CAMERON RECALL OPPOSED.—If an attempt is made to invoke the recall of District Attorney Cameron, as has been threatened, it will be blocked by injunction by M. J. Clohessey, according to him. "I understand that the recall is being worked up by persons in Portland, despite the fact that Cameron was defeated at the primary election," said Mr. Clohessey. "I will seek an injunction against this on the ground that it will be a waste of public money to undertake such a thing when Cameron's term expires January 1. This will be done in the interests of the taxpayers and not because of any personal friendship I have for Cameron. To invoke the recall under the present circumstances would be foolish."
