The acclimation of the Potiatch Bugs was effected with such dispatch between Monday and Tuesday afternoons that they experienced no difficulty in outsprinting the Coits at Yaughn-Street Park yesterday afternoon, scoring a 1-8 shutout over the Portland pennant aspirants. In marked contrast to their diamond performance of Monday, the erstwhile Giants played erroriess ball, while Cecil Thompson, ex-Sucramento southpaw, produced such a repertoire of mystiflers that the Coits rogistered only three safe kicks, and succeeded in shunting only one equine as far as third base. third base. Klein Fitches Job Awny.

Lefty Klein, the Seattle discard, aspired to "show up" his former teammates, but worked himself out of a job instead. He lasted but two innings of the nine, but before he heaved over his final ball, celebrating his final appearance with a strikeout, five Bugs were sent across the plate. These talles proved an excess of four when it lies proved an excess of four when it came to the percentage column boost, but Yeazey, Klein's successor, permit-

With Barry back in the game and deporting himself in a manner to insure permanency, flaymond switched from short to second in place of Hosca Siner, victim of lumbago at St. Vincent's Hospital, and Chick at short, the Bugs presented an impenetrable lineup to the Nicks. The seven miscues of Monday had evidently rid the machine of holders return.

Bugs Pile Up Scores.

In the fourth inning the Bugs sent Thompson around once more, the heaver starting it with his second hit of the afternoon, a bunt to Veazey which he nosed out. Maran hit to Mensor, who juggled the ball a moment and then tried to tag Thompson. He lost the ball, which rolled to left field. and the runners reached second and third. Raymond scored Thompson with a single to left.
