

SURPRISES MAY BE SEEN AT CHICAGO

Politicians Unable to Predict Result of Republican National Convention.

THIRD MAN MAY BE FACTOR

Element in Both Taft and Roosevelt Factions Foresees Possibility of Deadlock and Compromise Candidate.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 6.—There is every present indication that the Republican National convention at Chicago will be an unusually lively and interesting gathering of the clans, a convention that will be replete with stirring incidents and one that is likely to go down in history on account of the shrewd politics played by the leaders of the different factions. And unless there is a material change in the political situation before June 18, it will be impossible to tell in advance just what ticket the Chicago convention will nominate.

The present campaign has been one of surprises and sudden changes. It opened with a contest between President Taft on the one side and Senator La Follette on the other. The President, from the first, has been in the fight to win and never has he doubted that victory awaits him at Chicago. Senator La Follette, on the other hand, launched his candidacy with no expectation of winning the nomination for himself, but in the hope of preventing the nomination of Mr. Taft. He has said this himself and it must be accepted as the truth. Certain it is that the original slogan of the La Follette crowd was "anything to beat Taft."

Roosevelt is Assailed. Later, when Colonel Roosevelt entered the race and showed La Follette from the limelight, the La Follette people were less concerned about Taft than they were about Roosevelt, and their attacks have been largely centered on the Colonel, though they have not ceased to applaud President Taft. It would appear that the prime object of many of the La Follette men now is to prevent the nomination of Roosevelt.

In this they will not be alone, as evident by talks with various supporters of the President, for today there is a vast amount of discussion in the Taft camp about making sure the defeat of Roosevelt, no matter whether that defeat means the nomination of Taft or a third candidate. It is not unfair to say that the slogan of many of the most influential Taft men today is, "Anything to beat Roosevelt." And it is to be presumed, from some of his recent speeches, that President Taft himself is very much in sympathy with this purpose.

The President naturally desires a re-nomination, but since he is so personally and, as he points out, unfair and unjust attacks of the Colonel, he will be most desirous of preventing the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt, even if it becomes necessary to bring forward a third candidate to accomplish this purpose.

Deadlock is Possibility. Today President Taft is ahead of Colonel Roosevelt in the number of delegates he controls, but as has been pointed out heretofore, neither Taft nor Roosevelt will go to the Chicago convention with enough instructed delegates to nominate, Taft, like Roosevelt, is counting confidently on the support of many uninstructed delegates, believed to be friendly, but it may develop that neither candidate can safely count on those who are not tied hand and foot by instructions.

If the Chicago convention develops into a two-sided scrap, one faction striving as best it can to prevent the re-nomination of President Taft, while the other bends its energies to make impossible the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt, it is not difficult to imagine that the Taft and Roosevelt forces may become deadlocked and thus necessitate the nomination of a third candidate. And the truth of the matter is that the Taft and Roosevelt forces are so evenly matched that it is impossible for either to win. The Taft and Roosevelt forces are so evenly matched that it is impossible for either to win. The Taft and Roosevelt forces are so evenly matched that it is impossible for either to win.

There is an element in both the Taft and Roosevelt factions that hopes that a third candidate may be nominated, and those who express this hope are satisfied that a compromise candidate can be found upon whom both factions can and would unite. These Republican politicians are aware that the Democratic party regards this year as their own. They anticipate that the "splitting ticket" probably will nominate a strong ticket on a pretty sound platform, and therefore they feel that it behooves the Republican convention to elect as president a man in the direction of splitting out factional strife, so that the Republican party can present a reunited front in the fall campaign. If it cannot do this, they fear, if either Taft or Roosevelt is nominated.

$10,000 VERDICT AWARDED

Copper River Road Must Pay John Phillips as Result of Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals handed down an opinion today upholding the decision of the United States District Court in Valdez, Alaska, whereby John Phillips was awarded a verdict of $10,000 against the Copper River & Northwestern Railway Company and Edward C. Hasey.

Phillips was employed by the Alaska Home Railroad and was at work in Keystone Canyon in September, 1907, when there took place the famous battle between the forces of the opposing railroads. The Copper River forces were commanded by Hasey, who was sentenced to a term in the Federal Penitentiary on McNelly's Island as the result of the shooting, in which one man was killed and Phillips permanently injured.

Phillips sued for $25,000 and was awarded a verdict for $15,000. The trial court refused the defendants a new trial, providing Phillips consented to a reduction of $5,000 in the verdict. The appeal was taken on technical grounds.

Forger Gets Ten-Year Term. SANTA ANA, Cal., May 6.—P. R. Stock was sentenced today to serve ten years at San Quentin Prison for forgery. He is said to be a paroled convict from the Washington State Penitentiary at Walla Walla.

AL KADER IS HOST

Portland Shriners at Los Angeles Keep Open House.

DECORATIONS ARE LAVISH

Colors of Shriners and Elks Are Interwoven, and Rose Festival and Elks' Convention Are Widely Advertised.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—(Special.)—Representatives and members of Al Kader Temple of the Shrine, of Portland, passed today in sightseeing and visiting. Most of them went with the council to Catalina Island for an outing, but a few remained in town to help the official representatives decorate the Portland headquarters in the Alexandria Hotel. They decorated with Shrine and Elks colors, as a number of the Shriners also are Elks, and then made a lavish display of colors and advertising matter of the Portland Rose Festival and the convalescence of the Elks to be held in Portland in June.

The members who essayed the role of decorators are L. G. Carpenter, George Robertson, Bert Lee, Percy Knight and Captain Davis, of the Arab Patrol. Haunts of Rich Seen. The Portland headquarters are in Fortor F of the Alexandria, and it is one of the most attractive places in the caravansary since the decorators got through with their work. It is therefore the mecca of Shriners from all parts of the country. Those members who did not go to Catalina today went to Pasadena, where they enjoyed themselves by admiring the gold door knobs and door plates on the palaces of Pacific and Atlantic millionaires domiciled in Pasadena. Some of them even ventured so far as to go on the porches and verandas to feel the door knobs.

The Portland Shriners tonight kept open house in their magnificent oasis in the Alexandria and hundreds of Shriners from all over the world came in to eat and drink and be refreshed and at the same time be informed of the great doings to be held in Portland during the week of the Rose Festival and the Elks' convalescence in the coming Summer. The entertainment consisted of solos by a Pasadena young woman, music by an orchestra and a vaudeville show by Portland and Los Angeles talent.

At Kader Treat's Escort. Tuesday the Arab Patrol of Al Kader will be the escort of honor of Imperial Potentate Treat, of North Dakota, from the Alexandria caravansary to the Los Angeles' Auditorium, where the first meeting of the Shrine will be held. The Portland crowd will be in division No. 3 of the parade, which starts at 9 in the morning. The open house of Al Kader tonight was in competition with the reception one open house conducted by Islam Temple of San Francisco in the Alexandria, and the delegates and visitors oscillated from one oasis to another and enjoyed themselves hugely. Although but one day will elapse before the session of the Imperial Council, at which the next meeting place will be designated, no city has as yet pressed its claims for that honor. The only cities mentioned thus far are Salt Lake City, Minneapolis and Atlanta, Ga.

There are six candidates for the office of Imperial Grand, the only office for which there will be a contest in the annual election. They are: Ernest A. Cutts, Savannah, Ga.; James S. McCandless, of Honolulu; D. H. Cray, of Deadwood, S. D.; C. C. Quiggle, Lincoln, Neb.; Chalmers C. Seymour, Rockford, Ill. and J. T. Jones, Oklahoma City, Okla.

An effort will be made to induce the New Pine Creek Commercial Club last evening a communication from the Alturas Chamber was read, requesting that New Pine Creek send a delegation to meet the California State Railroad Commission, at its meeting at Alturas May 21, to consider the request of the N. P. O. Railroad for a raise of passenger rates to seven cents a mile.

A delegation will be sent from here to protest against the increase. An effort will be made to induce the California State Highway Commission to build the Alturas to the state line at New Pine Creek.

N. E. Guyot, the father of High Grade and Harry J. Newton, managing editor of the Daily Mining Record, of Denver, were special guests of the club. Mr. Guyot said: "I consider four months hard work in the interests of the High Grade camp amply repaid by this demonstration to-night. There are men who have trailed to this camp from Cripple Creek and Nevada. Some of them are getting old and they expect this to be their last camp, you cannot turn this camp down. Assays I got here were 19 times better than I got in Cripple Creek at the same stage of development. This camp has 50 times better showing than Goldfield had."

Messrs. Guyot and Newton, were unanimously elected honorary members of the club. Wednesday and Thursday a heavy fall of snow occurred here. About two feet of snow fell this week at the mines, but as the snow was soft and the weather is mild it is not expected to last long.

RECOUNT CASE SET; JUNE 3

Judge Fixes Date for Hearing Gill-Cotterill Controversy.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 6.—(Special.)—Granting permission to strike one paragraph from the petition in quo warranto proceedings for a recount of the votes cast for Hiram C. Gill, and for George F. Cotterill for Mayor last March, and denying all motions of Cotterill's attorneys to make more definite and certain, Judge R. E. Albertson, this morning set the case down for trial on June 3.

The paragraph stricken contained the allegation in the Gill complaint that many election officers were Cotterill men and were appointed because of that fact. The court held that he could not go into a man's mind.

"This is too serious a matter and is of too much public importance to be passed lightly over or to stand too strongly upon technicalities," said Judge Albertson.

"I am not yet called upon to pass on the sufficiency of the petition, but the petitioner should not be hampered in getting his facts before the court, and, further, the public is entitled to a speedy adjudication of this issue."
