PATTON AVENUE TO RECORD HIGHWAY.

A movement has been started on the Feminsula to make Patton avenue a highway reaching from the Willamette to the Columbia River, and giving it a new name. The avenue has been araded and cement sidewalks taid for a perfilor of the distance to Columbia houlevard. It is 109 and 30 feet wide. The south end merges into Maryland avenue, or Willamette boulevard, a short ways south of Killingsworth avenue. It is proposed to accure an easy grade for the street from Shayer to Lower Albina where consection will be made with Delay street. By cutting the street down slightly nection will be made with Delay street.
By cutting the street down slightly from Shaver southward a very modrate grade can be secured. Where ratton avenue intersects Columbia houlevard it is above the boulevard and the tracks of the Troutdale extension thus doing away with a grade crossing. From Columbia boulevard the street may be carried to the Columbia River on a steel viaduct. One object of the movement to make Patton avenue a highway is finally to make it the interstate bridge street.
