustained upper notes, and always sympathetic. She sings with the greatest ease, and apparently enjoys it as much as her audience. Fortunately for them, she has chosen a repertoire of likable selections. Especially colorful is her singing of the Bell song from "Lakme," by Deliebes. In her second number. Braga's Angel Screnade, Mile Fdegoloska plays her own accompaniment on the violin. Two English songs for encore complete the list, She further enhances the great beauty of her act by wearing the picturesque native garb of Roumania.

From the sublime to the ridiculous is the step from the singer to "Dinkel-the step from the singer to "Dinkel-spiel's Christmas." It's a simple little story—of the homecoming of Dinkel-spiel, Jr., a traveling salesman who has spiel, Jr., a traveling salesman who has in hig two years' stay from home acquired an ex-chorus girl wife and a haby. Dinkelspiel's pa and ma have secured a license for their son to wed the girl of their choice as his Christmas present. The German flavor of the sketch, its home atmosphere—mamma," fat and kindly, "papa," fat also and disposed to argue, the slansy little ex-chorus mother and the husband with "cold feet," are the elements of the comedy. The lines are homely in their naturalness and the interest never lags.

Stuart Barnes monologues to the eminent satisfaction of everybody. He has a song or two that bring down laughs and a new batch of chatter about bachelors and once-were-bach-

A diminutive entertainer is Lord Robert, who is discovered in a cradle, and sings his first song from the lap of a buxom nurse. In rapid succession he appears in rompers; singing a school boy ditty, then as a bathing girl—and last in regulation evening clothes, do-ing as his piece de resistance a "souse." Since he is only 24 inches high and only 22 years old, the novelty of his perform-ance is appearent. ance is apparent,

Cooper and Robinson, negro comedi-ans, have a medley of song, dance steps and repartee that is just exactly the right length to keep everybody in smilng good humor. Maxine Brothers, ably helped along by "Bobby," an athletic fox terrier, put over a clever comedy turn. Arco Brothers are novelty acrobats. One of the kin is a marvel of muscular strength and development and the other balances remarkably.

FROM the way in which each of the eight acts at Pantages was rethe eight acts at Paniages was received at yesterday's performances it describing a baseball game was the climax to a turn that was full of clever fun. A novel act certainly is Arnaldo and his five trained leopards. These and his five trained leopards. These snarling, treacherous beasts were made to go through various stunts that showed their wonderful agility and grace. One feat that quite startled the audience was when the handsomest animal sprang a distance of 20 fet and alighted on a ball, balancing itself as skillfully as any equilibrist.

"The Newly Married Man," a comedy playlef, serves to introduce two clever actors, Joseph E. Bernard and Hazel Harington. The sketch deals with the trials of a young man and a jealous wife, and how he tamed her. Cary De

But the small-boy mem-ber of the trio, dressed as a tough girl, sang a song that was one of the hits of the programme. The boy has a most winning air and seemed pleased with the appreciation the audience showed of his efforts. The Dettmar troupe, a company of four dancers, did a series of whirlwind dances that includen some novel steps and acrobatic feats. Bennett, Klute and King, billed as "Some Trio," justified their title in their songs and dances.

O'NE of the fastest moving and fun-niest shows seen at the Lyric Thea-Inlest shows seen at the Lyric Theater in months is there this week under the name of the "Runaway Honsymooners," in which Edward Allen as Busy Izzy is about half the show.

Wilson Fairbanks, an old soldier, runs away with a school girl and because of a railroad wreck he is forced to take refuge in a country inn. Claude Fairbanks, his son, is in the same predicament and both finally are lodged in the same place, not knowing of the other's presence. Here matters get tangled, for the girl that the father intends to marry is the daughter of the woman that is going to marry Claude. The women meet first, but conceal the real state of affairs from the men. Finally Busy Izzy gives the secret away to the men. Mazie Honeymooner, the younger of the women, proceeds to take care of Claude Fairbanks, and the mother begins to be more attentive to Claude's father. Finally, Claude marries the girl, and the man takes her mother. Busy Izzy marries the housekeeper at the inn. During the hour and a half of entertainment a number of new songs are presented by members of the cast, assisted by Rose DeVerne and the rest of the "Honey Girls."

Eugenie Le Blanc, in Doctor Tinkle Tinker, is a hit and the song she sings with Ralph Bevan, "Everybody's Doing It Nok." also pleases. Miss Jeanie Fletcher in "Don't Wake Me Up L am Dreaming," is probably the best reter in months is there this week under with Raiph Bevan, "Sverybody s Doing

both his acting and his song, "Creatore."

Edward Allen kept the house rock Edward Allen kept the house rocking with his parodies which included a number of the latest tunes with different words. His troubles with the orchestra, which fails to get his instructions right, caused a good many laughs. Anyone that has been under the care of a country innkeeper of the old-fashioned "boardors took in" sort, can realize how realistic is the portraiture presented by Grace DeGarro.

Wednesday of this week picture of the Titanic survivors arriving in New York will be presented at the Lyric after each performance of the regular show as an added feature.

Next week the Lyric will have practically a new chorus and a number of new faces in the company, enlarging the company to about all the Lyric stage can hold.

E VERY act of the seven at the Empress this week is a medal-taker in itself-and several seasons of bills seldom shows a better all-round aggre-gation of acts. For instance, there's the big headliner, John F. Conroy, and La Diva, regular aquatic wizards, Beautifully formed examples of physical grace and athletic performers, these two performers offer a most pretentious swimming and diving act. The setting of the scene is especially attractive, depicting a bit of woodland with a waterfall and a deep pool into which the swimmers leap from high elevations on either side. The genuine entertainment and education value of the act is one of its biggest features. Billy Chase makes a 10-strike hit all Billy Chase makes a 10-strike hit all by himself. He sings parodies on every rag that's ever been written and in between he sandwiches a lot of foolish hetween he sandwiches a lot of foolish talk that keeps coming in gatling-gun style. All his stuff is new which is one of its blessings.

The Guy Brothers. Arthur, lean, and Edwin, fat, have an original minstrelsy meiange that is chuck full of laughs and puns. As a wind-up they offer a dandy musical duet, with trombone.

Another couple who deliver the goods is composed of the sister and brother team, Josie and Willie Barrows, who dance in delightfully artistic manner. Besides their many clever steps they burst joyfully into song on one or two occasions.

"His Awful Nightmare" is the title of a proteau comedy surprise for which Bessie Cliffon, an attractive actress, and G. Harris Eidon are responsible. The comedy is all about a dream Eidon has, and in trru about a half dozen damsels from as many countries appared to the stuffer of the street of t damsels from as many countries appear as his wife. To Miss Clifton goes the big flowers for clever character portrayal, in her assumption of each of the roles.

Tokio Kisshe, a wiry bundle of fear lessness from Japan, opens the bill with a wire act, branching off into a footbalancing bit, and ending with a sen-sational "Slide for Life" from the top of the theater to the stage

25 MIDDLE WEST BUSINESS MEN INSPECT 800,000 COLONY.

W. P. Davidson, President of Oregon & Washington Colonization Company, Says Growth Rapid.

W. P. Davidson, president of the Oregon & Washington Commission Company, is in Portland after a week's trip through Eastern Oregon with a party of 25 business men from Iowa, Indiana, North Dakota, Illinois and Minnesota, looking over the 890,000-acre colonization project which is buing decolonization project which is being developed by Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern. J L. D. Morrison, in charge of the St. Paul office of the colonization company is with Mr. Davidson, They will remain in Port-and several days.

The party with Mr. Davidson traveled from Ontario to Burns looking over the whole project. The work of disposing of the most desirable lands will be prosecuted with vigor this Summer and efforts will be made to advance the irefforts will be made to advance the irrigation, road - building, experiment farms and other features which must necessarily precede the actual settle-ment of the colonists upon the soil, as rapidly as possible. "Aiready we have made great strides," said Mr. Davidson, "Around Ontario large tracts have been platted and are being placed under irrigation. Team work among capitalists and settlers will be what will accomplish success, and if things continue to progress as well as they have thus far, and we are able to head off the land speculators who appear to be eager to get a grip upon every colonist whom we bring into the country, the completion of the great colonization plan in a few years, will be certain."

Mr. Davidson declared that the pros-pects for a successful crop in the east-ern pertion of the state this year are exceptionally good this year, owing to the large amount of rainfall during the
