WASHINGTON, May 3.—Marshall now holds both the center of the political universe.
For months the political pendulum has been sweeping back and forth of the State Senatorial number nine school.

It was not so much because the people of the State in other places were interested in the election as because the State itself was interested in the election.

The Democratic forces are placed in the majority in the legislature but the Republican forces are in the minority.

The importance of the election lies in the fact that the Republican leaders are now in the minority for the first time in the history of the State, and the fact that the Democrats have a majority.

They have not only a majority in the House but also in the Senate.
