SLIP-SHOD CHURCH ACCOUNTS SCORED

Bishop Scadding Reproaches Vestrymen and Wardens Who Are Negligent.

CITY'S VICE IS DISCUSSED

Clergy in Oregon Episcopal Diocese Urged Not to Procrastinate in Civic or Religious Duty. Mission Reports In.

"Slipshed and haphazard methods in church affairs are a reproach to the upright man," declared Bishop Scadding, in making his annual charge to the clerky of the Oregon Episcopal dieess at St. Stephen's Pro-Cathedral last night. This statement he made for the particular benefit of wardens, ventry-men and treasurers of the church. He said some Episcopal Church property has been sold for taxes and has had to be redeemed "all hecause wardens and vestrymen failed to be careful about the hunness of their parishes." "In some places," continued the Hist-op, "honded sewer assessments and in-op. howled sewer assessments and installment payments for street improvements have been allowed to lapse so that it became necessary to pay them in full. It is not showning for the loose offerings, so-called, to receive no check or audit whatever. Sometimes they are carried to the treasurer by this, or that, or the other person, who may happen to be on hand. "Worse still, they are occasionally left for some time in the alms-basin in the vestry or choir room, with no one to took after them. All this is loose-jointed and discreditable. It is not a question of the loss of the sacred funds, but it is a question of protecting the church, the vestry, the ireasurer from attack where no defence could be forthcoming."

Vestry in Ignorance.

There have been instances where the clergyman's salary was in arrears, where insurance premiums were over-due, taxes and fuel bills unpaid, and all the while the vestry was in inex-ensable ignorance. Fortunately these instances have been few and far between, but they should never occur.

"As to funds for general mission work, treasurers should not use their own progratinated convenience in passing on what does not belong to them. The last issue of the Living Church reports that hundreds of dol-lars raised by children in their Lenten fferings are still held back by parish

Last night was the opening session of the 24th annual convention of the opposition oregon. The full vested choir and a arrie representation of ministers were arrived in the condition of missions in the diocese was given by Rev. H. M. Kamaey. The Bahop's charge followed. Regarding the vice commission and social service, he said:

Vice in City Scored. Three years age I appointed a ini service committee, and at each servention since then that committee as given us clear and forceful reports. Such interest was awakened in he community that the Mayor ap-nominted a vice commission of 15, and made our chairman the chairman or his commission. The first report has his commission. The first report has been published. The grand jury results handed in its report, which has been circulated in printed form. It is a startling expose of swful conditions in Portland. The recommendation of the vice commission is being supplemented by the work of the Social Hygiene Society of Portland, whose publications are being produced under the auspices of the State Board of Health.

under the auspices of the State Board of Health.

"What is to be done officially with those reports? Has Pertland no conscionce? Has the church no conscience? The city and Nation look to the church. The church must furnish example, inspiration and conviction."

The bishop reported the income from all sources for missionary work last year, $14,018. The expense for missionade was $12,528. He said regarding church extension: "The budget of the Episcopal General Board of Missions this year called for $1,603,528, of which Oregon's apportionment was $2340. Of this we had sent to New York to April 20, $1415,64."

$5000 Is Needed.

Si. Helen's Hall. St. Elizabeth's House, Bishop Scott School for Boys, the Henry R. Percival Memorial Library, Good Samaritan Hospital and Bishoperoft were also mentioned by Bishop Scadding. He emphasized the need of raising $5000 to endow a newaboy's cot at Good Samaritan Hospital.

Officers for the year were elected by the Women's Auxiliary at the meeting resterday afternoon at Mark's Eniscopal Church. They are: Honorary president, Mrs. A. R. Hill: president, Mrs. W. J. Burns; second vice-president, Mrs. W. J. Burns; second vice-president, Mrs. W. J. W. Bennett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. M. Oakes; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Hils; educational secretary, Mrs. H. R. Talbot. Officers of the Juniors were elected as follows: President, Mrs. David Mackie; treasurer, Miss Louise Mann; secretary, Mrs. H. H. Thompson.

Communications from Miss Julia Emery, general secretary of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions, were read in which she urged the uniform study in all Episcopal Women's Mission classes this year of mission work in Japan. Euro branch was also asked for $50 to maintain the life insurance fund for foreign missionnaires. The churches represented reported the work done during the fiscal year.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL OFFICERS TO BE CHOSEN.

Fred Barker, Northwest Man, Runs Strong Race for International President-Polls Open 12-7.

Besides voting for officers of the Inernational Typographical Union, between 300 and 400 members of Multnomah Typographical Union No. 58, of this city, today will elect officers of their local organization for the year. A voting place will be established at the Labor Temple, Fourth and Aldar streets, and the polls will be open from 12 o'clock noon until 7 o'clock tonight. Although there are contests for all of the international offices to be filled. the greatest strife is over the presidenthe greatest strife is over the presidenbent, of Indianapolis, seeks to succeed himself. He is known as the "admin-istration" candidate and has a formid-able contestant for the office in Fred Barker, of Spokans, who is being sup-ported by the anti-administration forces who have adopted the much-used designation of "progressives."

In the election of officers of the local organization the principal contest is over the election of secretary-treas-urer, the rival candidates being Lon De Yarmond and Arthur W. Lawrence, Of equal interest is the contest for election of delegate to the International Typographical convention at Cleve-land next August. J. J. Price and C. P. Howard are the two candidates. ENGINEER'S AUTO COSTS $270 MONTHLY TO OPERATE.

City Health Officer's Machine Also Requires $102 Monthly-Rushlight Makes Inquiry.

Mayor Rushlight nearly fainted yesterday when informed that it costs on an average of $270 a month to operate and maintain the automobile in the City Engineer's department. He was not improved by the further announcement that the City Health Officer's machine eats up about $192 worth of repairs each month and he begged to be spared another blow when a citizen ventured the remark that in all probability the machines controlled by the Water Department are equally expensive.

"Two hundred and seventy dollars a month?" exclaimed the Mayor, when told of the expense of the City Engineer's machine. "Why, what are they doing with it?" and he proceeded to ring for City Engineer Huriburt to inquire.

"The explanation is that it requires

The explanation is that it requires a good deal of public funds to operate and maintain city automobiles, as it does all kinds, according to the Mayor, but, nevertheless, he intends to take some action to reduce the expense. City Auditor Barbur has figures on some of the city machines, of which there are now 29. Some of these are owned by the Fire Department. These cost the city virtually nothing for repairs, as the department's machine shops keep them up.

It is now proposed to establish a public garage on city property, where necessary equipment for repairing machines will be placed and all city automobiles shall be kept there when not in use. It will be the aim to keep tab on all of these machines to see that they are used only for public business. The explanation is that it requires

It is believed that the fact that the defendant has a wife and two minor children, the younger a babe in arms and the other about two years of age, may have influenced the jury in recmay have influenced the jury in recommending leniency. Mrs. Bryan and the two children were present in the courtroom during the trial. Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald, who prosecuted, assailed the defense for bringing them, declaring that they were there for the purpose of creating sympathy for the defendant. The law does not require that the Judge be bound by the recommendations of the jurors, whose duty ceased when they found whose duty ceased when they found their verdict.

There is still another indictment against Bryan in which he is accused of inducing Grace Hart, aged 16, who came to Portland from Corvallis with came to Portland from Corvaills with the Johnson girl, to become immoral. Both girls were witnesses at the trial, which concluded yesterday. They said the came to Portland to secure positions as waitresses, their object being to earn money to purchase pretty clothing, and went to the Appleton, a rooming-house conducted by Mrs. Charlotte Rogers, also under indictment, at Sixth and Everett streets. They said they were at their wits' ends because their were at their wits' ends because their money had given out when Bryan in-duced them to go astray. Their stories came to light after they had "rolled" a drunken man for $45 and were arrested in Vancouver, Wash.

Mrs. Rogers Is Charged. The indictment against Mrs. Rogers charges her with maintaining a dis-orderly house. She is believed by the police to have "tipped off" to Bryan the presence of the girls and their straitened financial circumstances. thryan guaranteed the room rent of the two girls, according to their story, got them separate rooms and started them on the downward path.

and the fight that is raging within and without the Council is as to whether this clause should be incorporated in the ordinance carrying the franchises in order to make certain the power of the city on this point.

When the franchises were being considered before the street committee of the Council, the majority members voted the Council, the majority members voted to eliminate the fare-regulation clause. A big fight took place over it in the main body, but the committee was upheld by a close vote. The franchises are now scheduled to go to the street committee of the Executive Board for valuation. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

ELK "ROOSEVELT" IS DEAD

Rival of "Bill Taft" in National Forest Dies of Injuries.

"Roossvelt," the bull elk that was rought to Oregon a few weeks ago from the Jackson Hole country, Wyoming, is dead. This word was received yesterday This word was received yesterday from the station in the Wallowa Na-tional forest by State Game Warden Finley. The animal had been sick for some time and it was thought this was due to his horns. When the carcass was examined by Warden Ross Leslic it was found that three of the animal's ribs had been broken. There were it was found that three of the animal's ribs had been broken. There were other indications of internal injuries. Whether this was the result of a blow from "Biff Taft," the other bull elk, who has been striving for the leadership of the elk herd, or not is not known. This makes the third elk in the herd to die. The other two were cows. Another row is ill and may not survive.

The committee in charge of the fund raised for the maintenance of the elk herd met yesterday and audited the bills that have been incurred and or-dered them paid. The amount raised was $532.22. The cost of transporting the animals and furnishing feed at the Regulation May Be Fixed.

Whether the City Council actually can regulate fares is a point that may be decided soon, if the Council takes up in earnest an ordinance filed by Councilman Joy yesterday. It will apply to all streetear companies operating in Portland, and, in effect, reduces the fare from 5 to 4 cents by providing for books of six tickets each at 25 cents a book.

Mr. Joy's proposed ordinance will be sent to the Council at the next session. Owing to the fact that there is considerable discussion at the present time as to the power of the Council to regulate fares, it may be that this point can be determined on soon.

City Attorney Grant holds that the Council has the power to regulate fares of streetcar companies at all times, but recently he put a provision into the proposed franchises now pending before the Executive Board for valuation, stating specifically that the power to do so is retained. The charter says such power may be retained or waived.
