TACOMA, Wash, May 1.—Federal Judge C. H. Hanford tonight took under advisement an action to withdraw citisenship from Leonard Oligen, a member of the Industrial Workers of he World and of the Socialist Labor party. Olisen, who was naturalized two years ago, stated on the stand that he was one of many who seek to re-place the present Government with that of an industrial democracy, but denied having violated his oath to sup-port the Constitution. The Government sought to show that had voiced and admitted seditious beliefs and that these were held by him at the time he was naturalized, to the end that climenship was obtained by fraud. The case will set a precedent for many other actions.

Opening Feature of Afternoon Performance Is Maypole Dance in Which Children, Robert Krohn and Able Assistants Score.

With undiminished seal, and appareatly never minding at all the undoubt-ed fatigue incident to the revelries of the night before, the participants in "The Campus Mouser" danced and sung themselves blithely through the matinee performance yesterday afternoon. And with this, the closing of the enertainment, ended one of the most re-narkably successful—from every stand-coint—undertakings for sweet charity's

The opening feature of yesterday's matince was the Maypole dance, in which a bevy of beautifully frocked little girls danced the intricate measures as they wound and wove the pink and white streamers attached to the big pole. The color scheme was particu-larly enhancing. Sixteen little girls were dressed in white with huge pink bows on sash and hair; the other 16 wore pink with white ribbons.

The following were the dancers: Mar-jorie Lizer, Annette Hardinger, Char-lotte Madigan, Jule Flaherty, Quida Kershan, Wanda Daggett, Helen Park, Mary Holmes, Ruth Crittenden, Marguerite Hoffman, Gladys Brower, Lorena Burt, Leota Burt, Helen Cat-tron, Marjorle Gardner, Hazel Dent, El-eanor Stark, Helen Goldman, Yeteve Wakefield, Pauline Smith, Dorothy Thomas, Dorothy Brandenburg, Georgia Tate, Olga Silverstein, Gertrude Flacke, Christine Parrott, Olga Proska, Vanessa Chisbolm, Cora McDuffee, Dorothy Biakely, Ingelor Anderson, Helen Meade, Helen Scott, Beatrice Louckes. This dance was trained by Professor Robert Krohn with his assistants, Miss Jo Hanna Cramer and Mrs. Lou Cramer. The lines of the play itself were added unto by the combined originality of the performers. Occasionally some one of the cast would spring some home-made joke relative to some one other of the actors. The result was illarity for all concerned. Definite announcement of the receipts of the entertainment will be given out

What Good Player-Piano Service Consists of!

Now that almost everybody is buying a Player Piano, the questions naturally come up: Where shall I purchase? What make shall I buy? What are the requisites of a good Player Piano? What service should one get with a Player Piano? In short, What should I get for what I pay?

We believe we can answer these questions to your advantage better than any other piano house in America-and we will give you our reasons.

IN THE FIRST PLACE,

We handle not merely more styles, but MORE MAKES of Player Pianos than any other house in the West-More different makes where the construction is wholly different, so that you get the advantage of comparing them, point by point side by side, going from one to the other and seeing for yourself where THIS one excels and where THAT one excels,

IN THE SECOND PLACE,

Each make is shown in several different styles and sizes—you can get the style you like in the make you like. You have a wide range of choice-it isn't a case of taking ONE make or ONE style or NOTHING. We bring the best styles and best makes of Player Pianos together side by side, so that you can select not only easily, but intelligently.

IN THE THIRD PLACE, AFTER YOU HAVE BOUGHT,

Your purchase is backed up by SERVICE. There are our "coachers" or "teachers," who go to your home and coach you in all the little fine points of tempo, expression, phrasing, accenting, etc. Back of them is a competent staff of tuners, tone-regulators and player-action men to do the little thing that you yourself could do - if you only knew WHAT and HOW to do it. We guarantee satisfaction after the deal is closed. It's a service which can only be given by a house like ours.

Let us make it plain that these points are very essential. To be able to compare many different makes of player pianos side by side is the only way the uninitiated can buy a player piano intelligently, while it is a fact that many a reputable old-line piano-house is today letting their player-piano customers flounder around on the breakers of inexperience and can give you as good as no player piano service at all, after you have bought

Hardman, Packard, Knabe, Fischer, Krakauer, Emerson, Ludwig, Hobart M. Cable, Harrington, Price & Teeple, Milton and The Angelus

Here is a list of the world-famous pianos (with the exception of the Mason & Hamlin, which is the costliest piano in the world-there aren't half a dozen other pianes in the whole world with such great reputations), each with a player built within it—and you can examine them side by side. In showing player pianos, we invariably make it a rule to take the instruments apart. This gives you the advantage of comparison. You can see what each part is for, what it performs and what it is expected to perform. You learn in this way the "why and wherefore" of the instrument. You learn how a certain effect is produced, and you see and hear the result.

Come to our store today. Come and see the splendid collection of the latest types of Player Pianos we have here. Learn in one hour's time what has built up the unparalleled popularity of the Player Piano within a few short years.

The traffic of the high seas will funnel through the Panama Canal. The Pacific Coast seaports will open their arms wide to receive the welcome trade. The Golden West will empty its stupendons resources into the great ships to be carried to new marts along the Atlantic Coast, and to every clime on the globe.

THE LUMBER

Just consider what the water rates will do for the Lumber business alone. The common grade lumber now sold at a loss on account of the rail rates can be shipped via the Panama Qanal to the East at a profit. There being some 25,000,000,000 feet of timber tributary to Nehalem Bay, the enormous saving can be imagined. The result of this advantage will be immense saw and lumber mills at Brighton Beach. These will be followed by other industries. The largest sawmill in Tillamook County is now being built at Brighton Beach. Lot values will double soon.
